MYERS ASKS LAWMAKERS' RECALL

Resistance To Soaring Costs Of Food Grows

Hogs, Butter, Eggs Go Up; Grains Tumble

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (AP)—A chain-telephone-call buyers strike and union-operated retail stores were thrown into the fight against rising food costs today, but prices of several important household budget items continued their upward spiral.

The price situation attracted comment from such varied groups as a senatorial committee, which said it saw some reductions possible, and a clergyman who planned to take up the problem with his parishioners at a prayer meeting.

Meanwhile, hogs at Chicago advanced to a new record high. Butter, eggs, sugar and cocoa also raced up the price ladder, but grains tumbled while cattle barely held steady.

Here were the day's developments:

Chain-Telephone Buyers Strike

In Springfield, Ohio, Mrs. Nellie Strong, a 31-year-old woman confined to her home with rheumatic fever, inaugurated a chain-telephone call buyers strike. She is asking each person she calls to make five calls to other persons, urging consumers to strike against rising prices.

Mrs. Strong called upon the city's clergy to aid her and Rev. H. B. Hughes, of the First Church of Nazarene, said he would ask the support of his congregation at a prayer meeting.

In Detroit, two locals of the CIO United Auto Workers entered the grocery business. A local at Briggs Manufacturing Company announced it would open a store September 20 for its 16,000 members. Ford's Highland Park local established a store for its 10,800 members last Saturday.

In Washington, Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) and Baldwin (R-Conn.) said they expected the congressional investigation of prices to bring about some reductions in the cost of food and clothing.

Controls Over Exports Seen

"We are hopeful that if it is true that there are any unconscionable profiteers they will be warned by this investigation", Sen. Baldwin said. Several senatorial groups are conducting the price investigation in various parts of the country.

In Vienna, Ga., Sen. George (D-Ga.), perdicted there would be no return to price controls, but said there is a possibility of rigid controls over exports. He said any broad foreign relief program will result in keeping prices up in this country.

An implied warning that American grain exports must be reduced has been sent embassies in 20 countries, Lincoln White, press officer of the State Department, disclosed. He revealed that the embassies had been informed of prospective short corn and oats crops.

Bowles Suggests Boycotts

ESSEX, Conn., Sept. 11 (AP)—Chester Bowles recalled tonight that widespread public reaction, including boycotts and consumer picket lines, licked high prices after the First World War and said a similar movement now "may do the trick again."

"It is high time," the former OPA administrator said in a statement on the current price situation, "that the average American family which has suffered so drastically from inflationary prices in the past 15 months rose up on its hind legs and said, 'We've had enough'."

Wainwright Willing To Serve In Senate

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (AP) — Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Bataan, said today that "if the people of Texas desire me to serve them in the United States Senate I shall be happy to do so."

The Dallas Morning News reported a draft movement was under way for Wainwright as a Democratic candidate to oppose the renomination of Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel.

Bikini Atoll Now Safe

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 11 (AP)—Scientists who examined Bikini Atoll a year after the atomic tests reported here today that the atoll "now is compleely safe for human habitation" but that no natives had returned.

Newspapers May Mention Lotteries In Connection With Newsworthy Events

EISENHOWER AGAIN DISAVOWS EFFORTS TO DRAFT HIM IN '48

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP) — General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower today again disavowed efforts to draft him as Republican candidate for the presidency but his remarks shed no light on whether he would reject a nomination offer.

At a news conference at Columbia University, whose president he will become next year when he retires from the army, Eisenhower characterized any draft movement in American politics as "an artificial stimulant."

He underscored his comments by asserting "I do not think a man who has been a professional soldier should be in any political capacity. I do not think it is good for the Army and it is not good for the soldier."

P. O. Department Reverses Itself

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 — (AP) — The Post Office Department reversed itself tonight, and ruled that newspapers may legally report on "a newsworthy event" in which there is incidental mention of a lottery.

It held that it was proper for the St. Louis Star-Times and other papers to carry stories about the negro who was temporarily denied an automobile he won in a lottery.

The St. Louis paper had been cautioned by Postmaster Bernard F. Dickmann, of St. Louis, who said the paper would have been barred from the mails, under anti-lottery laws, had publication of the story been noted at the time.

Conferred With Hannegan

Tonight, Frank J. Delany, the department's solicitor, wrote Dickmann that after consultation with Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan, "I have concluded that despite the literal wording o the law it was not intended to exclude from the mails publications of such items x x x x which have a news value in their own right and in which the lottery element is only incidental to a newsworthy event."

"This law was not designed to suppress information of news value to the public, even though incidentally connected with a lottery.

"As a consequence of this interpretation of the law, the opinion previously given you is reversed. It is my opinion that notwithstanding incidental reporting of a lottery the publication is mailable."

Delany said that the previous interpretation of the law was one which was "uniformly supplied in answer to inquiries regarding the mailability of news items naming the winner of any lottery."

"That avice to you was based on a law of Congress which provides that newspapers publishing the names of lottery winners may not be mailed."

O'Conor Makes Protest

Delany said that the new interpretation, permitting the publication of such stories, "will be uniformly applied in the future in all cases wherever they arise."

Earlier today, Sen. O'Conor (D-Md.) released a letter calling on the department to reject any interpretation that lottery laws forbid any mention of a lottery, even incidentally in a story dealing with charges of racial discrimination.

O'Conor wrote the department that suppression of news stories dealing with racial issues "goes contrary to every concept of American freedom of speech."

The Maryland senator, a member of the Civil Service Commission, made his protest after the Star-Times and the Baltimore Sunpapers were "cautioned" by local postmasters for publishing stories involving lottery.

U. S. Acts To Get Assembly Action On Balkan Issue

Proposes Council Recommend Move

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Balkan controversy flared up in the United Nations again today when the United States proposed that the Security Council call on the General Assembly to find a solution to the dispute between Greece and her Soviet satellite neighbors.

The United States maneuver was intended to remove technical obstacles, under the United Nations Charter, which might stand in the way of Assembly action. It was expected to run into immediate opposition from Soviet Russia, which last year vetoed a similar move to ask for Assembly action on the Spanish question.

Spanish Case Procedure Likely

The Charter provides that the Assembly may discuss matters which are under active consideration by the Security Council, but may not then act on them without a specific request from the council.

The United States had been expected to follow the procedure finally adopted in the Spanish case by proposing that the council strike the Balkan question from its agenda. This was admittedly a procedural question and was, thus, not subject to the big power veto.

By declining to propose a specific council request to the Assembly, the United States raised the possibility of another Soviet veto. Although the United States delegation took the position that this also was a procedural question, Russia argued in the Spanish case that such a proposal involved questions of principles which made it subject to the veto.

Interpreted As U. S. Strategy

Informed quarters interpreted the American move as a part of its strategy to keep the subsidiary frontier watch group of the United Nations Balkan Investigating Commission in Greece. While Russia argued that this group had ceased to exist legally when the Security Council failed to find a solution to the problem after two Soviet vetoes killed United States-led efforts last month, Secretary-General Trygve Lie ruled that the body could continue operations until the council decided to liquidate the watchers or drop the Balkan question from its agenda.

Under the American proposal, the council could keep the issue on its calendar, thereby preserving the Balkan unit, and at the same time give the Assembly a free hand to act.

The Balkan question is considered one of the major issues to come before the Assembly, which convenes in regular session at Flushing Meadow Park in New York next Tuesday. The United States already has had the issue placed on the Assembly's agenda.

Hannah To Resign Labor Dept. Post

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach said today that Assistant Secretary Phil Hannah has been talking of resigning "for some time" and he "regrets" to see Hannah leave.

Hannah announced in Cincinnati that he is resigning, effective whenever Schwellenbach and AFL President William Green select a successor.

Schwellenbach said he expects that the AFL Executive Council, now in session in Chicago, will discuss a possible nominee for a successor to Hannah.

Under past procedures in the Labor Department, the AFL and CIO each have had a high-ranking officer in the department. Hannah is the AFL man.

Hannah's counter-part in the department has been John W. Gibson, representing the CIO and also with the title of Assistant Labor Secretary.

Schwellenbach said Hannah has not submitted a formal resignation.

Schwellenbach added in response to newsmen's questions, that neither he himself, nor Assistant Secretary Gibson, nor Undersecretary David A. Morse are considering resigning.

Virtual Paralysis Of Auto Industry Seen

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 11. (INS)—A member of the UAW-CIO Executive Board tonight predicted virtual paralysis of 90 per cent of the automobile industry within a week.

John W. Livingston told the 22-member board at Buffalo that the tieup will result from a four-week strike at the Carter Carburetor Company at St. Louis, Mo. He said the firm makes most of the carburetors for major autombile firms, except for the Ford Motor Company.

Demonstration Halted

LE MANS, France, Sept. 11 (AP)—Police tonight used tear gas to disperse demonstrators who tried to storm the Prefecture in protest against the food situation. One youth was reported seriously injured.

AFTER BUS CRASH—A policeman looks at a victim of yesterday's bus crash at Chicago as passersby comfort other victims (left). Two crowded double-decked Chicago Motor Coach Company buses collided on Lake Shore Drive when one went out of control. One woman was crushed to death and 40 persons were injured.

WOMAN IS CRUSHED TO DEATH, 40 HURT IN CRASH OF BUSES

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (AP) — A young woman was crushed to death today and 40 persons were injured when a double-deck bus went out of control and crashed into a stalled bus which had discharged its passengers.

Most of the injured had been passengers on the stalled bus, also a double-decker, and were clustered around the vehicle on Lake Shore Drive waiting for the approaching bus to pick them up. Both were Chicago Motor Coach Company buses.

Police said Joseph J. Mencarini, 33, driver of the second bus, told them air brakes on his bus failed and it hit the stalled bus, a Loop-bound Sheridan Road limited. The stalled bus plowed into a cluster of its discharged passengers, while the second bus, after striking the first, caromed into a tree and a lamp post.

Jew, Arab States Urged By Dewey

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey called today for quick United Nations adoption of a plan to establish separate Jewish and Arab states in Palestine to end what he termed the tragedy of shipping homeless Jews into Germany.

Dewey urged the American delegation to the United Nations General Assembly to throw full support behind the United Nations special committee majority report on Palestine although, he said, "it does not give the Jews all that was promised by the nations."

"The partition recommended," he added, "seems a minimum for Jewish needs."

His statements came in Rosh Hashanah (Jewish New Year's) greeting to Jewish residents of New York State.

The Governor, an undeclared contender for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination, also urged:

1—Federal legislation to permit the absorption of our share of displaced persons of all religions.

2—Adoption without delay of another United Nations special committee recommendation to permit the immigration of 150,000 Jews into Palestine within the next two years.

14 Bodies Recovered

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 11 (INS) — Marine divers and river police recovered two more bodies today from the twisted, half sunken hulk of the "Island Queen" which exploded and burned at its dock in Pittsburgh Tuesday. It brought the number of known dead to 14.

U. N. Group Approves Second Atom Report

Commission Defeats Russian Opposition

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 10—(AP)—The United Nations Atomic Energy Commission disregarded bitter Russian opposition today and approved its second report stating general principles for creation and operation of an international atomic control agency.

The roll-call vote was 10 to one, Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko said "no" and Poland abstained.

Canada, the United States, France, Britain, Brazil, China, Belgium, Australia, Colombia and Syria made up the majority.

The ballot came after the United States' Frederick H. Osborn answered a volley of Russian charges with a counter-charge that the Soviet Union had impeded the work of the commission since its start 15 months ago.

Soviet Veto Probable

The result showed clearly that Russia would veto—unless she reverses policy—any atomic treaty based on the principles approved by the majority in this report.

It was problematical when the Security Council would take up the report. Gromyko, who is council chairman this month, said that the document is not "ripe for discussion in the Security Council. It must be studied."

He mentioned also that delegates would be busy with the Assembly beginning next Tuesday, indicating that the atomic report certainly would not soon receive council consideration.

The majority expressed the view that the document was only a progress report. They said that much more work must be done and many problems must be solved before they can write an atomic treaty, as ordered by the Security Council. But they gave no indication when they would start work again.

Abstained On First Report Vote

Russia and Poland abstained on the vote on the first report last December which embodied largely the United States plan outlined by Bernard M. Baruch on June 14, 1946, at the commission's first meeting.

Thus observers noted that Russia's stand had changed from non-participation to active opposition to the majority during the course of work on the second report. Russia particularly hit at principles of management, ownership and licensing powers for the international agency as approved by the majority.

Wall Street Set "To Run World," Wallace Asserts

Assails American Foreign Program

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace said tonight that "under the present administration Wall Street is all set to run the world."

He told a Madison Square Garden rally sponsored by the Progressive Citizens of America:

"Under the Republicans Wall Street ran America; under the present administration Wall Street is all set to run the world."

Speaking on the eve of the anniversary of his address last September attacking American foreign policy which resulted in his ouster from President Truman's Cabinet, Wallace again lashed out at the administration's foreign program, charging it was dominated by investment bankers and military men.

He also singled out former President Herbert Hoover, saying:

"Forty-six days after the death of Franklin Roosevelt, Herbert Hoover was welcomed at the White House. Two years later it is Hoover's thinking which guides our foreign policy."

Wallace reiterated that he intended to "work within the Democratic Party," but he did not close the door completely on a third party.

"There will be charges," he said, "that we are out to dominate the Democratic Party, but it will be more accurate to say that we are out to prevent the Democratic Party from committee suicide. x x x

"If the Democratic Party is a war party, if my party continues attack civil liberties, if both parties stand for high prices and depression—then the people must have a new party of liberty and peace."

Wallace summarized his own program as "peace, jobs and freedom." He assailed the federal government's loyalty investigation and "reactionary capitalism" which he said was building up "enormous monetary reserves" with present high prices.

At the outset of his talk, the former Vice President referred to his address of last September 12 in the Garden, saying "it had been approved by the President of the United States as we read it over together page by page in the White House a year ago yesterday."

Missouri's Path May Cross That Of Storm

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 11—(AP)—A severe tropical storm was whirling across the Atlantic tonight in a west northwestward path at about 15 miles per hour, apparently increasing in intensity, the Weather Bureau reported in a 10 a. m. (EST) advisory.

The storm was moving on a route that would cross the path of the battleship Missouri, returning President Truman from the Rio de Janeiro conference but they were nearly 1,000 miles apart.

The weather advisory said the storm was attended by winds of about 60 miles per hour near the center and gales extended outward to about 100 miles from the center.

EXPLOSION ROCKS OCEAN LINER; 20 BELIEVED KILLED

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Sept. 11—(AP)—The coxswain of a lifeboat which brought a number of injured persons ashore said he believed 20 persons were killed and 50 injured tonight in an explosion in the engine room of the 17,702-ton ocean liner Reina Del Pacifico, off the Northern Irish coast.

The coxswain did not state what his belief was based on and the ship's master, who reported the blast by radio to Northern Irish Coast Guard stations, said only that 60 persons had been injured.

The ship was going through a trial run and was about seven miles north of the Copeland Islands near the mouth of Belfast Lough when the explosion occurred.

Voluntary Food Rationing Urged By Truman Group

Davis Recommends Return To Controls

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (INS)—President Truman's foreign aid committee, headed by Commerce Secretary Harriman, suggested today a voluntary rationing system for American consumers to make more food available for Europe under the Marshall plan.

The suggestion came amid growing indications of domestic food and fuel shortages which placed new obstacles in the path of the administration's apparent drive for congressional action on a stop-gap European program.

Before proposing vountary rationing, the Harriman committee heard one of its 19 members recommend a return to government wartime food controls to meet the threatened world hunger.

Chester Davis, president of the St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank and chairman of the Harriman Subcommittee on Food and Agricultural Resources, proposed back-to-rationing.

Davis contended that it would be necessary to reimpose some wartime food controls. He also backed the committee's appeal for "voluntary rationing."

Meanwhile, Harriman said that government rationing probably could not be resumed in time to feed hungry Europe this year.

Conference Delay Seen

PARIS, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Marshall plan conference may be delayed nearly three weeks beyond next Monday for a complete overhaul of the final report to satisfy criticisms of United States Undersecretary of State William L. Clayton, a secretariat source said tonight.

This source said Clayton's objections, presented at a meeting with members of the conference's executive committee at the American Embassy last night, was not aimed at the amount of aid requested but rather at the way the statistical data was presented.

"Clayton found the report too indigestible," the source said, adding that the American official had declared the report was unlikely to obtain the backing of the American public in its present form.

It was learned on good authority meanwhile, that overall aid the United States will be asked to underwrite was further lowered to nearly $18,000,000,000 during the meeting this afternoon of the full co-operation committee.

Prior to today's meeting, at which the report of the balance of payments subcommittee was discussed, the estimated overall balance-of-payments deficit between the 16 participating nations and the Western Hemisphere for the next four years was $19,726,000,000, the conference source said.

Body Is Identified

BALTIMORE, Sept. 11 (AP)—Mrs Anna H. Millikin, Hamlet, N. C., identified the body of a man found in the Baltimore harbor today as that of her husband, 26-year-old Luther R. Millikin, who was lost when a fishing launch exploded Tuesday night. Four other men aboard the 40-foot launch were rescued.

Declares High Prices Menace U. S. Economy

Senators Say Price Control Not Answer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 — (AP) — Sen. Myers (D-Pa.) said today that the United States economy is menaced by high prices and he called for a special session of Congerss to deal with inflation and aid to Europe.

These matters are "both part of the same problem," he told a news conference in urging recall of the lawmakers in early November.

"It is apparent that our economy is threatened by inflation today as it was by military aggression a few years ago," Myers said. He added that the government "must do something" since, he reasoned, free enterprise has failed to halt advances in living costs.

Myers is a member of a special Senate-House subcommittee headed by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), which will conduct the first of a series of hearings expected to cover the nation in a probe of rising prices of consumer goods.

Price Controls Not Answer

Flanders told another news conference today that consumers are eager to testify but that manufacturers and retailers "have not rushed forward."

While the latter two groups "had to be asked to testify," he said, nevertheless "there has been no real reluctance."

Flanders and six other senators agreed that a resumption of government price controls is not the answer.

Flanders suggested that a 100 per cent margin requirement (all cash down) on all grain trading might stabilize grain prices that "are certainly out of control."

He said the government does not have this power but that grain exchanges could and should do it. (Flanders' remarks touched off a selling wave in the Chicago grain market.)

Hearings Begin Monday

"We are hopeful of there being useful results," Flanders said. He is chairman of a subcommittee of three senators and three representatives which will conduct price hearings in the Eastern United States, beginning Monday at Providence, R. I. Two other subcommittees will cover the Middle West and Far East.

Flanders, after a closed subcommittee session to plan the hearing, reported that both Democrats and Republicans agree that rising prices are the biggest domestic problem.

Flanders said the eastern hearings will emphasize two of the biggest items in the average family's living cost—food and clothing.

Rents are being examined by other congressional inquiries dealing with housing, Flanders said, noting that federal rent controls now extend until February 29, or two months after the next regular session of Congress opens.

Board Of Trade Hikes Margin Requirements

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (AP)—Chicago Board of Trade margin requirements were increased today for the second time within a week and a board official said the action was "considered necessary for the best interest and protection of a free-open and competitive market."

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) said in Washington today that he felt grain margins should be increased to 100 per cent. The Board of Trade spokesman said that today's action, taken at a regularly-scheduled board meeting, was "not inspired or influenced by any statements in the public press."

Board directors boosted the minimum margin requirements 10 cents a bushel on wheat, corn and barley, five cents on oats and 25 cents on soybeans.

Workers Lose 18 Million

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Labor Department said today it uncovered $18,000,000 in wages "illegally withheld" from 311,236 workers in the year ended June 30.

So far, it said in a statement, 15,000 employers have paid up $8,864,000 and 5,000 have done nothing.

Finest Medical Care Now Starting For GIs, College Of Surgeons Told

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP) — The American College of Surgeons was told today that the finest type of medical care now is starting for GIs under the reorganized program of the Veterans Administration.

The report was made by Dr. Charles B. Puestow, clinical professor of surgery, University of Illinois College of Medicine. He credited the reform to Gen. Omar Bradley, and Drs. Paul R. Hawley and Paul B. Agnuson.

He said that at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Hines, Ill., one of the first to be organized, three times more operations are being performed in a year than formerly.

He said further:

Where veterans had to wait weeks or months and occasionally a year for necessary surgery, they now are taken into the hospital immediately and treated promptly. Where formerly very sick men had to go on a waiting list for treatment other than surgery, they now get virtually immediate care. Where there were formerly not enough beds for the sick, there are now spare beds.

Hines is one of the first reorganized hospitals.

Puestow said that what happens there is already in practice in the others or is being rapidly installed.

The reorganization puts the care of GIs directly under supervision of the nation's great medical schools.

President, Let Off Easy, Chuckles As Aides "Get Works" In Hazing

ABOARD THE U.S.S. MISSOURI WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, Sept. 11 (AP)—President Truman faced the awful wrath of King Neptune and talked himself out of it, but top White House aides got "the works" in traditional cross-the-equator hazing ceremonies today.

While Mr. Truman chuckled gleefully, his dignified military and diplomatic aides ran the gamut of punishment meted out by King Neptune's minions.

Willy-nilly, they clutched electrified "shocking" ladders, gulped noxious fluids, got smeared with paint and grease, submitted to mustard massages, smarted under violent paddling, and were ignominiously tossed backward from chairs into dunking tank.

As the age-old rites progressed, marking the transition from landlubber "Polliwogs" to full-fledged "Shellbacks" who have crossed the equator, it came Mr. Truman's own turn to face the baleful glare of bearded King Neptune.

Among other things, he had been indicted by the mythological god of the seas as "a vile landlubber and Polliwog."

With dead-pan solemnity, Mr. Truman began to plead his case. He had no "adequate defense," he said, to the charges against him.

"I cannot deny the fact that I am

MYERS ASKS LAWMAKERS' RECALL

Hogs, Butter, Eggs Go Up; Grains Tumble

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (AP)—A chain-telephone-call buyers strike and union-operated retail stores were thrown into the fight against rising food costs today, but prices of several important household budget items continued their upward spiral.

The price situation attracted comment from such varied groups as a senatorial committee, which said it saw some reductions possible, and a clergyman who planned to take up the problem with his parishioners at a prayer meeting.

Meanwhile, hogs at Chicago advanced to a new record high. Butter, eggs, sugar and cocoa also raced up the price ladder, but grains tumbled while cattle barely held steady.

Here were the day's developments:

Chain-Telephone Buyers Strike

In Springfield, Ohio, Mrs. Nellie Strong, a 31-year-old woman confined to her home with rheumatic fever, inaugurated a chain-telephone call buyers strike. She is asking each person she calls to make five calls to other persons, urging consumers to strike against rising prices.

Mrs. Strong called upon the city's clergy to aid her and Rev. H. B. Hughes, of the First Church of Nazarene, said he would ask the support of his congregation at a prayer meeting.

In Detroit, two locals of the CIO United Auto Workers entered the grocery business. A local at Briggs Manufacturing Company announced it would open a store September 20 for its 16,000 members. Ford's Highland Park local established a store for its 10,800 members last Saturday.

In Washington, Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) and Baldwin (R-Conn.) said they expected the congressional investigation of prices to bring about some reductions in the cost of food and clothing.

Controls Over Exports Seen

"We are hopeful that if it is true that there are any unconscionable profiteers they will be warned by this investigation", Sen. Baldwin said. Several senatorial groups are conducting the price investigation in various parts of the country.

In Vienna, Ga., Sen. George (D-Ga.), perdicted there would be no return to price controls, but said there is a possibility of rigid controls over exports. He said any broad foreign relief program will result in keeping prices up in this country.

An implied warning that American grain exports must be reduced has been sent embassies in 20 countries, Lincoln White, press officer of the State Department, disclosed. He revealed that the embassies had been informed of prospective short corn and oats crops.

Bowles Suggests Boycotts

ESSEX, Conn., Sept. 11 (AP)—Chester Bowles recalled tonight that widespread public reaction, including boycotts and consumer picket lines, licked high prices after the First World War and said a similar movement now "may do the trick again."

"It is high time," the former OPA administrator said in a statement on the current price situation, "that the average American family which has suffered so drastically from inflationary prices in the past 15 months rose up on its hind legs and said, 'We've had enough'."

Wainwright Willing To Serve In Senate

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (AP) — Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Bataan, said today that "if the people of Texas desire me to serve them in the United States Senate I shall be happy to do so."

The Dallas Morning News reported a draft movement was under way for Wainwright as a Democratic candidate to oppose the renomination of Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel.

Newspapers May Mention Lotteries In Connection With Newsworthy Events

EISENHOWER AGAIN DISAVOWS EFFORTS TO DRAFT HIM IN '48

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP) — General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower today again disavowed efforts to draft him as Republican candidate for the presidency but his remarks shed no light on whether he would reject a nomination offer.

At a news conference at Columbia University, whose president he will become next year when he retires from the army, Eisenhower characterized any draft movement in American politics as "an artificial stimulant."

He underscored his comments by asserting "I do not think a man who has been a professional soldier should be in any political capacity. I do not think it is good for the Army and it is not good for the soldier."

P. O. Department Reverses Itself

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 — (AP) — The Post Office Department reversed itself tonight and ruled that newspapers may legally report on "a newsworthy event" in which there is incidental mention of a lottery.

It held that it was proper for the St. Louis Star-Times and other papers to carry stories about the negro who was temporarily denied an automobile he won in a lottery.

The St. Louis paper had been cautioned by Postmaster Bernard F. Dickmann, of St. Louis, who said the paper would have been barred from the mails, under anti-lottery laws, had publication of the story been noted at the time.

Conferred With Hannegan

Tonight, Frank J. Delany, the department's solicitor, wrote Dickmann that after consultation with Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan, "I have concluded that despite the literal wording o the law it was not intended to exclude from the mails publications of such items x x x x which have a news value in their own right and in which the lottery element is only incidental to a newsworthy event."

"This law was not designed to suppress information of news value to the public, even though incidentally connected with a lottery.

"As a consequence of this interpretation of the law, the opinion previously given you is reversed. It is my opinion that notwithstanding incidental reporting of a lottery the publication is mailable."

Delany said that the previous interpretation of the law was one which was "uniformly supplied in answer to inquiries regarding the mailability of news items naming the winner of any lottery."

"That avice to you was based on a law of Congress which provides that newspapers publishing the names of lottery winners may not be mailed."

O'Conor Makes Protest

Delany said that the new interpretation, permitting the publication of such stories, "will be uniformly applied in the future in all cases wherever they arise."

Earlier today, Sen. O'Conor (D-Md.) released a letter calling on the department to reject any interpretation that lottery laws forbid any mention of a lottery, even incidentally in a story dealing with charges of racial discrimination.

O'Conor wrote the department that suppression of news stories dealing with racial issues "goes contrary to every concept of American freedom of speech."

The Maryland senator, a member of the Civil Service Commission, made his protest after the Star-Times and the Baltimore Sunpapers were "cautioned" by local postmasters for publishing stories involving lottery.

U. S. Acts To Get Assembly Action On Balkan Issue

Proposes Council Recommend Move

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Balkan controversy flared up in the United Nations again today when the United States proposed that the Security Council call on the General Assembly to find a solution to the dispute between Greece and her Soviet satellite neighbors.

The United States maneuver was intended to remove technical obstacles, under the United Nations Charter, which might stand in the way of Assembly action. It was expected to run into immediate opposition from Soviet Russia, which last year vetoed a similar move to ask for Assembly action on the Spanish question.

Spanish Case Procedure Likely

The Charter provides that the Assembly may discuss matters which are under active consideration by the Security Council, but may not then act on them without a specific request from the council.

The United States had been expected to follow the procedure finally adopted in the Spanish case by proposing that the council strike the Balkan question from its agenda. This was admittedly a procedural question and was, thus, not subject to the big power veto.

By declining to propose a specific council request to the Assembly, the United States raised the possibility of another Soviet veto. Although the United States delegation took the position that this also was a procedural question, Russia argued in the Spanish case that such a proposal involved questions of principles which made it subject to the veto.

Interpreted As U. S. Strategy

Informed quarters interpreted the American move as a part of its strategy to keep the subsidiary frontier watch group of the United Nations Balkan Investigating Commission in Greece. While Russia argued that this group had ceased to exist legally when the Security Council failed to find a solution to the problem after two Soviet vetoes killed United States-led efforts last month, Secretary-General Trygve Lie ruled that the body could continue operations until the council decided to liquidate the watchers or drop the Balkan question from its agenda.

Under the American proposal, the council could keep the issue on its calendar, thereby preserving the Balkan unit, and at the same time give the Assembly a free hand to act.

The Balkan question is considered one of the major issues to come before the Assembly, which convenes in regular session at Flushing Meadow Park in New York next Tuesday. The United States already has had the issue placed on the Assembly's agenda.

AFTER BUS CRASH—A policeman looks at a victim of yesterday's bus crash at Chicago as passersby comfort other victims (left). Two crowded double-decked Chicago Motor Coach Company buses collided on Lake Shore Drive when one went out of control. One woman was crushed to death and 40 persons were injured.

WOMAN IS CRUSHED TO DEATH, 40 HURT IN CRASH OF BUSES

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (AP) — A young woman was crushed to death today and 40 persons were injured when a double-deck bus went out of control and crashed into a stalled bus which had discharged its passengers.

Most of the injured had been passengers on the stalled bus, also a double-decker, and were clustered around the vehicle on Lake Shore Drive waiting for the approaching bus to pick them up. Both were Chicago Motor Coach Company buses.

Police said Joseph J. Mencarini, 33, driver of the second bus, told them air brakes on his bus failed and it hit the stalled bus, a Loop-bound Sheridan Road limited. The stalled bus plowed into a cluster of its discharged passengers, while the second bus, after striking the first, caromed into a tree and a lamp post.

Jew, Arab States Urged By Dewey

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey called today for quick United Nations adoption of a plan to establish separate Jewish and Arab states in Palestine to end what he termed the tragedy of shipping homeless Jews into Germany.

Dewey urged the American delegation to the United Nations General Assembly to throw full support behind the United Nations special committee majority report on Palestine although, he said, "it does not give the Jews all that was promised by the nations."

"The partition recommended," he added, "seems a minimum for Jewish needs."

His statements came in Rosh Hashanah (Jewish New Year's) greeting to Jewish residents of New York State.

The Governor, an undeclared contender for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination, also urged:

1—Federal legislation to permit the absorption of our share of displaced persons of all religions.

2—Adoption without delay of another United Nations special committee recommendation to permit the immigration of 150,000 Jews into Palestine within the next two years.

14 Bodies Recovered

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 11 (INS) — Marine divers and river police recovered two more bodies today from the twisted, half sunken hulk of the "Island Queen" which exploded and burned at its dock in Pittsburgh Tuesday. It brought the number of known dead to 14.

Hannah To Resign Labor Dept. Post

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach said today that Assistant Secretary Phil Hannah has been talking of resigning "for some time" and he "regrets" to see Hannah leave.

Hannah announced in Cincinnati that he is resigning, effective whenever Schwellenbach and AFL President William Green select a successor.

Schwellenbach said he expects that the AFL Executive Council, now in session in Chicago, will discuss a possible nominee for a successor to Hannah.

Under past procedures in the Labor Department, the AFL and CIO each have had a high-ranking officer in the department. Hannah is the AFL man.

Hannah's counter-part in the department has been John W. Gibson, representing the CIO and also with the title of Assistant Labor Secretary.

Schwellenbach said Hannah has not submitted a formal resignation.

Schwellenbach added in response to newsmen's questions, that neither he himself, nor Assistant Secretary Gibson, nor Undersecretary David A. Morse are considering resigning.

Virtual Paralysis Of Auto Industry Seen

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 11. (INS) —A member of the UAW-CIO Executive Board tonight predicted virtual paralysis of 90 per cent of the automobile industry within a week.

John W. Livingston told the 22-member board at Buffalo that the tieup will result from a four-week strike at the Carter Carburetor Company at St. Louis, Mo. He said the firm makes most of the carburetors for major autombile firms except for the Ford Motor Company.

LE MANS, France, Sept. 11 (AP)—Police tonight used tear gas to disperse demonstrators who tried to storm the Prefecture in protest against the food situation. One youth was reported seriously injured.

U. N. Group Approves Second Atom Report

Commission Defeats Russian Opposition

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 10—(AP)—The United Nations Atomic Energy Commission disregarded bitter Russian opposition today and approved its second report stating general principles for creation and operation of an international atomic control agency.

The roll-call vote was 10 to one, Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko said "no" and Poland abstained.

Canada, the United States, France, Britain, Brazil, China, Belgium, Australia, Colombia and Syria made up the majority.

The ballot came after the United States' Frederick H. Osborn answered a volley of Russian charges with a counter-charge that the Soviet Union had impeded the work of the commission since its start 15 months ago.

Soviet Veto Probable

The result showed clearly that Russia would veto—unless she reverses policy—any atomic treaty based on the principles approved by the majority in this report.

It was problematical when the Security Council would take up the report. Gromyko, who is council chairman this month, said that the document is not "ripe for discussion in the Security Council. It must be studied."

He mentioned also that delegates would be busy with the Assembly beginning next Tuesday, indicating that the atomic report certainly would not soon receive council consideration.

The majority expressed the view that the document was only a progress report. They said that much more work must be done and many problems must be solved before they can write an atomic treaty, as ordered by the Security Council. But they gave no indication when they would start work again.

Abstained On First Report Vote

Russia and Poland abstained on the vote on the first report last December which embodied largely the United States plan outlined by Bernard M. Baruch on June 14, 1946, at the commission's first meeting.

Thus observers noted that Russia's stand had changed from non-participation to active opposition to the majority during the course of work on the second report. Russia particularly hit at principles of management, ownership and licensing powers for the international agency as approved by the majority.

Wall Street Set "To Run World," Wallace Asserts

Assails American Foreign Program

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace said tonight that "under the present administration Wall Street is all set to run the world."

He told a Madison Square Garden rally sponsored by the Progressive Citizens of America:

"Under the Republicans Wall Street ran America; under the present administration Wall Street is all set to run the world."

Speaking on the eve of the anniversary of his address last September attacking American foreign policy which resulted in his ouster from President Truman's Cabinet, Wallace again lashed out at the administration's foreign program, charging it was dominated by investment bankers and military men.

He also singled out former President Herbert Hoover, saying:

"Forty-six days after the death of Franklin Roosevelt, Herbert Hoover was welcomed at the White House. Two years later it is Hoover's thinking which guides our foreign policy."

Wallace reiterated that he intended to "work within the Democratic Party," but he did not close the door completely on a third party.

"There will be charges," he said, "that we are out to dominate the Democratic Party, but it will be more accurate to say that we are out to prevent the Democratic Party from committee suicide. x x x

"If the Democratic Party is a war party, if my party continues attack civil liberties, if both parties stand for high prices and depression—then the people must have a new party of liberty and peace."

Wallace summarized his own program as "peace, jobs and freedom." He assailed the federal government's loyalty investigation and "reactionary capitalism" which he said was building up "enormous monetary reserves" with present high prices.

At the outset of his talk, the former Vice President referred to his address of last September 12 in the Garden, saying "it had been approved by the President of the United States as we read it over together page by page in the White House a year ago yesterday."

EXPLOSION ROCKS OCEAN LINER; 20 BELIEVED KILLED

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Sept. 11—(AP)—The coxswain of a lifeboat which brought a number of injured persons ashore said he believed 20 persons were killed and 50 injured tonight in an explosion in the engine room of the 17,702-ton ocean liner Reina Del Pacifico, off the Northern Irish coast.

The coxswain did not state what his belief was based on and the ship's master, who reported the blast by radio to Northern Irish Coast Guard stations, said only that 60 persons had been injured.

The ship was going through a trial run and was about seven miles north of the Copeland Islands near the mouth of Belfast Lough when the explosion occurred.

Voluntary Food Rationing Urged By Truman Group

Davis Recommends Return To Controls

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (INS)—President Truman's foreign aid committee, headed by Commerce Secretary Harriman, suggested today a voluntary rationing system for American consumers to make more food available for Europe under the Marshall plan.

The suggestion came amid growing indications of domestic food and fuel shortages which placed new obstacles in the path of the administration's apparent drive for congressional action on a stop-gap European program.

Before proposing vountary rationing, the Harriman committee heard one of its 19 members recommend a return to government wartime food controls to meet the threatened world hunger.

Chester Davis, president of the St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank and chairman of the Harriman Subcommittee on Food and Agricultural Resources, proposed back-to-rationing.

Davis contended that it would be necessary to reimpose some wartime food controls. He also backed the committee's appeal for "voluntary rationing."

Meanwhile, Harriman said that government rationing probably could not be resumed in time to feed hungry Europe this year.

Conference Delay Seen

PARIS, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Marshall plan conference may be delayed nearly three weeks beyond next Monday for a complete overhaul of the final report to satisfy criticisms of United States Undersecretary of State William L. Clayton, a secretariat source said tonight.

This source said Clayton's objections, presented at a meeting with members of the conference's executive committee at the American Embassy last night, was not aimed at the amount of aid requested but rather at the way the statistical data was presented.

"Clayton found the report too indigestible," the source said, adding that the American official had declared the report was unlikely to obtain the backing of the American public in its present form.

It was learned on good authority meanwhile, that overall aid the United States will be asked to underwrite was further lowered to nearly $18,000,000,000 during the meeting this afternoon of the full co-operation committee.

Prior to today's meeting, at which the report of the balance of payments subcommittee was discussed, the estimated overall balance-of-payments deficit between the 16 participating nations and the Western Hemisphere for the next four years was $19,726,000,000, the conference source said.

Missouri's Path May Cross That Of Storm

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 11—(AP)—A severe tropical storm was whirling across the Atlantic tonight in a west northwestward path at about 15 miles per hour, apparently increasing in intensity, the Weather Bureau reported in a 10 a. m. (EST) advisory.

The storm was moving on a route that would cross the path of the battleship Missouri, returning President Truman from the Rio de Janeiro conference but they were nearly 1,000 miles apart.

The weather advisory said the storm was attended by winds of about 60 miles per hour near the center and gales extended outward to about 100 miles from the center.

Declares High Prices Menace U. S. Economy

Senators Say Price Control Not Answer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 — (AP) — Sen. Myers (D-Pa.) said today that the United States economy is menaced by high prices and he called for a special session of Congress to deal with inflation and aid to Europe.

These matters are "both part of the same problem," he told a news conference in urging recall of the lawmakers in early November.

"It is apparent that our economy is threatened by inflation today as it was by military aggression a few years ago," Myers said. He added that the government "must do something" since, he reasoned, free enterprise has failed to halt advances in living costs.

Myers is a member of a special Senate-House subcommittee headed by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), which will conduct the first of a series of hearings expected to cover the nation in a probe of rising prices of consumer goods.

Price Controls Not Answer

Flanders told another news conference today that consumers are eager to testify but that manufacturers and retailers "have not rushed forward."

While the latter two groups "had to be asked to testify," he said, nevertheless "there has been no real reluctance."

Flanders and six other senators agreed that a resumption of government price controls is not the answer.

Flanders suggested that a 100 per cent margin requirement (all cash down) on all grain trading might stabilize grain prices that "are certainly out of control."

He said the government does not have this power but that grain exchanges could and should do it. (Flanders' remarks touched off a selling wave in the Chicago grain market.)

Hearings Begin Monday

"We are hopeful of there being useful results," Flanders said. He is chairman of a subcommittee of three senators and three representatives which will conduct price hearings in the Eastern United States, beginning Monday at Providence, R. I. Two other subcommittees will cover the Middle West and Far East.

Flanders, after a closed subcommittee session to plan the hearing, reported that both Democrats and Republicans agree that rising prices are the biggest domestic problem.

Flanders said the eastern hearings will emphasize two of the biggest items in the average family's living cost—food and clothing.

Rents are being examined by other congressional inquiries dealing with housing, Flanders said, noting that federal rent controls now extend until February 29, or two months after the next regular session of Congress opens.

Board Of Trade Hikes Margin Requirements

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (AP)—Chicago Board of Trade margin requirements were increased today for the second time within a week and a board official said the action was "considered necessary for the best interest and protection of a free-open and competitive market."

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) said in Washington today that he felt grain margins should be increased to 100 per cent. The Board of Trade spokesman said that today's action, taken at a regularly-scheduled board meeting, was "not inspired or influenced by any statements in the public press."

Board directors boosted the minimum margin requirements 10 cents a bushel on wheat, corn and barley, five cents on oats and 25 cents on soybeans.

Body Is Identified

BALTIMORE, Sept. 11 (AP)—Mrs Anna H. Millikin, Hamlet, N. C., identified the body of a man found in the Baltimore harbor today as that of her husband, 26-year-old Luther R. Millikin, who was lost when a fishing launch exploded Tuesday night. Four other men aboard the 40-foot launch were rescued.

Workers Lose 18 Million

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Labor Department said today it uncovered $18,000,000 in wages "illegally withheld" from 311,236 workers in the year ended June 30.

So far, it said in a statement, 15,000 employers have paid up $8,864,000 and 5,000 have done nothing.

Finest Medical Care Now Starting For GIs, College Of Surgeons Told

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP) — The American College of Surgeons was told today that the finest type of medical care now is starting for GIs under the reorganized program of the Veterans Administration.

The report was made by Dr. Charles B. Puestow, clinical professor of surgery, University of Illinois College of Medicine. He credited the reform to Gen. Omar Bradley, and Drs. Paul R. Hawley and Paul B. Agnuson.

He said that at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Hines, Ill., one of the first to be organized, three times more operations are being performed in a year than formerly.

He said further:

Where veterans had to wait weeks or months and occasionally a year for necessary surgery, they now are taken into the hospital immediately and treated promptly. Where formerly very sick men had to go on a waiting list for treatment other than surgery, they now get virtually immediate care. Where there were formerly not enough beds for the sick, there are now spare beds.

Hines is one of the first reorganized hospitals.

Puestow said that what happens there is already in practice in the others or is being rapidly installed.

The reorganization puts the care of GIs directly under supervision of the nation's great medical schools.

President, Let Off Easy, Chuckles As Aides "Get Works" In Hazing

ABOARD THE U.S.S. MISSOURI WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, Sept. 11 (AP)—President Truman faced the awful wrath of King Neptune and talked himself out of it, but top White House aides got "the works" in tradit onal cross-the-equator hazing ceremonies today.

While Mr. Truman chuckled gleefully, his dignified military and diplomatic aides ran the gamut of punishment meted out by King Neptune's minions.

Willy-nilly, they clutched electrified "shocking" ladders, gulped noxious fluids, got smeared with paint and grease, submitted to mustard massages, smarted under violent paddling, and were ignominiously tossed backward from chairs into dunking tank.

As the age-old rites progressed, marking the transition from landlubber "Polliwogs" to full-fledged "Shellbacks" who have crossed the equator, it came Mr. Truman's own turn to face the baleful glare of bearded King Neptune.

Among other things, he had been indicted by the mythological god of the seas as "a vile landlubber and Polliwog."

With dead-pan solemnity, Mr. Truman began to plead his case. He had no "adequate defense," he said, to the charges against him.

"I cannot deny the fact that I am

Democrats May Name Convention City Next Month

Four Are Reported Under Consideration

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (INS)—The Democratic National Committee this autumn will choose one of four cities for the 1948 convention which probably will nominate President Truman for another term in the White House.

Cities under consideration by the Democrats are San Francisco, Denver, Chicago and Philadelphia, with San Francisco certain to get the nod "if it shows the proper interest."

The Democrats want to hold their convention west of the Mississippi River next year in an all-out bid for the electoral votes of the great western states.

Committeemen will gather in Washington, probably in October, to make their decision.

The tentative October date will break a precedent. Heretofore Democrats have waited until after January 1 of the campaign year to decide where and when they will pick their candidate.

Housing Will Be Problem

A spokesman for the committee explained today that the party desires to decide early because of the housing shortage. The housing crisis, incidentally, was regarded as likely to be one of the major campaign issues on the domestic front.

Key party leaders today explained that San Francisco is the top-heavy favorite. They said they believe it also is the choice of the President. The Democratic high command was represented as thinking San Francisco would be a "happy omen" for the political fortunes of the President.

The Democrats were particularly anxious to go west of the Mississippi in view of the growing drive within the party to draft Defense Secretary Forrestal, a New Yorker, as Mr. Truman's running mate.

A spokesman pointed out that the President journeyed to San Francisco in June, 1945, to address the final session of the Golden Gate conclave that drew up the United Nations Charter. The spokesman said:

Philly Offers $250,000

"We want to go west next year. You could call it a bid for the western states—every one of them from the Mississippi across the Rockies to the Pacific Coast.

"It was in San Francisco that the Charter was framed. And the shape of the world under the U.N. will play an important part in the 1948 voting."

Key Democrats explained that San Francisco men are anxious to have the convention there, but that there has as yet been only a lukewarm response from the tourist interests.

Denver, which recently entered the picture, has made no concrete guarantee, although strong elements within the party are pulling for the Rocky Mountain metropolis.

Philadelphia has offered $250,000 for the convention. The Democrats last met there in 1936 to renominate President Roosevelt for a second term.

Estimates say that by 1980 there will be 22,000,000 people in the United States over 65 years of age.

TALKING TYPEWRITER—George Coffey, 59-year-old machinist and home tinkerer, demonstrates his machine which through an arrangement of electrical contacts and phonograph recorder and reproducer, announces the name of whatever letter or number key is struck on the typewriter keyboard.

YANKEE TINKERER BUILDS TYPEWRITER THAT SAYS ABCs

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 11 (INS)—A Yankee tinkerer has invented a "talking typewriter."

George Coffey said today his typewriter will be valuable in preventing typing errors, assisting blind persons, and students of the touch system.

The model of the amazing machine, called a typovox, is a conglomeration of gadgets, including 112 parts from an old model T Ford and a "public address system" made up of a 1903 phonograph.

But it works. Hit the letter "A" and a hollow-sounding voice says "A." Hit the space bar and the same voice says "space bar."

Month-Long Coal Strike In Britain Nears End

LONDON, Sept. 11 (INS)—The month-long strike of Yorkshire's coal miners neared its end tonight when the Grimethorpe workers agreed to return to the pits Monday.

The walkout of the Grimethorpe union members on August 11 started a series of strikes in the Yorkshire field during which 40,000 men dropped their tools and caused a production loss of 400,000 tons of coal.

The decision to return to work was reached at an hour-long meeting of miners and union officials to review the dispute in which the workers refused to dig fuel an additional two feet beyond their usual daily stint.

Punctuated Marriage Vow With Five Bullets

DENVER, Sept. 11 (AP)—Murder charges were filed today against Charles E. Geiser, Jr., 23, who told police he recited "until death do us part" as he blasted five bullets into his 17-year-old bride of less than three weeks.

Deputy District Attorney Raymond E. Banks recommended the Denver University student be held without bail.

Geiser, in a signed statement to Det. Sgt. Arthur Shotwell, said he punctuated each word of the marriage vow with a blast last night from the pistol pointed at Gertrude (Sue) Geiser, a car hop from Kansas he wooed after she waited on him in an eating place. She died almost immediately of wounds in the face and arms.

"Lockout" Draws Association Fire

LEONARDTOWN, Md., Sept. 11—(AP)—The St. Mary's County courthouse was closed today to public meetings "for partisan purposes" and spokesmen for the St. Mary's County Civic Association said the ruling interferes with its campaign against slot machines.

Aloysius F. King, secretary to the county commissioners, explained that the board had adopted a resolution requiring written application and granting of written permission for public meetings in the building.

Some 150 members of the civic association arrived at the courthouse last night for an advertised meeting but had to call it off when they found the place locked up.

It all came on the eve of a new phase in the controversy over prevalence of slot machines in St. Mary's.

Maryland's Seventh Judicial Circuit Court convenes here Monday. Already before it are 24 gambling indictments. W. C. Gleiter, member of the civic association's board of directors, said the organization also planned to ask for a further investigation by the new grand jury which will be formed Monday.

The civil association was active in bringing about a special session of the March grand jury which handed down the gaming indictments in June.

Troops To Begin Italy Departure

ROME, Sept. 11 (AP) — Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, American commander in Italy, announced today that withdrawal of Allied military forces from Italy in compliance with the peace treaty would begin tomorrow and that he would leave the command to return to the United States "as soon after R-Day as possible."

The Allies will complete ratification of the treaty Monday, "R-Day," by depositing their signed copies in Paris. Lee told a news conference that the last troops would be en route home or redeployed by December 14, the 90-day deadline set by the treaty.

The American commander, whose administration, in the Mediterranean theater has been under investigation by the War Department as a result of a series of articles last month by Scrips-Howard Reporter Robert Ruark, accusing officers in the theater of high living, said his own orders to depart were issued by the Secretary of War last June 10.

He said he would turn over the command to Maj. Gen. Lawrence C. Jaynes, native of Coalton, Ohio, now deputy commander.

He added that after his return to the United States he would be stationed in San Francisco but "hoped to retire from the army under a request which Gen. Eisenhower granted me last February."

Preacher Freed In Poisoning Case

SUMMERVILLE, Ga., Sept. 11 (AP)—A charge of manslaughter filed against Rev. Gordon Miller after a member of his flock drank poison as a test of faith was thrown out of court today.

Judge Claude H. Porter, of the Rome Superior Court Circuit, said he opposed the snake-handling and poison-drinking demonstrations of the preacher but that there was no law preventing an individual from carrying poison.

Miller was indicted after the death of Ernest Davis, 33, who drank poison at a rural religious service conducted by Miller. Testimony was presented at a preliminary hearing that both Miller and Davis drank from the same glass after the preacher told Davis: "I warn you not to take it unless the Lord directs you to."

When Judge Porter gave his decision today, Miller started clapping his hands and shouted: "If they don't believe I have the power of God let them bring me a snake or some poison."

"I'm so happy I could start a meeting here on the court house steps," the preacher said.

His snake-handling cult was jubilant over the decision and started making plans for a big religious celebration Saturday night five miles from Adairsville, Ga., in an open field.

Buses For Trolleys!

BALTIMORE, Sept. 11 (AP) — A petition of the Potomac Edison Company to abandon its electric trolley line between Middletown and Frederick and substitute bus service along Route 40 was taken under advisement today by the Public Service Commission at conclusion of a public hearing.

Army officials declined to disclose the exact date and place of sailing, name of the vessel, its time of arrival in Greece or the port at which it will dock there.

Democrats May Name Convention City Next Month

Four Are Reported Under Consideration

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (INS)—The Democratic National Committee this autumn will choose one of four cities for the 1948 convention which probably will nominate President Truman for another term in the White House.

Cities under consideration by the Democrats are San Francisco, Denver, Chicago and Philadelphia, with San Francisco certain to get the nod "if it shows the proper interest."

The Democrats want to hold their convention west of the Mississippi River next year in an all-out bid for the electoral votes of the great western states.

Committeemen will gather in Washington, probably in October, to make their decision.

The tentative October date will break a precedent. Heretofore Democrats have waited until after January 1 of the campaign year to decide where and when they will pick their candidate.

Housing Will Be Problem

A spokesman for the committee explained today that the party desires to decide early because of the housing shortage. The housing crisis, incidentally, was regarded as likely to be one of the major campaign issues on the domestic front.

Key party leaders today explained that San Francisco is the top-heavy favorite. They said they believe it also is the choice of the President. The Democratic high command was represented as thinking San Francisco would be a "happy omen" for the political fortunes of the President.

The Democrats were particularly anxious to go west of the Mississippi in view of the growing drive within the party to draft Defense Secretary Forrestal, a New Yorker, as Mr. Truman's running mate.

A spokesman pointed out that the President journeyed to San Francisco in June, 1945, to address the final session of the Golden Gate conclave that drew up the United Nations Charter. The spokesman said:

Philly Offers $250,000

"We want to go west next year. You could call it a bid for the western states—every one of them from the Mississippi across the Rockies to the Pacific Coast.

"It was in San Francisco that the Charter was framed. And the shape of the world under the U.N. will play an important part in the 1948 voting."

Key Democrats explained that San Francisco men are anxious to have the convention there, but that there has as yet been only a lukewarm response from the tourist interests.

Denver, which recently entered the picture, has made no concrete guarantee, although strong elements within the party are pulling for the Rocky Mountain metropolis.

Philadelphia has offered $250,000 for the convention. The Democrats last met there in 1936 to renominate President Roosevelt for a second term.

Estimates say that by 1960 there will be 22,000,000 people in the United States over 65 years of age.

TALKING TYPEWRITER—George Coffey, 59-year-old machinist and home tinkerer, demonstrates his machine which through an arrangement of electrical contacts and phonograph recorder and reproducer, announces the name of whatever letter or number key is struck on the typewriter keyboard.

YANKEE TINKERER BUILDS TYPEWRITER THAT SAYS ABCs

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 11 (INS)—A Yankee tinkerer has invented a "talking typewriter."

George Coffey said today his typewriter will be valuable in preventing typing errors, assisting blind persons, and students of the touch system.

The model of the amazing machine, called a typovox, is a conglomeration of gadgets, including 112 parts from an old model T Ford and a "public address system" made up of a 1903 phonograph.

But it works. Hit the letter "A" and a hollow-sounding voice says "A." Hit the space bar and the same voice says "space bar."

Month-Long Coal Strike In Britain Nears End

LONDON, Sept. 11 (INS)—The month-long strike of Yorkshire's coal miners neared its end tonight when the Grimethorpe workers agreed to return to the pits Monday.

The walkout of the Grimethorpe union members on August 11 started a series of strikes in the Yorkshire field during which 40,000 men dropped their tools and caused a production loss of 400,000 tons of coal.

The decision to return to work was reached at an hour-long meeting of miners and union officials to review the dispute in which the workers refused to dig fuel an additional two feet beyond their usual daily stint.

Punctuated Marriage Vow With Five Bullets

DENVER, Sept. 11 (AP)—Murder charges were filed today against Charles E. Geiser, Jr., 23, who told police he recited "until death do us part" as he blasted five bullets into his 17-year-old bride of less than three weeks.

Deputy District Attorney Raymond E. Banks recommended the Denver University student be held without bail.

Geiser, in a signed statement to Det. Sgt. Arthur Shotwell, said he punctuated each word of the marriage vow with a blast last night from the pistol pointed at Gertrude (Sue) Geiser, a car hop from Kansas he wooed after she waited on him in an eating place. She died almost immediately of wounds in the face and arms.

"Lockout" Draws Association Fire

LEONARDTOWN, Md., Sept. 11—(AP)—The St. Mary's County courthouse was closed today to public meetings "for partisan purposes" and spokesmen for the St. Mary's County Civic Association said the ruling interferes with its campaign against slot machines.

Aloysius P. King, secretary to the county commissioners, explained that the board had adopted a resolution requiring written application and granting of written permission for public meetings in the building.

Some 150 members of the civic association arrived at the courthouse last night for an advertised meeting but had to call it off when they found the place locked up.

It all came on the eve of a new phase in the controversy over prevalence of slot machines in St. Mary's.

Maryland's Seventh Judicial Circuit Court convenes here Monday. Already before it are 24 gambling indictments. W. C. Gleiter, member of the civic association's board of directors, said the organization also planned to ask for a further investigation by the new grand jury which will be formed Monday.

The civil association was active in bringing about a special session of the March grand jury which handed down the gaming indictments in June.

Troops To Begin Italy Departure

ROME, Sept. 11 (AP) — Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, American commander in Italy, announced today that withdrawal of Allied military forces from Italy in compliance with the peace treaty would begin tomorrow and that he would leave the command to return to the United States "as soon after R-Day as possible."

The Allies will complete ratification of the treaty Monday, "R-Day," by depositing their signed copies in Paris. Lee told a news conference that the last troops would be en route home or redeployed by December 14, the 90-day deadline set by the treaty.

The American commander, whose administration, in the Mediterranean theater has been under investigation by the War Department as a result of a series of articles last month by Scrips-Howard Reporter Robert Ruark, accusing officers in the theater of high living, said his own orders to depart were issued by the Secretary of War last June 10.

He said he would turn over the command to Maj. Gen. Lawrence C. Jaynes, native of Coalton, Ohio, now deputy commander.

He added that after his return to the United States he would be stationed in San Francisco but "hoped to retire from the army under a request which Gen. Eisenhower granted me last February."

Preacher Freed In Poisoning Case

SUMMERVILLE, Ga., Sept. 11 (AP)—A charge of manslaughter filed against Rev. Gordon Miller after a member of his flock drank poison as a test of faith was thrown out of court today.

Judge Claude H. Porter, of the Rome Superior Court Circuit, said he opposed the snake-handling and poison-drinking demonstrations of the preacher but that there was no law preventing an individual from carrying poison.

Miller was indicted after the death of Ernest Davis, 33, who drank poison at a rural religious service conducted by Miller. Testimony was presented at a preliminary hearing that both Miller and Davis drank from the same glass after the preacher told Davis: "I warn you not to take it unless the Lord directs you to."

When Judge Porter gave his decision today, Miller started clapping his hands and shouted: "If they don't believe I have the power of God let them bring me a snake or some poison."

"I'm so happy I could start a meeting here on the court house steps," the preacher said.

His snake-handling cult was jubilant over the decision and started making plans for a big religious celebration Saturday night five miles from Adairsville, Ga., in an open field.

Buses For Trolleys!

BALTIMORE, Sept. 11 (AP) — A petition of the Potomac Edison Company to abandon its electric trolley line between Middletown and Frederick and substitute bus service along Route 40 was taken under advisement today by the Public Service Commission at conclusion of a public hearing.

Ammunition Ship Sails From U. S. For Greece

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP) — The New York Port of Embarkation said today a cargo ship sailed recently from an eastern port with a shipload of ammunition for the Greek government.

The announcement said the ship carried three types of ammunition—mortar shells, anti-personnel mines and hand grenades—but the amount of each was not disclosed.

Army officials declined to disclose the exact date and place of sailing, name of the vessel, its time of arrival in Greece or the port at which it will dock there.

More Nearby Communities In Pennsylvania Vote Dry

A short time ago, Senator Capper of Kansas, a standpat dry, expressed the belief that sentiment for another try at prohibition is growing about as fast as it did some 40 years ago when the country was being whipped toward passage of the dry amendment and the Volstead Act.

There might be some basis for his thinking if we take the vote in nearby Pennsylvania townships Tuesday as an example. In that election Saxton, which was wet, voted dry and Londonderry, which had beer, voted dry, while Hyndman and Liberty remained dry in an election which afforded the opportunity to go wet. A fairly substantial vote was cast to make the result more or less decisive.

An article in a recent issue of American Magazine said one-third of the nation already is dry—legally. In 20,000 local option elections since repeal, according to the magazine, the drys have won 12,000. Deets Pickett, of the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church, says national prohibition will be back in five years "if the wets don't get smart and correct current abuses."

In practically every case where a community has voted dry after having been wet, the result can be blamed on abuses. If the liquor interests want to stay in legitimate business, they'll have to clean up. Retail liquor dealers' organizations generally, we feel certain, are endeavoring to keep the traffic honest, clean and strictly within the law. But the retail liquor dealers can't do it alone. They need the help of the Liquor Control Board and the local police, plus the courts.

We don't think a majority of Americans want to go back to the old hypocrisy of voting dry and drinking wet. We don't think they want to go back to the evils of a wet prohibition. Even now, in the so-called "dry" states of the nation, liquor flows freely, although perhaps slightly more covertly than in the "wet" states.

Prohibition won't stamp out drinking. It won't end abuses. In the nearby communities in Pennsylvania which have exercised their right of local option, and outlaw liquor and/or beer sales over the bar, there has been no evidence that such action curtailed drinking. The sole purpose, in most cases, was to drive out of business one or more obnoxious saloons.

That's a job the local police and the Liquor Control Board can clean up before the issue gets to the point of a public referendum. Local option on liquor licenses is a democratic way of doing business. It is a good system. Any community should have the privilege of outlawing liquor sales if that's what a majority of the voters want.

But the need for it, and the increasing use of this weapon, would be largely dissipated if the liquor business, the local police, the county authorities, the courts and the Liquor Board do a thorough job in assisting retail liquor dealers' organizations to keep the business on a high plane.

It is now predicted highway traffic will have increased 60 per cent by 1970, which provides a clue as to when new cars will be available.

Peek Into Xmas

This may not be the time to mention it, but department store buyers have been taking the annual advance peek into the merchandise they will put into the toy departments for the Christmas trade.

Jubilantly, they report that it is going to be a great holiday season for the kids, the best since 1941. There will be greater variety of toys, and most of higher quality. Tricycles and pedal-operated automobiles will be back numbers. Metal playground equipment, long absent, will be back.

There will be many more electric trains than was the case last year, but the stores will be on allotment as far as this item is concerned. New games and adaptations of old ones will make appearance. The rubber doll that sips water will have returned.

Something new is the magnetic village. A youngster, using in hand one pole of a magnet is enabled to guide toy automobiles into filling stations, or miniature planes along airport runways.

There will be little in the toy line to remind parents and kids of the late war. Included in the array will be numbers of mechanical items from England. The Germans in the American zone of occupation again are busy at toy-making, and catalogs of their products are beginning to appear in the United States.

Christmas tree ornaments made in Czechoslovakia, hand-painted and equipped with reflectors, will be available. But they will be expensive.

And here is some sad news—tree lights again will be far short of demand. Although production of the colored light globes and their sockets is running heavy, the industry is "millions and millions of bulbs behind," one store buyer relates.

One suggested cure for present troubles is to re-educate adults. However successful, it will be impossible to make them as smart as the average 18-year-old.

Out Went Mancheno

It wouldn't do to be too positive about this, considering how things often go in Latin America, but it looks as though Ecuador has lost its appetite for revolutions. At any rate, the most recent one displayed a noteworthy lack of staying power.

On August 23 the government of President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra fell as the result of a one-shot coup d'etat engineered by Col. Carlos Mancheno. Exactly ten days later Colonel Mancheno decided that the counter-revolutionary forces advancing on Quito could not be stopped. Thereupon he announced his resignation and took himself elsewhere.

Things usually happen rapidly in Ecuador. During the 14 years before the establishment of the Ibarra government in 1944 the country had 13 presidents. But 10 days is a short life for a regime even in Ecuador. Colonel Mancheno's brief tenure seems to indicate that the country was reasonably well satisfied with what it had before he assumed power and wants more of the same kind.

The Mancheno revolution, which now appears to have been anything but a popular uprising, may prove to have been only an interlude in a comparatively lengthy period of stability.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

THE FIRST YEAR

THE activities of the Rochester [Minn.] child health project are being followed with interest by medical men thruout the country. Aldrich and his associates started this preventive health program to foster the welfare of the youngsters of the community. Their physical needs are being studied, and, thru suggestions on diet and methods of preventing infectious diseases, these workers hope to promote the maximum health of the children. In addition to facilities for fresh air, rest, sunshine, recreation and medical consultations, the expectant mother also receives her share of attention.

The emotional and mental aspects of rearing children are stressed because these factors are so closely associated with physical well being. A specific plan is presented to all mothers and their reactions are recorded, together with the effect on the progeny in order to determine the efficacy of the campaign.

Statistics were compiled on youngsters who completed a full year's attendance at the clinic. It was found that 98 per cent of the mothers made a conscientious effort to nurse but only 62.8 per cent were able to continue longer than one month. Many ran out of milk; others developed breast infections. This demonstrates that some women are unable to breastfeed their off spring and the number who cannot is large enough to warrant research in an attempt to remove obstacles.

The "self-demand schedule" is used. When the infant shows evidence of hunger, he is given enough food to satisfy appetite. Soft edibles are offered when the mouth and tongue develop sufficiently to transport the nourishment back into the throat. As soon as the tike can chew, more solid articles are served and when the hands acquire dexterity, drinking from a cup is encouraged. In this way, it is hoped that the emotional resistance to eating, which is so common during the first year of life, will be eliminated. Frank appetite problems were rare and approximately 90 per cent had normal or voracious appetites. Such results are not unique because eating disturbances are more likely to appear during the pre-school years.

In most instances the babies did an unusual amount of crying during the first three months and in 22 per cent, a reasonable explanation could be found. Recommendations for bowel training were made and 80 per cent of the mothers were able to report success along this line by the end of the first 12 months. Good sleeping habits were present in 81 per cent even tho many of the families are living in one or two rooms. One child in the series refused to go to bed and 17 were restless during the night. One-third of the tots had unapproved habits of which thumbsucking was the most prevalent followed by tantrums, screaming, biting, and awakening in the night. Only two liked to bump their heads and an equal number rocked on their legs or bounced on their hands and knees while in the crib.

Under this program the little ones seemed to thrive. The average weight at the end of the year was 22 pounds and the height, 29½ inches which means that they were approximately a pound heavier and an inch taller than the accepted standards. This speaks well for the plan of permitting babies to fix their own feeding schedules and control the amount of food consumed.

STUFFED NOSE

M. C. writes: For several years I have had periods when my nose is completely stopped up for months at a time. Please advise.

REPLY

If the condition is not due to a cold, allergic rhinitis is a good possibility. A clew is obtained by studying the secretions from the nose. If these investigations are positive, skin tests may be necessary to track down the offender.

MENTAL DISTURBANCE

F. T. writes: We hear so much about paranoia. What is it?

REPLY

This condition is a form of insanity characterized by feelings of persecution. Hence the victim is extremely suspicious of what he sees and hears.

PROMINENT VEIN

V. writes: What causes the so-called superficial vein on the left side of the temple between the eye and ear to become prominent?

REPLY

Thinning of the skin or weight loss may be responsible.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

California lifeguards are twiddling their thumbs these days. The city has just condemned 12 miles of beach as being unfit for swimming. They say the water is so bad that even the tide refuses to come in.

Just to give an idea of how bad the water is, the city inspectors took some of it down to the laboratory to test it and when they weren't looking, it escaped.

The local citizens have sent a committee down to the city hall to fight this ban, but I really don't see what all the arguing is about. Who would want to go in the water with girls bathing suits what they are? You should see them - No one else can.

The water may be off bounds, but the lifeguards are still busy. They are giving artificial respiration to the poor souls who have just eaten those beach hot dogs.

The folks are getting desperate. Just yesterday they dived off the pier into paper cups filled with soda pop. I knew there was something wrong with the water when I saw a lobster clinging to the back of a sea gull and holding its nose.

But the folks of California aren't worried. There is always the Hollywood Bowl and the rainy season.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Truman Will Get Sour Economic Report; One Senatorial Junket Will Seriously Study Europe; How U. S. Christmas Mail May Have Located U. S. Troops

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 — When President Truman walks down the gangplank from the USS Missouri next week, there will be dumped in his lap a none-too-happy economic report from his Council of Economic Advisers.

The Council, set up by Congress to take the nation's business pulse and report on how to head off depressions, is more alarmed than ever over high prices and the inflation spiral. In fact, they are so worried that they have been considering the drastic step of recommending reinstatement of price controls.

This step has also been considered by members of the Truman Cabinet during his absence, and they are not at all happy about it. They feel that new price controls never would get by Congress, would only result in more black-marketeering—unless accompanied by rationing. And nobody wants to have rationing come back.

However, the Council of Economic Advisers, a group of experts picked from neither political party, is concerned not with what Congress may or may not think, but solely with heading off depression. And they will inform the President:

1. That the present runaway prices coupled with inflation will continue for some time.

2. That continuation will lead to a real depression, rather than a recession.

They will also caution that the low-income public—which makes up the vast majority of the nation's consumers—has been using up its savings, because prices are so high that they can't pay their bills out of present income.

New Type Of Junket

With Congress busting all records this year for pleasure-junketing at the taxpayers' expense, it is heartening to report that one committee is planning a genuine business trip. GOP Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire has made certain that members of his Appropriations Committee toe the line on their forthcoming trip to probe U.S. relief-spending in Europe.

"This will be neither a Cook's Tour, nor a junket," Bridges has forewarned his Committee. "It's strictly a business trip to get information on which we can base future relief appropriations. We have to hit a lot of places in a relatively short time, which means there won't be time for entertainment and socializing."

The New Hampshire Senator did not bar Senatorial wives, providing they pay all their own expenses. Also wives must travel around by themselves while their husbands are busy on inspection tours.

Note—Among other things, the Senators will probe the activities of Gen. John "Court House" Lee, and Soviet use of American currency plates to print paper money in Germany.

German Espionage ? ?

Last month Bob Allen threw penetrating light on the brass-hatting of Gen. John "Court House" Lee, U.S. Commander in Italy. Among other things, Colone. Allen told how General Lee, in charge of supplies in 1944, had delayed delivery of Christmas mail to men in the front lines.

Since then, a GI who helped handle this mail has sent amazing details as to how that 1944 Christmas mail was handled. Here is the story:

"The 17th Base Post Office with more than 1,000 men," he says, "moved out of Cherbourg to better quarters in Paris, leaving the Xmas mail to be handled by the 15th Postal Regulating Section—an outfit with only about 15 men. To help them the 17th Base Post Office left behind about 20 privates, making a total of 35 men to handle what 1,000 men had handled before.

"Naturally it was impossible for this small outfit to handle the deluge of mail, so the higher command detailed several hundred German prisoners to help.

"Each sack of mail had a label with the name of the outfit to which it was to be sent. The German prisoners would pull the sacks over to an American soldier, who would call out the name of the outfit. Another American soldier held a list marked 'SECRET', containing the exact whereabouts of each regiment or battalion at the front. And he would call out the routing of the sack to the other soldier who would mark this destination on the label.

"All this was done with German prisoners watching and listening. Many of them could speak English, and frequently it seemed to me they were over-curious about their work. Their task was to pile up the sacks of mail, all the sacks in one pile going to one place. Thus it was easy to see merely from the size of a pile of mail sacks where the preponderance of U.S. troops were. And if a large infantry unit's mail suddenly appeared on a pile, it was quite clear that new troops were being moved up to the front.

"It will always be my opinion that the storing up of this 1944 Xmas mail into these piles offered the enemy a topographical map showing the strength and weakness of our troops in the Battle of the Bulge."

Merry-Go-Round

The Air Corps is in the market for a new uniform as a mark of its new autonomy. The brass hats haven't settled on a color yet, lean toward blue. . . . Colorado's able young Congressman John Carroll has his sights raised to the Senate seat which big Ed Johnson plans to vacate. . . . Aging Admiral Jack Towers, Chairman of the Navy's General Board and a stickler for Navy regulation, showed up at his office the other day in nonregulation tennis shoes, sheepishly explained that he had run a piece of glass in his foot on the golf links. . . . Hard-hitting Congressman Sabath of Chicago has filed a formal query with Attorney General Tom Clark asking whether Merwyn K. Hart is registered as an agent of Franco Spain. Hart is the spirit behind the National Economic Council which grinds out totalitarian-tainted propaganda. . . . Elliott Roosevelt and his actress wife, Faye Emerson, will make another journalistic tour of Europe this fall.

"Dollars For Quarters" Trading Seen As Unsound

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The Socialist Prime Minister of Britain has slapped a huge new tax on American motion picture films. He did it to keep from completely exhausting the American loan on non-essentials. In reply, our producers say they will ship no more films. Mr. Eric Johnston, spokesman for the industry, says that England "cannot expect a dollar's worth of film for a quarter."

This sounds sensible enough but the fact remains that Britain has been getting a dollar's worth of film for less than a dollar for a long time.

Who has been the fall guy? Why, the American taxpayer. As long as the bill is shoved off on the taxpayer, nobody squawks. It is only when the exporter is asked to pick up the check that you hear loud noises.

Everybody "benefitting" by subsidized exports today—including our wheat and tobacco farmers—is in the same boat. But if it is unsound business for our movie industry to give a dollar's worth for a quarter, then it must be equally unsound for all of us together to do so. How long can we finance our present boom by trading "dollars for quarters?" Won't it all "kick us in the teeth" sometime as the post-war loans did in the 1920's?

Taxpayers Subsidized Experts

Four per cent of the $3,750,000,000 we loaned Britain has been used by Britain to buy American films. That has amounted to about $100,000,000. To that extent, American taxpayers have subsidized the export business and profits of our motion picture industry.

Foreign loans by our government have been defended on two grounds. One is the long-term good we are supposed to get by putting Europe on its feet again. As Europe is worse off today than when the war ended, despite our billions of aid, the benefit to us has low visibility. The other reason given is that our excess of exports over imports provides jobs here at home. But does it? When all industry is taxed to pay the losses on the export business of one industry, the tax keeps all who pay it from adding men to their payrolls or reducing their prices. It removes purchasing power that might have been used in the American market. Pharoah provided jobs for his serfs by building pyramids. But the taxes and toil that went into the pyramids were frozen and lost to his people. They could not eat the pyramids!

Britain has been spending less on necessities, and more on luxuries. For example, in 1946 Britain spent 59 per cent more on entertainment (movies, etc.) than in 1938, but has spent 26 per cent less on clothing.

You wonder whether one reason for this is the belief that a "cradle to the grave" government will always provide the necessities! Anyway, a loan that was to have lasted until 1950 is almost exhausted in a little over one year. In short, did the loan encourage waste in personal consumption?

Charity Defended Within Limits

International charity can be defended within limits, but the idea that we get rich by making goods to give away is nonsense. If it were true, we wouldn't have to give them to foreigners. We could give them to our own poor, as Attlee is giving "free" false teeth, spectacles, drugs, medicine, and doctor's services to his poor. That hasn't made England rich! Or free!

What we should ask Attlee to do is to provide incentives to Englishmen to work rather than bamboozle them with "free" false teeth, charged to us!

In the old days, foreign trade was built up by private enterprise. If it paid, it grew; if it lost money, it died out. Those in other businesses were not forced to make up the losses. Now government loans replace private funds, and the losses fall on all of us. The company with the biggest pull in Washington—and the most glamorous girls—gets the priority. And government grows costly and corrupt.

I have just talked with a British Member of Parliament. He was one of the 40 M.P.'s who voted against accepting the American loan! He had the quaint notion that the longer Americans subsidize Attlee's socialism, the longer it will be before England buckles down to work. Witness England's coal strike today.

Melancholia and other forms of insanity, headache and hysteria are given relief by massage, in a large measure by suggestion, states the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Public Will Put Its Faith In Party That Sponsors Frankness

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Just because a Republican has won a congressional election in a strongly Republican district is no reason to announce a trend in politics. If, of course, there had been an upset and the Democrat had won it would have been more than significant—it would have been a sensation.

The truth is that the significance of special elections has been very much overplayed for a long time. These elections are usually held at odd times when the interest in politics is not as high as when there is a general election and other candidates are voted on. Usually the contest turns on the personalities involved. The more capable of the contestants—and often the better known man—has a better chance over newcomers. Traditionally the party loyalty of the voters is the deciding factor unless the apathy is so great that a minority of the voters actually goes to the polls and, as sometimes happens, causes an upset by defeating the favorite.

This particular election in Pennsylvania attracted attention because the labor-union leaders set out to make it a test of the Taft-Hartley law. Undoubtedly the unions did everything they could to mobilize the vote against the Republican nominee and it would have been quite a triumph if they had defeated Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, who has been speaker of the Pennsylvania Legislature and unquistionably is qualified to go to Congress.

But in special elections there isn't time enough to overturn tradition and there isn't time enough to center attention on any issue, especially an absract one. It does not detract one iota from the credit which the Republican Party will get from the outcome of this election to say that the Taft-Hartley law wasn't a basic issue or that, if it was, it mostly aroused some of the labor-union votes to the need for going to the polls.

Workers Secretly Pleased

The fact that a heavy vote was cast and a higher percentage voted Republican than in previous elections is a sign that even the special elections can occasionally be publicized to the point of getting out voters. The Democrats may, over the next few months, dramatize the Taft-Hartley law as a "slave labor" act but most of the voters will want to know where the slaves are. Certainly no labor unions have gone out of business since the law was passed and it is quite possible that many workers are secretly pleased that they have a weapon now with which to obtain respectful treatment from arrogant labor bosses.

The Republican Party will derive much comfort from the election and the Democrats may be considerably surprised at their failure to get much out of the labor issue—for obviously the labor vote split and didn't all go into one party. But, in a broad sense, the congressional election in Pennsylvania settles nothing in the way of national issues because the subjects that will influence votes a year hence are not likely to be the same ones as are under discussion at the moment.

Prices Might Be Major Issue

Instead of the Taft-Hartley law, there may be substantial interest in the high cost of butter and eggs and the shortage of meat. The electorate will want to know where the responsibility lies for the high cost of living. It will not be easy for the Democrats to blame the repeal of the OPA because President Truman has never recommended revival of that form of regulation though he has been in office right along. Nor have the Democrats in Congress proposed a restoration of price controls.

The answer to today's high food prices lies in the extraordinary foreign demand and in the short supplies due to inadequate crops. Price controls merely help the black-market operators and tend to discourage the legitimate producers through whom alone can come the necessary production to break down black markets and bring a reduction in prices.

The first political party that tells the voters the facts of our economic life and ceases to blame the other party for all the economic ills of the moment will gain a long start on its opponents. The public will accept candor and puts its faith in the party that sponsors frankness.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

Dirt Roads

TO THE lover of nature, a dirt road is superior to black tar or concrete. There is something of Mother Earth in plain dirt that all the arts of civilization cannot replace. Women on high heels, particularly the kind that resemble miniature stilts, are not partial to dirt roads, but the fault is not with the highway.

The dirt road that runs by my home in Sandisfield possesses the virtue of primitive grandeur. Civilization has not touched its surface except as automobiles go over it at the risk of breaking an axle. Each year, in the Spring, after mud week, it is diligently scraped, with the object, apparently, of uncovering sharper rocks to cut tires. The road resists the forces of progress with the tenacity of a Massachusetts Selectman whose philosophy is based upon the doctrine that what was good enough for the French and Indians and Lord Jeffrey Amherst is good enough for him. The assumption up here is that if you avoid action, you live long without unusual troubles.

When Mr. Roosevelt was doling out the taxpayers' money to various and sundry, he set up some CCC camps in the woods hereabouts and the youth engaged themselves fighting gooseberries, making lakes out of swamps and building nice roads from nowhere to nowhere. It was regarded as corrupt to use these boys to improve existing roads, they being designed only to create novelties. Recently I have been visiting their works and while I must admit that some of it still stands, the approaches have suffered from wind and weather and the neglect which is characteristic of Massachusetts officialdom. I suppose the government of Massachusetts feels that God having given its western counties some of His most magnificent scenery, why improve upon His handiwork by caring for it?

The other day, out of a clear blue sky, my wife suggested that we climb Mount Greylock in the northern Berkshires, a range as glorious as any to be found east of the Rockies. Were we city slickers, we should undoubtedly have donned the proper hiking outfit, carried the proper implements, and walked to the top on our own feet. But having been in the country some years, we traveled in automobiles.

There are two ways to reach the summit of Mount Greylock. We followed instructions and took the worse one, entering by North Adams. It is supposed to be particularly scenic. It turned out to be more maddening and dangerous than the Rocky Road to Dublin which they used to have at Coney Island for ten cents a ride. The only difference is that the Rocky Road to Dublin was fraudulently dangerous; the North Adams Road to Greylock is especially prepared for accidents and I suppose that the reason nobody gets killed is that they stay off it.

There is one place where the road has washed away and the protective wall is gone and you look down what seems to be to eternity. Maybe it was built that way to give the visitor a glimpse of Kingdom Come. Somehow we got to the top and there a monument erected to our heroes, whose head should be in the clouds, is breaking up and is as shamefully neglected as are so many beautiful and historic places in western Massachusetts. So we came off the mountain by the less favored but safer route and thanked the Lord that we were alive yet another day.

One of the fallacies of such a reform as the CCC is that no account is taken of time and erosion. No provision was made for the upkeep of the trails they cut and the lakes they dug and the roads they garnished with pretty signboards. In time, brush and weeds and overhanging boughs of trees, and rain, snow and ice, to say nothing of the sun, do their darndest and unless someone undertakes to maintain improvements, to keep them improved, they will go back to the wilderness that Nature seems to prefer.

In Massachusetts, at any rate, there is no anti-wilderness authority. The state administration does not care at all what time and erosion do. Their slogan is: "Let Maine be vacationland; Massachusetts has Plymouth Rock."

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Shadows Of Good Talk

What an art is this shifting, selecting, and arranging of words! Where would we be without language or words to make our thoughts and feelings manifest and vital?

Poems, books, plays are but the shadows of good talk. Even at that, expressed language is but a feeble representation of what is felt in the heart and stimulated by the mind. Said Stevenson: "There are not words enough in all Shakespeare to express the merest fraction of a man's experience in an hour."

But we have such books as Montaigne and Boswell's Johnson to show how words can reveal the working of an unusual mind. Yet even such books are but fragments—shadows of good talk. We welcome them, though—and any number of others, which bring to us all the experiences of the world's people, and the story of all happenings, including the very formation of the earth itself. And feeble and inaccurate as history itself is, it is an absorbing story. Words make it so.

So vital are words that they actually do leave behind—shadows! I was always fascinated by the wonderful, picturesque talk of the late Bob Davis. So much so that now when I pass certain places where I so often listened to him, the very shadows of that talk seem to still linger, strange as it may seem. I recall the whimsical smile and the gush and swirl of words that dropped almost silently, then with a sudden fall that gave to them the bounce that made them remembered.

Shadows bury the light. In like manner words bury great thoughts between the covers of living books, and hide them in minds and hearts, where they are safe, secure, and remain ready to cheer and inspire. Memory guards the very shadow of these thoughts.

Even though noble words do not quite penetrate at once into one's inner consciousness, still do they shed an aroma, a spiritual fragrance, and a magnetic odor that immediately stir the soul, so that you feel that you have been in the society of greatness. Thus does good talk leave its shadow behind, a living blessing.

Baering Down On The News

The nimble Turk may wear a flowerpot on his head, but there is no grass growing under his curly toes. Once again he has landed buttered side north.

Not many people remember that Shickelgruber's Drang Nach Osten was a repaint job on Kaiser Billiam's Berlin-to-Bagdad Railroad.

It started the first war as sure as you are a yard wide. It also started the second. And in both conflicts the Turk was as prominent as thumbs on a hitch-hiker.

More Nearby Communities In Pennsylvania Vote Dry

A short time ago, Senator Capper of Kansas, a standpat dry, expressed the belief that sentiment for another try at prohibition is growing about as fast as it did some 40 years ago when the country was being whipped toward passage of the dry amendment and the Volstead Act.

There might be some basis for his thinking if we take the vote in nearby Pennsylvania townships Tuesday as an example. In that election Saxton, which was wet, voted dry and Londonderry, which had beer, voted dry, while Hyndman and Liberty remained dry in an election which afforded the opportunity to go wet. A fairly substantial vote was cast to make the result more or less decisive.

An article in a recent issue of American Magazine said one-third of the nation already is dry—legally. In 20,000 local option elections since repeal, according to the magazine, the drys have won 12,000. Deets Pickett, of the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church, says national prohibition will be back in five years "if the wets don't get smart and correct current abuses."

In practically every case where a community has voted dry after having been wet, the result can be blamed on abuses. If the liquor interests want to stay in legitimate business, they'll have to clean up. Retail liquor dealers' organizations generally, we feel certain, are endeavoring to keep the traffic honest, clean and strictly within the law. But the retail liquor dealers can't do it alone. They need the help of the Liquor Control Board and the local police, plus the courts.

We don't think a majority of Americans want to go back to the old hypocrisy of voting dry and drinking wet. We don't think they want to go back to the evils of a wet prohibition. Even now, in the so-called "dry" states of the nation, liquor flows freely, although perhaps slightly more covertly than in the "wet" states.

Prohibition won't stamp out drinking. It won't end abuses. In the nearby communities in Pennsylvania which have exercised their right of local option, and outlaw liquor and/or beer sales over the bar, there has been no evidence that such action curtailed drinking. The sole purpose, in most cases, was to drive out of business one or more obnoxious saloons.

That's a job the local police and the Liquor Control Board can clean up before the issue gets to the point of a public referendum. Local option on liquor licenses is a democratic way of doing business. It is a good system. Any community should have the privilege of outlawing liquor sales if that's what a majority of the voters want.

But the need for it, and the increasing use of this weapon, would be largely dissipated if the liquor business, the local police, the county authorities, the courts and the Liquor Board do a thorough job in assisting retail liquor dealers' organizations to keep the business on a high plane.

It is now predicted highway traffic will have increased 60 per cent by 1970, which provides a clue as to when new cars will be available.

Peek Into Xmas

This may not be the time to mention it, but department store buyers have been taking the annual advance peek into the merchandise they will put into the toy departments for the Christmas trade.

Jubilantly, they report that it is going to be a great holiday season for the kids, the best since 1941. There will be greater variety of toys, and most of higher quality. Tricycles and pedal-operated automobiles will be back numbers. Metal playground equipment, long absent, will be back.

There will be many more electric trains than was the case last year, but the stores will be on allotment as far as this item is concerned. New games and adaptations of old ones will make appearance. The rubber doll that sips water will have returned.

Something new is the magnetic village. A youngster, using in hand one pole of a magnet is enabled to guide toy automobiles into filling stations, or miniature planes along airport runways.

There will be little in the toy line to remind parents and kids of the late war. Included in the array will be numbers of mechanical items from England. The Germans in the American zone of occupation again are busy at toy-making, and catalogs of their products are beginning to appear in the United States.

Christmas tree ornaments made in Czechoslovakia, hand-painted and equipped with reflectors, will be available. But they will be expensive.

And here is some sad news—tree lights again will be far short of demand. Although production of the colored light globes and their sockets is running heavy, the industry is "millions and millions of bulbs behind," one store buyer relates.

One suggested cure for present troubles is to re-educate adults. However successful, it will be impossible to make them as smart as the average 18-year-old.

Out Went Mancheno

It wouldn't do to be too positive about this, considering how things often go in Latin America, but it looks as though Ecuador has lost its appetite for revolutions. At any rate, the most recent one displayed a noteworthy lack of staying power.

On August 23 the government of President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra fell as the result of a one-shot coup d'etat engineered by Col. Carlos Mancheno. Exactly ten days later Colonel Mancheno decided that the counter-revolutionary forces advancing on Quito could not be stopped. Thereupon he announced his resignation and took himself elsewhere.

Things usually happen rapidly in Ecuador. During the 14 years before the establishment of the Ibarra government in 1944 the country had 13 presidents. But 10 days is a short life for a regime even in Ecuador. Colonel Mancheno's brief tenure seems to indicate that the country was reasonably well satisfied with what it had before he assumed power and wants more of the same kind.

The Mancheno revolution, which now appears to have been anything but a popular uprising, may prove to have been only an interlude in a comparatively lengthy period of stability.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

THE FIRST YEAR

THE activities of the Rochester [Minn.] child health project are being followed with interest by medical men thruout the country. Aldrich and his associates started this preventive health program to foster the welfare of the youngsters of the community. Their physical needs are being studied, and, thru suggestions on diet and methods of preventing infectious diseases, these workers hope to promote the maximum health of the children. In addition to facilities for fresh air, rest, sunshine, recreation and medical consultations, the expectant mother also receives her share of attention.

The emotional and mental aspects of rearing children are stressed because these factors are so closely associated with physical well being. A specific plan is presented to all mothers and their reactions are recorded, together with the effect on the progeny in order to determine the efficacy of the campaign.

Statistics were compiled on youngsters who completed a full year's attendance at the clinic. It was found that 98 per cent of the mothers made a conscientious effort to nurse but only 62.8 per cent were able to continue longer than one month. Many ran out of milk; others developed breast infections. This demonstrates that some women are unable to breastfeed their off spring and the number who cannot is large enough to warrant research in an attempt to remove obstacles.

The "self-demand schedule" is used. When the infant shows evidence of hunger, he is given enough food to satisfy appetite. Soft edibles are offered when the mouth and tongue develop sufficiently to transport the nourishment back into the throat. As soon as the tike can chew, more solid articles are served and when the hands acquire dexterity, drinking from a cup is encouraged. In this way, it is hoped that the emotional resistance to eating, which is so common during the first year of life, will be eliminated. Frank appetite problems were rare and approximately 90 per cent had normal or voracious appetites. Such results are not unique because eating disturbances are more likely to appear during the pre-school years.

In most instances the babies did an unusual amount of crying during the first three months and in 22 per cent, a reasonable explanation could be found. Recommendations for bowel training were made and 80 per cent of the mothers were able to report success along this line by the end of the first 12 months. Good sleeping habits were present in 81 per cent even tho many of the families are living in one or two rooms. One child in the series refused to go to bed and 17 were restless during the night. One-third of the tots had unapproved habits of which thumbsucking was the most prevalent followed by tantrums, screaming, biting, and awakening in the night. Only two liked to bump their heads and an equal number rocked on their legs or bounced on their hands and knees while in the crib.

Under this program the little ones seemed to thrive. The average weight at the end of the year was 22 pounds and the height, 29½ inches which means that they were approximately a pound heavier and an inch taller than the accepted standards. This speaks well for the plan of permitting babies to fix their own feeding schedules and control the amount of food consumed.

If the condition is not due to a cold, allergic rhinitis is a good possibility. A clew is obtained by studying the secretions from the nose. If these investigations are positive, skin tests may be necessary to track down the offender.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

California lifeguards are twiddling their thumbs these days. The city has just condemned 12 miles of beach as being unfit for swimming. They say the water is so bad that even the tide refuses to come in.

Just to give an idea of how bad the water is, the city inspectors took some of it down to the laboratory to test it and when they weren't looking, it escaped.

The local citizens have sent a committee down to the city hall to fight this ban, but I really don't see what all the arguing is about. Who would want to go in the water with girls bathing suits what they are? You should see them - No one else can.

The water may be off bounds, but the lifeguards are still busy. They are giving artificial respiration to the poor souls who have just eaten those beach hot dogs.

The folks are getting desperate. Just yesterday they dived off the pier into paper cups filled with soda pop. I knew there was something wrong with the water when I saw a lobster clinging to the back of a sea gull and holding its nose.

But the folks of California aren't worried. There is always the Hollywood Bowl and the rainy season.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Truman Will Get Sour Economic Report; One Senatorial Junket Will Seriously Study Europe; How U. S. Christmas Mail May Have Located U. S. Troops

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 — When President Truman walks down the gangplank from the USS Missouri next week, there will be dumped in his lap a none-too-happy economic report from his Council of Economic Advisers.

The Council, set up by Congress to take the nation's business pulse and report on how to head off depressions, is more alarmed than ever over high prices and the inflation spiral. In fact, they are so worried that they have been considering the drastic step of recommending reinstatement of price controls.

This step has also been considered by members of the Truman Cabinet during his absence, and they are not at all happy about it. They feel that new price controls never would get by Congress, would only result in more black-marketeering—unless accompanied by rationing. And nobody wants to have rationing come back.

However, the Council of Economic Advisers, a group of experts picked from neither political party, is concerned not with what Congress may or may not think, but solely with heading off depression. And they will inform the President:

1. That the present runaway prices coupled with inflation will continue for some time.

2. That continuation will lead to a real depression, rather than a recession.

They will also caution that the low-income public—which makes up the vast majority of the nation's consumers—has been using up its savings, because prices are so high that they can't pay their bills out of present income.

New Type Of Junket

With Congress busting all records this year for pleasure-junketing at the taxpayers' expense, it is heartening to report that one committee is planning a genuine business trip. GOP Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire has made certain that members of his Appropriations Committee toe the line on their forthcoming trip to probe U.S. relief-spending in Europe.

"This will be neither a Cook's Tour, nor a junket," Bridges has forewarned his Committee. "It's strictly a business trip to get information on which we can base future relief appropriations. We have to hit a lot o' places in a relatively short time, which means there won't be time for entertainment and socializing."

The New Hampshire Senator did not bar Senatorial wives, providing they pay all their own expenses. Also wives must travel around by themselves while their husbands are busy on inspection tours.

Note—Among other things, the Senators will probe the activities of Gen. John "Court House" Lee, and Soviet use of American currency plates to print paper money in Germany.

German Espionage ? ?

Last month Bob Allen threw penetrating light on the bra -hatting of Gen. John "Court House" Lee, U.S. Commander in Italy. Among other things, Colone. Allen told how General Lee, in charge of supplies in 1944, had delayed delivery of Christmas mail to men in the front lines.

Since then, a GI who helped handle this mail has sent amazing details as to how that 1944 Christmas mail was handled. Here is the story:

"The 17th Base Post Office with more than 1,000 men," he says, "moved out of Cherbourg to better quarters in Paris, leaving the Xmas mail to be handled by the 15th Postal Regulating Section—an outfit with only about 15 men. To help them the 17th Base Post Office left behind about 20 privates, making a total of 35 men to handle what 1,000 men had handled before.

"Naturally it was impossible for this small outfit to handle the deluge of mail, so the higher command detailed several hundred German prisoners to help.

"Each sack of mail had a label with the name of the outfit to which it was to be sent. The German prisoners would pull the sacks over to an American soldier, who would call out the name of the outfit. Another American soldier held a list marked 'SECRET', containing the exact whereabouts of each regiment or battalion at the front. And he would call out the routing of the sack to the other soldier who would mark this destination on the label.

"All this was done with German prisoners watching and listening. Many of them could speak English, and frequently it seemed to me they were over-curious about their work. Their task was to pile up the sacks of mail, all the sacks in one pile going to one place. Thus it was easy to see merely from the size of a pile of mail sacks where the preponderance of U.S. troops were. And if a large infantry unit's mail suddenly appeared on a pile, it was quite clear that new troops were being moved up to the front.

"It will always be my opinion that the storing up of this 1944 Xmas mail into these piles offered the enemy a topographical map showing the strength and weakness of our troops in the Battle of the Bulge."

"Dollars For Quarters" Trading Seen As Unsound

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The Socialist Prime Minister of Britain has slapped a huge new tax on American motion picture films. He did it to keep from completely exhausting the American loan on non-essentials. In reply, our producers say they will ship no more films. Mr. Eric Johnston, spokesman for the industry, says that England "cannot expect a dollar's worth of film for a quarter."

This sounds sensible enough but the fact remains that Britain has been getting a dollar's worth of film for less than a dollar for a long time.

Who has been the fall guy? Why, the American taxpayer. As long as the bill is shoved off on the taxpayer, nobody squawks. It is only when the exporter is asked to pick up the check that you hear loud noises.

Everybody "benefitting" by subsidized exports today—including our wheat and tobacco farmers—is in the same boat. But if it is unsound business for our movie industry to give a dollar's worth for a quarter, then it must be equally unsound for all of us together to do so. How long can we finance our present boom by trading "dollars for quarters?" Won't it all "kick us in the teeth" sometime as the post-war loans did in the 1920's?

Taxpayers Subsidized Experts

Four per cent of the $3,750,000,000 we loaned Britain has been used by Britain to buy American films. That has amounted to about $100,000,000. To that extent, American taxpayers have subsidized the export business and profits of our motion picture industry.

Foreign loans by our government have been defended on two grounds. One is the long-term good we are supposed to get by putting Europe on its feet again. As Europe is worse off today than when the war ended, despite our billions of aid, the benefit to us has low visibility. The other reason given is that our excess of exports over imports provides jobs here at home. But does it? When all industry is taxed to pay the losses on the export business of one industry, the tax keeps all who pay it from adding men to their payrolls or reducing their prices. It removes purchasing power that might have been used in the American market. Pharoah provided jobs for his serfs by building pyramids. But the taxes and toil that went into the pyramids were frozen and lost to his people. They could not eat the pyramids!

Britain has been spending less on necessities, and more on luxuries. For example, in 1946 Britain spent 59 per cent more on entertainment (movies, etc.) than in 1938, but has spent 26 per cent less on clothing.

You wonder whether one reason for this is the belief that a "cradle to the grave" government will always provide the necessities! Anyway, a loan that was to have lasted until 1950 is almost exhausted in a little over one year. In short, did the loan encourage waste in personal consumption?

Charity Defended Within Limits

International charity can be defended within limits, but the idea that we get rich by making goods to give away is nonsense. If it were true, we wouldn't have to give them to foreigners. We could give them to our own poor, as Attlee is giving "free" false teeth, spectacles, drugs, medicine, and doctor's services to his poor. That hasn't made England rich! Or free!

What we should ask Attlee to do is to provide incentives to Englishmen to work rather than bamboozle them with "free" false teeth, charged to us!

In the old days, foreign trade was built up by private enterprise. If it paid, it grew; if it lost money, it died out. Those in other businesses were not forced to make up the losses. Now government loans replace private funds, and the losses fall on all of us. The company with the biggest pull in Washington—and the most glamorous girls—gets the priority. And government grows costly and corrupt.

I have just talked with a British Member of Parliament. He was one of the 40 M.P.'s who voted against accepting the American loan! He had the quaint notion that the longer Americans subsidize Attlee's socialism, the longer it will be before England buckles down to work. Witness England's coal strike today.

Melancholia and other forms of insanity, headache and hysteria are given relief by massage, in a large measure by suggestion, states the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Public Will Put Its Faith In Party That Sponsors Frankness

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Just because a Republican has won a congressional election in a strongly Republican district is no reason to announce a trend in politics. If, of course, there had been an upset and the Democrat had won it would have been more than significant—it would have been a sensation.

The truth is that the significance of special elections has been very much overplayed for a long time. These elections are usually held at odd times when the interest in politics is not as high as when there is a general election and other candidates are voted on. Usually the contest turns on the personalities involved. The more capable of the contestants—and often the better known man—has a better chance over newcomers. Traditionally the party loyalty of the voters is the deciding factor unless the apathy is so great that a minority of the voters actually goes to the polls and, as sometimes happens, causes an upset by defeating the favorite.

This particular election in Pennsylvania attracted attention because the labor-union leaders set out to make it a test of the Taft-Hartley law. Undoubtedly the unions did everything they could to mobilize the vote against the Republican nominee and it would have been quite a triumph if they had defeated Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, who has been speaker of the Pennsylvania Legislature and unquistionably is qualified to go to Congress.

But in special elections there isn't time enough to overturn tradition and there isn't time enough to center attention on any issue, especially an absract one. It does not detract one iota from the credit which the Republican Party will get from the outcome of this election to say that the Taft-Hartley law wasn't a basic issue or that, if it was, it mostly aroused some of the labor-union votes to the need for going to the polls.

Workers Secretly Pleased

The fact that a heavy vote was cast and a higher percentage voted Republican than in previous elections is a sign that even the special elections can occasionally be publicized to the point of getting out voters. The Democrats may, over the next few months, dramatize the Taft-Hartley law as a "slave labor" act but most of the voters will want to know where the slaves are. Certainly no labor unions have gone out of business since the law was passed and it is quite possible that many workers are secretly pleased that they have a weapon now with which to obtain respectful treatment from arrogant labor bosses.

The Republican Party will derive much comfort from the election and the Democrats may be considerably surprised at their failure to get much out of the labor issue—for obviously the labor vote split and didn't all go into one party. But, in a broad sense, the congressional election in Pennsylvania settles nothing in the way of national issues because the subjects that will influence votes a year hence are not likely to be the same ones as are under discussion at the moment.

Prices Might Be Major Issue

Instead of the Taft-Hartley law, there may be substantial interest in the high cost of butter and eggs and the shortage of meat. The electorate will want to know where the responsibility lies for the high cost of living. It will not be easy for the Democrats to blame the repeal of the OPA because President Truman has never recommended revival of that form of regulation though he has been in office right along. Nor have the Democrats in Congress proposed a restoration of price controls.

The answer to today's high food prices lies in the extraordinary foreign demand and in the short supplies due to inadequate crops. Price controls merely help the black-market operators and tend to discourage the legitimate producers through whom alone can come the necessary production to break down black markets and bring a reduction in prices.

The first political party that tells the voters the facts of our economic life and ceases to blame the other party for all the economic ills of the moment will gain a long start on its opponents. The public will accept candor and puts its faith in the party that sponsors frankness.

THESE DAYS

By George E. Sokolsky

Dirt Roads

TO THE lover of nature, a dirt road is superior to black tar or concrete. There is something of Mother Earth in plain dirt that all the arts of civilization cannot replace. Women on high heels, particularly the kind that resemble miniature stilts, are not partial to dirt roads, but the fault is not with the highway.

The dirt road that runs by my home in Sandisfield possesses the virtue of primitive grandeur. Civilization has not touched its surface except as automobiles go over it at the risk of breaking an axle. Each year, in the Spring, after mud week, it is diligently scraped, with the object, apparently, of uncovering sharper rocks to cut tires. The road resists the forces of progress with the tenacity of a Massachusetts Selectman whose philosophy is based upon the doctrine that what was good enough for the French and Indians and Lord Jeffrey Amherst is good enough for him. The assumption up here is that if you avoid action, you live long without unusual troubles.

When Mr. Roosevelt was doling out the taxpayers' money to various and sundry, he set up some CCC camps in the woods hereabouts and the youth engaged themselves fighting gooseberries, making lakes out of swamps and building nice roads from nowhere to nowhere. It was regarded as corrupt to use these boys to improve existing roads, they being designed only to create novelties. Recently I have been visiting their works and while I must admit that some of it still stands, the approaches have suffered from wind and weather and the neglect which is characteristic of Massachusetts officialdom. I suppose the government of Massachusetts feels that God having given it western counties some of His most magnificent scenery, why improve upon His handiwork by caring for it?

The other day, out of a clear blue sky, my wife suggested that we climb Mount Greylock in the northern Berkshires, a range as glorious as any to be found east of the Rockies. Were we city slickers, we should undoubtedly have donned the proper hiking outfit, carried the proper implements, and walked to the top on our own feet. But having been in the country some years, we traveled in automobiles.

There are two ways to reach the summit of Mount Greylock. We followed instructions and took the worse one, entering by North Adams. It is supposed to be particularly scenic. It turned out to be more maddening and dangerous than the Rocky Road to Dublin which they used to have at Coney Island for ten cents a ride. The only difference is that the Rocky Road to Dublin was fraudulently dangerous; the North Adams Road to Greylock is especially prepared for accidents and I suppose that the reason nobody gets killed is that they stay off it.

There is one place where the road has washed away and the protective wall is gone and you look down what seems to be to eternity. Maybe it was built that way to give the visitor a glimpse of Kingdom Come. Somehow we got to the top and there a monument erected to our heroes, whose head should be in the clouds, is breaking up and is as shamefully neglected as are so many beautiful and historic places in western Massachusetts. So we came off the mountain by the less favored but safer route and thanked the Lord that we were alive yet another day.

One of the fallacies of such a reform as the CCC is that no account is taken of tim and erosion. No provision was made for the upkeep of the trails they cut and the lakes they dug and the roads they garnished with pretty signboards. In time, brush and weeds and overhanging boughs of trees, and rain, snow and ice, to say nothing of the sun, do their darndest and unless someone undertakes to maintain improvements, to keep them improved, they will go back to the wilderness that Nature seems to prefer.

In Massachusetts, at any rate, there is no anti-wilderness authority. The state administration does not care at all what time and erosion do. Their slogan is: "Let Maine be vacationland; Massachusetts has Plymouth Rock."

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Shadows Of Good Talk

What an art is this shifting, selecting, and arranging of words! Where would we be without language or words to make our thoughts and feelings manifest and vital?

Poems, books, plays are but the shadows of good talk. Even at that, expressed language is but a feeble representation of what is felt in the heart and stimulated by the mind. Said Stevenson: "There are not words enough in all Shakespeare to express the merest fraction of a man's experience in an hour."

But we have such books as Montaigne and Boswell's Johnson to show how words can reveal the working of an unusual mind. Yet even such books are but fragments—shadows of good talk. We welcome them, though—and any number of others, which bring to us all the experiences of the world's people, and the story of all happenings, including the very formation of the earth itself. And feeble and inaccurate as history itself is, it is an absorbing story. Words make it so.

So vital are words that they actually do leave behind—shadows! I was always fascinated by the wonderful, picturesque talk of the late Bob Davis. So much so that now when I pass certain places where I so often listened to him, the very shadows of that talk seem to still linger, strange as it may seem. I recall the whimsical smile and the gush and swirl of words that dropped almost silently, then with a sudden fall that gave to them the bounce that made them remembered.

Shadows bury the light. In like manner words bury great thoughts between the covers of living books, and hide them in minds and hearts, where they are safe, secure, and remain ready to cheer and inspire. Memory guards the very shadow of these thoughts.

Even though noble words do not quite penetrate at once into one's inner consciousness, still do they shed an aroma, a spiritual fragrance, and a magnetic odor that immediately stir the soul, so that you feel that you have been in the society of greatness. Thus does good talk leave its shadow behind, a living blessing.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

The nimble Turk may wear a flowerpot on his head, but there is no grass growing under his curly toes. Once again he has landed buttered side north.

Not many people remember that Shickelgruber's Drang Nach Osten was a repaint job on Kaiser Billiam's Berlin-to-Bagdad Railroad.

It started the first war as sure as you are a yard wide. It also started the second. And in both conflicts the Turk was as prominent as thumbs on a hitch-hiker.

Dr. H. Thomas Robinson, Jr., Weds Miss June C. McNutt

Ceremony Performed In Ann Arbor

Miss June Christine McNutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Franklin McNutt, Ann Arbor, Mich., became the bride of Dr. Howard Thomas Robinson, Jr., son of Mrs. Howard T. Robinson, formerly of this city, Baltimore, and the late Dr. Robinson, September 6.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 3 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church, Ann Arbor, with Rev. James Van Pernis officiating.

Miss Mary Katheryn Slack, St. Louis, Mo., was the bride's maid of honor and her bridesmaids included Miss Edith Jensen, Betty Jane Swift, Ann Arbor; Miss Dorothy Bailey, Romeo, Mich., and Miss Phyllis Brothers, Colorado Springs, Colo. Capt. William H. Robinson, Washington, D. C., served as his brother's best man and Robert J. McNutt, Dr. Andrew Butler, Dr. Thomas T. Glynn, Ann Arbor, and Robert J. Doeppers, Indianapolis, Ind., were the ushers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white satin gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, square neckline of Alencon lace, and full skirt with sweeping train. A matching bonnet halo of lace held her veil of illusion and a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses, centered with a white orchid, completed her costume.

Her attendants wore similar frocks of taffeta faille. Bands of yellow rosebuds and blue delphinium worn in their hair matched the flowers of their bouquets. The maid of honor's gown was of white, and blue frocks were worn by the bridesmaids.

The bride is a graduate of Ann Arbor High School and of Michigan State College, East Lansing, where she was affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Dr. Robinson was graduated from Allegany High School in 1936 after which he spent a year at Mercersburg Academy, Mercersburg, Pa. He graduated from Johns Hopkins University in 1941 and from Johns Hopkins Medical School in August, 1944. He interned at Cleveland Clinic and served assistant residency and residency at University Hospital, Ann Arbor. He was at Sydenham, Baltimore, and since the first of July has been at Harriet Lane Home of Johns Hopkins Hospital. Interested in sports, he was an outstanding player on the basketball teams at Allegany and Johns Hopkins University.

Union Grove Club Approves Adopting Polish Children

The Union Grove Homemakers Club gave approval to the County Council's project of adopting two Polish children and signified its willingness to assist at the meeting Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Edward Lundien, Union Grove Road, with Mrs. C. N. Wilkinson as co-hostess

Mrs. Edgar Vandegrift presided and received various reports. Mrs. Ruthella Fey reported on the Sunshine committee, and Mrs. J. J. Lydinger and Mrs. Holmes Cessna on the fair. They announced that Mrs. Harry Zembower received $23.50 in prizes and others received $4, $8.50 and $2.25. Mrs. Zembower told of her exhibits, which included a complete meal canned, consisting of a meat, three vegetables and a dessert.

Reporting on the County Council meeting at the home of Mrs. B. C. Robinette's in Flintstone, Mrs. Albert Smouse announced that she is serving on the Nominating committee, to nominate a president and treasurer, and that suggestions from the Union Grove club should be presented to her. She is also compiling the history of the county organization for the silver anniversary celebration to be held October 21, probably at Centre Street Methodist Church social hall. Mrs. Smouse is county historian.

A new member, Mrs. Fred Purnell, was admitted into the club. The group sang "Alloetta," the French song given at the Homemakers Pageant, and Miss Maude A. Bean gave hints on canning and baking and suggested members procure recipe books from extension service which are available at her office. She asked that they bring to the next meeting samples made with recipes she distributed. They were asked also to note on paper some food problems for the next meeting.

Concluding the meeting a "Swap Shop" was held and another planned for the next meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. William Welsh, with Mrs. Lydinger and Mrs. John Wentling, co-hostesses.

Others attending were Mrs. Rose Yergan, Mrs. William Rilling, Mrs. Alberta White, Mrs. Steve Bolling, Miss Nyna Fey, Mrs. George Windish, Mrs. Charles Gillum, Mrs. Wentling, Mrs. Richard Bready, Mrs. Welsh, Mrs. John McMackin, Miss Eula McMackin, Mrs. L. L. Sweitzer, Miss Caroline Wagner, Mrs. Albert Windish and Mrs. Addison Eyler, a visitor.

WIFE PRESERVERS

A high flame, rising on the sides of a cooking utensil not only wastes gas, but discolors the metal. To remove such a smudge, use a solution of one part of vinegar to three parts of water, or a few drops of lemon juice may be used. Fine steel wool impregnated with soap will remove it from aluminum.

Allegany High Reunion To Honor Glen Brant

Memorable Incidents Depicted In Cartoons

When the 200 or more couples assemble for the first Allegany High reunion dance at Clary Club tonight they will be honoring Glen Brant, three-letter man from the Campobello School recently stricken with infantile paralysis.

Latest word from Sydenham Hospital where Brant is a patient reveals that the former Alco sports star will in all probability never participate in sports again His left leg is paralyzed from the hip to the knee and only time will tell whether it will respond to treatment.

The reunion to honor Brant was proposed by his friends to serve a double purpose. Not only will all proceeds be used to help him in his recovery but the dance will be first of an annual Allegany reunion series. It is hoped that a strong alumni body will eventually develop from this series of dances.

Decorations for the dance will be in blue and white, the Allegany High colors. Cartoons depicting some incidents of memorable occurrence in the year of the various classes will line the walls. Tables are to be decorated with the graduating year numbers of each class.

Entertainment planned for intermission includes sketches by talented Alco grads.

Over 200 tickets have already been sold and an overflow crowd is expected. Tickets may be purchased at Allegany High School, Ford's Drug Store or members of the committee; they will also be available tonight at Clary Club.

Dr. H. Thomas Robinson, Jr., Weds Miss June C. McNutt

Ceremony Performed In Ann Arbor

Miss June Christine McNutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Franklin McNutt, Ann Arbor, Mich., became the bride of Dr. Howard Thomas Robinson, Jr., son of Mrs. Howard T. Robinson, formerly of this city, Baltimore, and the late Dr. Robinson, September 6.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 3 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church, Ann Arbor, with Rev. James Van Pernis officiating.

Miss Mary Katheryn Slack, St. Louis, Mo., was the bride's maid of honor and her bridesmaids included Miss Edith Jensen, Betty Jane Swift, Ann Arbor; Miss Dorothy Bailey, Romeo, Mich., and Miss Phyllis Brothers, Colorado Springs, Colo. Capt. William H. Robinson, Washington, D. C., served as his brother's best man and Robert J. McNutt, Dr. Andrew Butler, Dr. Thomas T. Glynn, Ann Arbor, and Robert J. Doeppers, Indianapolis, Ind., were the ushers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white satin gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, square neckline of Alencon lace, and full skirt with sweeping train. A matching bonnet halo of lace held her veil of illusion and a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses, centered with a white orchid, completed her costume.

Her attendants wore similar frocks of taffeta faille. Bands of yellow rosebuds and blue delphinium worn in their hair matched the flowers of their bouquets. The maid of honor's gown was of white, and blue frocks were worn by the bridesmaids.

The bride is a graduate of Ann Arbor High School and of Michigan State College, East Lansing, where she was affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Dr. Robinson was graduated from Allegany High School in 1936 after which he spent a year at Mercersburg Academy, Mercersburg, Pa. He graduated from Johns Hopkins University in 1941 and from Johns Hopkins Medical School in August, 1944. He interned at Cleveland Clinic and served assistant residency and residency at University Hospital, Ann Arbor. He was at Sydenham, Baltimore, and since the first of July has been at Harriet Lane Home of Johns Hopkins Hospital. Interested in sports, he was an outstanding player on the basketball teams at Allegany and Johns Hopkins University.

Mr. and Mrs. McNutt entertained with a reception honoring their daughter and her bridal party at the Michigan League, following the ceremony, after which Dr. Robinson and his bride left for a trip to Maine. For traveling she wore a green suit with brown accessories. Upon their return they will reside in Baltimore.

Woman to Woman

BY MRS. FILBERT

It's always nice to hear from readers of this column, and I was particularly pleased to recently hear from a lady who lives in Washington. She tells me that all her family (and it's quite a large one) agrees that meals have become much more enjoyable since she started using Mrs. Filbert's Mayonnaise. She said she hoped the news would brighten my day as my mayonnaise has brightened so many of the meals she serves.

I think that's real friendly. Such thoughtfulness always makes me extra glad I've spent almost 30 years working to provide finer foods and more delicious meals.

If you haven't discovered Mrs. Filbert's Mayonnaise, I think you, too, have a treat in store for you.

Mrs. Filbert

You'll invite Mrs. Filbert's Mayonnaise into your kitchen to stay when you taste this brand-new flavor. It's a woman's idea of real mayonnaise—made from the recipe Mrs. Filbert perfected in her own kitchen. Real lemon juice gives this mayonnaise its special tang—and it's whipped to such a satiny smoothness, your family will think it's fresh off your own egg beater!

Spread some of Mrs. Filbert's Mayonnaise on sandwiches and snacks. This delicious home-made blend has a way of coaxing out hidden flavors of other foods . . . perks up lonely left-overs, too.

Take an ordinary salad—highlight it with Mrs. Filbert's Mayonnaise—and watch it become extra-ordinary! You'll find Mrs. Filbert's is so rich that a dab takes the place of a spoonful—it's full-flavored even when thinned with fruit juice or milk.

And here's a special tip—just before you serve hot vegetables like broccoli, brussel sprouts or cauliflower, be sure to cover them lightly with Mrs. Filbert's Mayonnaise. You'll think you're eating a delicious Hollandaise sauce!

On cold food or hot, Mrs. Filbert's Mayonnaise is a brand-new flavor your whole family will welcome. Make a note! Get Mrs. Filbert's at your grocer's today.

Woman to Woman

BY MRS. FILBERT

It's always nice to hear from readers of this column, and I was particularly pleased to recently hear from a lady who lives in Washington. She tells me that all her family (and it's quite a large one) agrees that meals have become much more enjoyable since she started using Mrs. Filbert's Mayonnaise. She said she hoped the news would brighten my day as my mayonnaise has brightened so many of the meals she serves.

I think that's real friendly. Such thoughtfulness always makes me extra glad I've spent almost 30 years working to provide finer foods and more delicious meals.

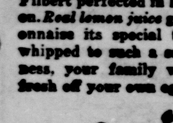
If you haven't discovered Mrs. Filbert's Mayonnaise, I think you, too, have a treat in store for you.

Mrs. Filbert

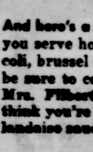
You'll invite Mrs. Filbert's Mayonnaise into your kitchen to stay when you taste this brand-new flavor. It's a woman's idea of real mayonnaise—made from the recipe Mrs. Filbert perfected in her own kitchen. Real lemon juice gives this mayonnaise its special tang—and it's whipped to such a satiny smoothness, your family will think it's fresh off your own egg beater!

Spread some of Mrs. Filbert's Mayonnaise on sandwiches and snacks. This delicious home-made blend has a way of coaxing out hidden flavors of other foods . . . perks up lonely left-overs, too.

And here's a special tip—just before you serve hot vegetables like broccoli, brussel sprouts or cauliflower, be sure to cover them lightly with Mrs. Filbert's Mayonnaise. You'll think you're eating a delicious Hollandaise sauce!



Take an ordinary salad—highlight it with Mrs. Filbert's Mayonnaise—and watch it become extra-ordinary! You'll find Mrs. Filbert's is so rich that a dab takes the place of a spoonful—it's full-flavored even when thinned with fruit juice or milk.



On cold food or hot, Mrs. Filbert's Mayonnaise is a brand-new flavor your whole family will welcome. Make a note! Get Mrs. Filbert's at your grocer's today.

Blacktopping Of Vocke Road Begins

County Engineer Albert S. Paye has announced that the blacktopping of three-fifths of a mile of Vocke Road has been started by the Cumberland Contracting Company.

Cost of the approximately $43,000 project will be shared equally by the county and the federal government under the lateral roads program. When the road is completed it will be incorporated into the state highway system.

Approximately $8,000 which the State Roads Commission estimated for all rights-of-way along the Vocke Road was saved with residents giving the land to the state without charge.

The roadway is being widened from 30 to 50 feet. Paye said the work is being done under joint supervision of the county and State Roads Commission.

The road being improved extends from Braddock Road at Allegany Grove to Winchester Road at the C. and P. Railroad underpass. All work is being done under State Roads Commission specifications.

LaVale School To Get Two New Model Classrooms

Hazelwood Company Low Bidder On Job

The Board of Education has opened bids for alterations and improvements to LaVale School, according to Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools. The George F. Hazelwood Company was low bidder at $33,150, while the John I. Vandegrift Company submitted a bid of $38,318.

Kopp said a contract will be let within a few days.

The work at LaVale includes a two-room addition, with other improvements and alterations and a complete overhauling of the building's steam heating plant.

S. Russ Minter, local architect who prepared plans for the work, said last night the two-room addition includes two entirely new-type classrooms. The trend in modern public education buildings and equipment, he said, is toward what authorities call a laboratory-type classroom. The idea provides for work indoors and outdoors, together with a work-shop including a number of built-in book cases, etc.

Minter said new methods of lighting are being used, with walls of directional glass block, which tends to provide better lighting and eliminates shadows. These will be the first classrooms of this type in the county, although some experimental work along the same lines have been attempted in other states, the architect explained.

Kopp said yesterday contracts have been let on work at Fort Hill stadium and at the West Side School.

Hazelwood Company bid $9,343 to make improvements to the stadium including installation of a heating system, showers, team rooms, locker rooms, etc., for two teams. The work has already started.

At the Paca Street School, West Side, work on finishing of a room and other alterations will begin next week. Hazelwood was low bidder on this job at $4,360.

Four Firms Settle With Teamsters Union

Although operations of four of the seven motor transport lines in Winchester, Va., resumed yesterday after a contract agreement was reached, there was no word here early last night of a settlement for the other three firms.

C. E. Stutzman, business agent for Local 453, Teamsters Union, which represents the drivers and operating personnel, reported yesterday that the strike which began Saturday at midnight, ended yesterday.

Both the company and union declined to announce the pay boost in the new contract but both sides were reported to have yielded some points and the increase was "substantial."

Companies which reached agreement were Mason Dixon Line, Super-Service, Associated Transport and Smith Transfer.

Conferences were resumed yesterday by representatives of Novick Transfer Company, Allegheny Freight and Elliott Motor Lines, and a spokesman said there was a possibility of an early agreement.

Union Threatens Strike

John L. Saum, Jr., Baltimore, a representative of the Retail Clerks Union, reported last night that employes of the Darling Shop, 101 Baltimore Street, will strike this morning as a result of a contract dispute.

He said eight of the store's nine employes voted for the work stoppage at a meeting held yesterday at 5 p. m. and that Local 654, Retail Clerks Union, AFL, has applied for picketing permits and expects to secure the permits this morning.

Saum said all points in the contract with the firm are settled except the wage issue, adding that while the firm is offering a wage increase, the boost would be nullified by higher sales quotas.

Garage Permit Issued

Henry Miller secured a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build a one-car garage, 12 by 20 feet, at the rear of 115 Potomac Street, at an estimated cost of $100. The one-story structure will have a concrete floor, concrete block walls and a composition roof. Work will be done by the owner.

A permit was granted to Mrs. Howard Miller, 144 Polk Street, to convert an open porch to a sun porch. The enclosure, 6 by 14 feet, will have frame walls covered with inselbrick. Work will be done by R. L. Taylor and cost is estimated at $200.

Potomac Council Scout Executives Attend Conference

Kenneth E. Jackson, executive of the council which is composed of Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland and Grant, Hardy, Mineral and Hampshire counties in West Virginia, served on the Region III Finance Commission.

Earl S. Black, field executive of the council, and Jackson were present at the conference of 2,200 scout executives who proposed that the National Council establish a National Division of Resources and Funds.

The meeting, which was held at the University of Indiana, called for 14 basic points of function for the new division including improved leadership training, better camping and activities programs, a better health and safety program, employment of professional personnel and adequate council headquarters space.

The Scout executives set as their goal the organization of 37,000 additional units which will mean the securing of funds for the coaching of more than 300,000 new volunteer leaders annually.

Among those present at the conference were Dr. James E. West, first chief scout executive, and Dr. E. K. Fretwell, the present chief scout executive.

Jackson and Black returned to their duties here yesterday.

Hazelwood Company Low Bidder On Job

The Board of Education has opened bids for alterations and improvements to LaVale School, according to Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools. The George F. Hazelwood Company was low bidder at $33,150, while the John I. Vandegrift Company submitted a bid of $38,318.

Kopp said a contract will be let within a few days.

The work at LaVale includes a two-room addition, with other improvements and alterations and a complete overhauling of the building's steam heating plant.

S. Russ Minter, local architect who prepared plans for the work, said last night the two-room addition includes two entirely new-type classrooms. The trend in modern public education buildings and equipment, he said, is toward what authorities call a laboratory-type classroom. The idea provides for work indoors and outdoors, together with a work-shop including a number of built-in book cases, etc.

Minter said new methods of lighting are being used, with walls of directional glass block, which tends to provide better lighting and eliminates shadows. These will be the first classrooms of this type in the county, although some experimental work along the same lines have been attempted in other states, the architect explained.

Kopp said yesterday contracts have been let on work at Fort Hill stadium and at the West Side School.

Hazelwood Company bid $9,343 to make improvements to the stadium including installation of a heating system, showers, team rooms, locker rooms, etc., for two teams. The work has already started.

At the Paca Street School, West Side, work on finishing of a room and other alterations will begin next week. Hazelwood was low bidder on this job at $4,360.

Four Firms Settle With Teamsters Union

Although operations of four of the seven motor transport lines in Winchester, Va., resumed yesterday after a contract agreement was reached, there was no word here early last night of a settlement for the other three firms.

C. E. Stutzman, business agent for Local 453, Teamsters Union, which represents the drivers and operating personnel, reported yesterday that the strike which began Saturday at midnight, ended yesterday.

Both the company and union declined to announce the pay boost in the new contract but both sides were reported to have yielded some points and the increase was "substantial."

Companies which reached agreement were Mason Dixon Line, Super-Service, Associated Transport and Smith Transfer.

Conferences were resumed yesterday by representatives of Novick Transfer Company, Allegheny Freight and Elliott Motor Lines, and a spokesman said there was a possibility of an early agreement.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

The Champagne and Caviar Award for Lisa Kirk!

Who dat?

Who's getting the vintage bubbly and Romanoff fish eggs for doing something extra-spesh in the entertainment business?

Billy Rose

Lisa Kirk, my tinies, Lisa Kirk.

This taffy-haired filly has a nice way with a song—but that isn't why I'm sending her the personal award I announced some months ago.

But let me take it from the top.

Last week I went up to New Haven to see the out-of-town opening of "Allegro," the new Rodgers and Hammerstein musical. The audience consisted of more sharpshooters than you'd find at a Rod and Gun Club convention — the kind of wisenheimers who walk into a theatre humming the hit tunes of the show.

Down in act two, Miss Kirk came out and began singing a catchy song called "The Gentleman is a Dope." The audience liked her — nice pipes, nice gams and as pretty as an income tax refund.

In her eagerness to sell the song, Lisa kept coming closer and closer to the audience. She took one step forward too many and fell smack into the orchestra pit!

The audience stopped breathing. It knew "Allegro" had cost its producers something on the painful side of $300,000. It knew this kind of mishap might foul up an important opening night.

A couple of fiddle players boosted Lisa Kirk back up on the stage. As they did, I thought of another night when ringside newspapermen had done the same for Dempsey after Firpo had clouted him through the ropes.

Like Dempsey, Lisa came back and scored a knockout. During the scramble in the pit, and while the musicians were muscling her back onto the stage apron, she never stopped singing, never missed a note. As Lisa got to her feet, still singing, the audience broke into applause. When she finished, they clapped their heads and hands off.

And so, for this bit of trouping in the grand tradition, a messenger with wings on his feet is now delivering the treasures of the vineyard and the Volga to Miss Lisa Kirk. Skol!

A few words about "Allegro." This king-sized show tells the story of a doctor—his young manhood in a small town, his experiences in a big city hospital, and his decision to return to the small town. It's done in a technique which includes elements of the Greek chorus, the ballet, the opera, and lantern slide projection of scenery. It's as experimental as the motorized kite the Wright Brothers flew at Kittyhawk. Whether it makes a mill or a million, "Allegro" is an honest try on the part of everybody concerned to do something fresh and fine, and it rates three times three and a tiger.

You can judge how successful Rodgers and Hammerstein are in making the doctor's problem come to life by something which happened a few minutes before the final curtain.

The young medico is alone on stage, trying to decide between a fat job as director of a society hospital and the life of a general practitioner in his small town. His dead mother appears and sings a song called, "Come Home, Son, Come Home."

As this point in the play was reached on opening night, the audience smelled smoke in the theatre. Somewhere something was on fire. The customers in the right upper boxes started pushing back their chairs and making for the exits. A few people in the orchestra got up and scurried out.

For one long, long moment the crowd was on the edge of panic.

But the scene on the stage held!

Less than 50 people out of an audience of 1,600 left their seats.

Two minutes later the fire had been stamped out.

It was a nice tribute to the authors.

The cash customers were more concerned about the lives of the make-believe characters than they were about their town.

Public Airs Views On Ban Against Union Funds In Political Campaigns

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute Of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 11 — Neither labor unions nor business corporations should be permitted to spend money to help elect or defeat candidates for public office, in the opinion of a majority of American voters polled by the Institute.

Section 304 of the Taft-Hartley Act makes it unlawful for any labor organization to "make a contribution or expenditure" in connection with elections. Corporations, including banks, had already been forbidden to do so by law.

To test the current opinion of American voters, including labor members themselves, the Institute put two questions in a nation-wide survey.

The results show that people who are members of labor unions vote approval of the principle that union funds should not be used to influence elections. The majority is almost as large as for the rest of the nation.

The two questions in the survey dealt with general principles. Many ramifications of the Taft-Hartley provision against use of union funds politically have been pointed out since the Act was passed. Future polling will be conducted on some of these ramifications if the law is officially interpreted by the courts or by Federal authorities to include them.

The survey questions and results were:

"Do you think labor unions should be permitted to spend labor funds (money) to help elect or defeat candidates for political offices?"

"Do you think business corporations should be permitted to spend corporation funds (money) to help elect of defeat candidates for political offices?"

Much of the argument over the Taft-Hartley Act has revolved around the question of political activities on the part of unions. Some labor leaders have claimed that if a union newspaper, supported by union funds, comes out in favor of a candidate, that might be construed as a violation of the law; in short, that the law gags freedom of speech and freedom of the press so far as labor organizations are concerned. Thus far, no test case has been adjudicated to provide an interpretation and set the precedent.

Manual workers are less in favor of curbs on political funds than other major occupation groups, as the following table shows:

Reckless Driving Case Dismissed

An Oldtown man was found not guilty of a reckless driving charge yesterday that was filed after his machine sideswiped a parked truck on Uhl Highway near Oldtown July 29.

First Sgt. William E. O'Hara, of the State Police, who investigated, said the car operated by Jonah J. Hose, struck the parked truck of Ralph D. Wilson, 518 Shriver Avenue, causing a passenger in Hose's vehicle, Foster L. Shipley, Baltimore, to lose his right arm.

At the hearing yesterday before Magistrate Frank A. Ferdew, Hose testified that the bright lights of an oncoming car momentarily blinded him and he saw the vehicle which was stopped at the side of the road without lights when he was only a few feet away from it.

Shipley had his arm protruding from the window of Hose's car when the collision occurred, police said. He was taken to Memorial Hospital where it was necessary to amputate the limb.

Testimony showed that Wilson's truck was parked four feet in the road due to an embankment on one side. Wilson said he stopped the truck and put out the lights to fasten the hood of the machine after it had come loose.

Shipley has a suit pending in Circuit Court for damages against Wilson. He is a former welder and was employed by the Maryland Drydock Company in Baltimore.

In another hearing in Magistrates' Court, a reckless driving charge against George Hubert Ross Davis, Route 5, this city, was dismissed when the prosecuting witness failed to appear. State Trooper Walter L. Wilt arrested the man on North Mechanic Street on July 30.

Lewis H. Huffman, Route 4, forfeited $11.45 for operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license. He was apprehended on Route 51 one-half mile east of the city on Tuesday.

The Western Reserve comprises 3,666,921 acres, embracing a strip about 50 miles mide, along Lake Erie, from Sandusky, O., to Pennsylvania.

It all has to do with England's life line. About time we pulled that in to see what's on the other end.

Without Painful Backache
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Brooklyn Wins Opening Game From St. Louis

Lavagetto's Single Decides 4-3 Battle

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 11 (AP)—Cookie Lavagetto's single with the bases loaded and one out in the eighth inning scored Carl Furillo with the run that gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 4-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in the opener of their crucial three-game series tonight and increased the Dodgers first place lead over the Cards to five and a half games.

The tense struggle, witnessed by 29,452 fans, lasted two hours and 54 minutes as the lead see-sawed between the two contenders with Harry Brecheen, the 1946 world series hero, and young Ralph Branca, the Dodgers' 21-year-old flash, hooking up in a duel that finally provided Branca with his 20th victory.

Neither Brecheen nor Branca was around at the finish, The Cat having been knocked out of the box by Lavagetto's hit in the eighth. Branca, in and out of jams all evening, followed Brecheen to the showers in the same inning after two successive singles had put him in trouble.

REDS DEFEAT POAT

CINCINNATI, Sept. 11—(AP)—Johnnie Mize slammed his 47th home run for the Giants but it was not enough as the Cincinnati Reds downed the fourth place New Yorkers, 3-1, today behind Lefty Ken Raffensberger.

NATIONAL LEAGUE PENNANT RACE

By International News Service

	W	L	Pct.	G.B.	To Play
BROOKLYN	86	53	.619	—	15
ST. LOUIS	79	57	.580	5½	18

Games to play:
Brooklyn—15
Home: Boston 2, New York 2—Total 4.
Away: St. Louis 2, Cincinnati 3, Pittsburgh 2, Philadelphia 2, Boston 2—Total 11.
St. Louis—18
Home: Brooklyn 2, New York 3, Boston 2, Chicago 4—Total 11.
Away: Pittsburgh 4, Chicago 3—Total 7.

Brooklyn's lead over St. Louis in the National League pennant race looks more secure than ever. Should the Dodgers play just under .500 ball the rest of the way, winning 7 and losing 8 of their 15 remaining games, the Cards will still have to take 15 of their remaining 18 contests to win the flag.

And, for every game the Dodgers win hereafter the Cards must win that number plus eight to notch the pennant.

CENTURY A.C. OPENS TITLE SERIES WITH ARISTOCRATS TODAY

Sunday at 3 p. m. the teams will clash in the second game of the series at State Teachers' College field.

If a third game is necessary it will be played Monday at 6 p. m.

Lacy's Delicatets Top Amvets In Eighth, 3-2

Annex Second Straight; Roby Tosses 3-Hitter

Lacy's Delicatets made it two straight over the Amvets in their best-of-five-games series for the championship of the City Softball League by winning yesterday at Stitcher Field by the score of 3-2 in an overtime battle.

The league's first half champions won out in the top half of the eighth when Vern Penner doubled, advanced to third on Walter "Pooch" Orndorff's sacrifice and raced home after Junior Hardy flied to Lou Bell in centerfield.

Trailing 2 to 1, the Delicatets knotted the count in the 7th frame when Small singled, took second on "Sonny" Wilson's sacrifice and scored when William "Bee" Orndorff, who had fanned twice, came through in the clutch with a hot single through short.

Geatz Clouts Homer

Manager Frank Riehl's team took a 2-1 lead in the second stanza when Tommy Geatz pounded a homer to centerfield after Lou Riehl had walked.

Jim Roby let the Amvets down with three hits while Allan Sheetz yielded six safeties. "Bee" Orndorff and Lou Riehl rapped out two hits each. Sheetz fanned six and Roby fired the third strike past two.

Ted Durbin's catch of Dougherty's line drive in the 5th and "Sonny" Wilson's catch of the same batter's foul fly in the 7th were the outstanding fielding plays.

Series Resumes Monday

Taylor Field will be the scene of the third game of the series on Monday at 6 p. m. Lacy's team needs only one victory to clinch the title. The Amvets now must win three straight to annex the honors. Box:

Happy Chandler, Larry MacPhail Decline To Talk

Both Remain Silent After Conference

CINCINNATI, Sept. 11—(AP)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler practiced again today what he has been trying to preach to Larry MacPhail—silence—after a conference with the loquacious one in connection with statements he made about that forbidden subject, Leo Durocher.

As was the case when MacPhail was called on his green carpet last April for criticising the suspension for the season of the Brooklyn manager, the big shot of baseball declined to discuss today's confab with the fiery president of the New York Yankees, which followed a meeting to plan for the 1947 world series.

Interrupted in his talk about the series by a question as to what the score was with the New York Yankee president, Chandler cried:

"That's all; that's all."

MacPhail also was silent as to what took place.

Chandler began an investigation several days ago into statements attributed to MacPhail last week concerning the Durocher case.

The New Yorker was quoted as saying it was a 100-to-1 shot that Durocher would not be back with the Dodgers next season, and adding:

"Do you think that Durocher would have been suspended if Rickey (Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn club) hadn't wanted him suspended?"

When Chandler suspended Durocher on April 9 he issued an order that no one in the controversy involving Durocher, MacPhail and Rickey could discuss the subject.

Later that month, MacPhail was called before the Commissioner because he was quoted in an interview as criticising the action. After a day-long discussion, MacPhail emerged, red faced, and declined to talk. He had kept still until the statements attributed to him last week.

Whether MacPhail is to be punished for statements he denied making for publication or whether the matter will be smoothed over remained a moot question tonight. The one thing certain was that neither of the principals would talk.

Seattle Southpaw Gives Jack Kramer Scare In Tourney

Brink Loses Four Set Match At Forest Hills

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—(AP)—Tennis player Jack Kramer saw $50,000 flying right out of the window today, and he went through a bad hour and sweated plenty before he managed to haul back the errant greenbacks.

The near disaster, which caught the champion completely by surprise, occurred when he locked horns in the fourth round of the national championships at Forest Hills with James Brink, a tall, tousle-haired southpaw from Seattle, Wash.

With his financial future at stake, the supposedly invincible "Jake" finally pulled himself together and won out by scores of 6-1, 3-6, 9-7, 7-5, but not until he had talked to himself with the fervor of a corporation counsel. When it ended he looked like the victim of a near miss.

The 50 grand which Kramer saw existing in the third set represents conservatively the money he expects to reap within the next year as a professional. He might even double that figure. But everything is predicated upon his winning his second straight national title and standing out alone among the world's amateurs.

Brink nearly tumbled Jake's apple-cart. The 22-year-old law student not only took a set—the second lost by the big man on grass this year—but he held a 5-3 lead in the third and fought the champ for the fourth right down to the final gasp. It was even closer, if anything, than the scores indicate.

As it was, Brink, a net-rushing fool, exploded the belief that Kramer's high-twisting service could not be broken. He broke it twice in succession in the third set, and he broke it again in the fourth to pull up to 5-5.

Tom Brown came through in a homeric struggle against Geoff Brown of Australia, 7-5, 4-6, 10-8, 6-1. They put on a spectacular display of hot services and sizzling drives, with neither ever playing it safe if it were possible to take a chance.

John Bromwich, Australia's No. 1 star, and Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, this country's fourth seeded player, each racked up an easy victory to qualify for a meeting in tomorrow's quarter-finals. Mulloy ousted Torsten Johansson of Sweden, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3, while Bromwich annihilated Eddie Moylan of San Francisco, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

New York Yanks Move Step Nearer League Pennant

Split With Detroit, Newhouser Cops 1st

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP) — The New York Yankees moved a step nearer the American League flag today when they divided a doubleheader with the Detroit Tigers, winning the second game 11-5 after Hal Newhouser had beaten them 7-2 in the opener.

The Yankee split together with the dividing of a pair of games by the Boston Red Sox and Cleveland reduced the magic number to four. That is the combination of games the Yanks must win or the Red Sox must lose in order to insure the flag for the Yanks. Box:

BOSOX, INDIANS SPLIT

BOSTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—The second place Boston Red Sox spit a twin bill with the Cleveland Indians today and thereby maintained a half game edge over the third rung Detroit Tigers who divided two with the front running Yankees.

The Indians took a free hitting opener 10-8 and the Sox won the darkness-abridged closer 8-3. The nightcap was called after five and a half innings.

Joe Gordon set a new Cleveland record for home runs by a right handed batter by poling his 27th of the year in the opener in which he drove in six runs. Box:

Elks Turn Back Moose In Series Opener, 7-5

Winners Get 12 Hits; Next Game On Monday

Shortstop Glenwood "Tag" Reel gathered in Frank Fogtman's line drive to halt a late uprising which netted three runs in the last of the 7th frame as the B. P. O. Elks took the opening game of their three-game series with the Loyal Order of Moose for the championship of the Rocking Chair Softball League yesterday at Community Park. The score was 7-5.

On the short end of a 7-2 score coming to bat in the final stanza, the Moose tossers chased three tallies over the plate and had the tying run on first base when Fogtman tagged the pitch and Reel speared the drive for the final out.

The Moose team took a 2-1 lead in the first inning and the Elks knotted it up at 2-2 in the second, scored three runs in the fourth and were never headed.

Three of the Elks' hits were for extra bases, Whiteman and Roeder connecting for doubles while Jim Wilkinson walloped a four-bagger to deep left field in the 7th frame. Pete Lear paced the assault with three hits and batted in three runs. Roeder also hammered home three markers. None of the Moose players obtained more than one safety from the offerings of Wilkinson.

The finalists in the Rocking Chair loop playoffs will clash again Monday at 6 p. m. at Community Park. A victory for the Elks would end the title series.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 11 — (AP) — The Washington Redskins of the National Football League, who play the Green Bay Packers in a Variety Club charity football exhibition at Baltimore stadium Sunday, Sept. 21, will work out several days at the University of Maryland.

The Redskins, who were impressive with a 23-14 victory over the Detroit Lions in an exhibition at Denver last night, are en route to Chicago for a tilt with the Bears at Soldier Field the night of Sept. 17. They will go to College Park, Md., immediately after the Bear game.

Green Bay meets the Boston Yankees at Milwaukee Sept. 14, and the Packers will arrive here Sept. 20 for their Sunday afternoon date with the Redskins.

Steelers Release Stronjy, Signs As College Coach

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, Pa., Sept. 11 (AP)—Released by the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League today, tackle Ted Stronjy walked across the campus from the lot where the Steelers are training and signed on as assistant football coach of Alliance College.

Stronjy, a 1942 graduate of Holy Cross College, came to the Steelers as a rookie, one of three players obtained from the Los Angeles Rams of the same league.

The appointment was announced by Alliance Head Coach Ben Pawlina who said that Stan Trisbeck, Western Maryland graduate, also would continue as an assistant coach.

EAGLES AND LEGION WILL TANGLE TODAY IN DECIDING GAME

Art Garbark's Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion nine and William "Boots" Miller's Fraternal Order of Eagles will meet in the fourth game of their playoff series today at 5 p. m. at Community Park to determine which club shall meet Moorefield in a three-game series for the championship of the Interstate Baseball League.

The Legion won the first game of the series last Saturday, 16-7, and the Eagles squared up matters by winning the second contest on Sunday, 3-1. In the third game, staged Wednesday, the teams battled to a 3-3 tie in ten innings in a bitter battle marred by stalling tactics by both clubs.

President John J. Long told the teams to rest for 24 hours then renew hostilities today.

Herman Refuses To Alibi Sorry Showing Of Bucs

Billy Sees Dismissal As Injuring Reputation

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11 — (AP) — Freshman Manager Billy Herman, who may be facing the axe because of the Pittsburgh Pirates' sad showing, bent his neck for the blow today by refusing "to abili"—although the club makeup gives him a reason to seek a reprieve.

"I wasn't an alibi player and I'm not an alibi manager," said Herman, regarded as one of baseball's greatest infielders during a 19-year playing career which took him to Chicago, Brooklyn and Boston in the National League before he came here as manager. His club was wallowing in last place before today's games.

"Until I talk with Mr. McKinney (Frank McKinney, Pirate president) I haven't anything to say," Herman went on. "I've done by best—that's all I've ever done for 20 years."

McKinney said in Indianapolis yesterday he was prepared to buy up Billy's two-year contract by paying the $28,000 due Herman for next year if he decides the Buccos' plight is the manager's fault. McKinney said he was "bitterly disappointed" in the club.

"So am I," Herman said today.

"The only thing that bothers me is that this (his prospective dismissal) may change some opinions of a good reputation it took 19 years to build."

Dawson Conquers Frank Strafaci At Pebble Beach

"Bud" Ward Bows Out Of Amateur Tourney

By RUSS NEWLAND

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Sept. 11 (AP)—Veteran Johnny Dawson of Hollywood, Calif., became a semi-finalist in the U. S. amateur golf championship today when he defeated Frank Strafaci, Flushing, N. Y., 6 and 5 in an 18 hole quarter final match.

The 44 year old star toured Pebble Beach in three under par for the 13 holes it took to dispose of his hard hitting rival. He posted a two under par 34 for the first nine and held a four up margin at that point.

Strafaci ran into trouble, overshooting one green and going past the hole on the return, hitting a ball into the ocean on the fourth fairway and failing to get out as he waded into the water in bare feet. He also missed a six foot putt to lose the eighth hole.

Dawson eliminated Otto Hofmeister, Lewiston, Idaho, 5 and 4 in the fifth round this morning, playing four under par golf.

Two time former national amateur kingpin, Marvin "Bud" Ward of Spokane, Wash., was a quarter finals victim, bowing before a competitor unknown to big time golf, John Selby of Piedmont, Calif., although now a temporary resident of Rye, N. Y. The score was 2 and 1.

As a result of the upset win, Selby will meet Dawson in one of the 36 hole semi finals.

Felice Torza, Wethersfield, Conn., and Skee Riegel, Monterey Park, Calif., won their matches in the lower bracket and will meet tomorrow in the other 36 hole semi-finals.

Torza, winner of the All America amateur title in the Tam O'Shanter tournament at Chicago last July, defeated Harvie Ward, Jr. of Rocky Mount, N. C., 4 and 3.

Riegel, member of this year's Walker Cup team, beat Bob Rosburg, Stanford University student, 2 and 1.

Fancy Glass Backstop Fogs Up During Game

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11 (AP)—That fancy glass backstop, pride of the San Francisco Pacific Coast League club, fogged up last night—and the fans behind it had to move.

Since its installation, replacing the conventional wire screen, fans have been able to sit directly behind the plate with unimpaired view. Last night, for the first time, one of San Francisco's summer fogs clouded it.

Fans wiped the bottom panels clean, but the upper two were frosted—and out of reach.

Brooklyn Wins Opening Game From St. Louis

Lavagetto's Single Decides 4-3 Battle

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 11 (AP)—Cookie Lavagetto's single with the bases loaded and one out in the eighth inning scored Carl Furillo with the run that gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 4-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in the opener of their crucial three-game series tonight and increased the Dodgers first place lead over the Cards to five and a half games.

The tense struggle, witnessed by 29,452 fans, lasted two hours and 54 minutes as the lead see-sawed between the two contenders with Harry Brecheen, the 1946 world series hero, and young Ralph Branca, the Dodgers' 21-year-old flash, hooking up in a duel that finally provided Branca with his 20th victory.

Neither Brecheen nor Branca was around at the finish, The Cat having been knocked out of the box by Lavagetto's hit in the eighth. Branca, in and out of jams all evening, followed Brecheen to the showers in the same inning after two successive singles had put him in trouble.

Jack Robinson homered for Brooklyn in the fifth with Eddie Stanky on base and Vernal "Nippy" Jones, formerly of Rochester, belted a four-bagger in the 7th to knot the count at 3-3. Box:

Brooklyn's lead over St. Louis in the National League pennant race looks more secure than ever. Should the Dodgers play just under .500 ball the rest of the way, winning 7 and losing 8 of their 15 remaining games, the Cards will still have to take 15 of their remaining 18 contests to win the flag.

And, for every game the Dodgers win hereafter the Cards must win that number plus eight to notch the pennant.

Lacy's Delicatets Top Amvets In Eighth, 3-2

Annex Second Straight; Roby Tosses 3-Hitter

Lacy's Delicatets made it two straight over the Amvets in their best-of-five-games series for the championship of the City Softball League by winning yesterday at Stitcher Field by the score of 3-2 in an overtime battle.

The league's first half champions won out in the top half of the eighth when Vern Penner doubled, advanced to third on Walter "Pooch" Orndorff's sacrifice and raced home after Junior Hardy flied to Lou Bell in centerfield.

Trailing 2 to 1, the Delicatets knotted the count in the 7th frame when Small singled, took second on "Sonny" Wilson's sacrifice and scored when William "Bee" Orndorff, who had fanned twice, came through in the clutch with a hot single through short.

Geatz Clouts Homer

Manager Frank Riehl's team took a 2-1 lead in the second stanza when Tommy Geatz pounded a homer to centerfield after Lou Riehl had walked.

Jim Roby let the Amvets down with three hits while Allan Sheetz yielded six safeties. "Bee" Orndorff and Lou Riehl rapped out two hits each. Sheetz fanned six and Roby fired the third strike past two.

Ted Durbin's catch of Dougherty's line drive in the 5th and "Sonny" Wilson's catch of the same batter's foul fly in the 7th were the outstanding fielding plays.

Series Resumes Monday

Taylor Field will be the scene of the third game of the series on Monday at 6 p. m. Lacy's team needs only one victory to clinch the title. The Amvets now must win three straight to annex the honors. Box:

Happy Chandler, Larry MacPhail Decline To Talk

Both Remain Silent After Conference

CINCINNATI, Sept. 11—(AP)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler practiced again today what he has been trying to preach to Larry MacPhail—silence—after a conference with the loquacious one in connection with statements he made about that forbidden subject, Leo Durocher.

As was the case when MacPhail was called on his green carpet last April for criticising the suspension for the season of the Brooklyn manager, the big shot of baseball declined to discuss today's confab with the fiery president of the New York Yankees, which followed a meeting to plan for the 1947 world series.

Interrupted in his talk about the series by a question as to what the score was with the New York Yankee president, Chandler cried:

"That's all; that's all."

MacPhail also was silent as to what took place.

Chandler began an investigation several days ago into statements attributed to MacPhail last week concerning the Durocher case.

The New Yorker was quoted as saying it was a 100-to-1 shot that Durocher would not be back with the Dodgers next season, and adding:

"Do you think that Durocher would have been suspended if Rickey (Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn club) hadn't wanted him suspended?"

When Chandler suspended Durocher on April 9 he issued an order that no one in the controversy involving Durocher, MacPhail and Rickey could discuss the subject.

Later that month, MacPhail was called before the Commissioner because he was quoted in an interview as criticising the action. After a day-long discussion, MacPhail emerged, red faced, and declined to talk. He had kept still until the statements attributed to him last week.

Whether MacPhail is to be punished for statements he denied making for publication or whether the matter will be smoothed over remained a moot question tonight. The one thing certain was that neither of the principals would talk.

Seattle Southpaw Gives Jack Kramer Scare In Tourney

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—(AP)—Tennis player Jack Kramer saw $50,000 flying right out of the window today, and he went through a bad hour and sweated plenty before he managed to haul back the errant greenbacks.

The near disaster, which caught the champion completely by surprise, occurred when he locked horns in the fourth round of the national championships at Forest Hills with James Brink, a tall, tousle-haired southpaw from Seattle, Wash.

With his financial future at stake, the supposedly invincible "Jake" finally pulled himself together and won out by scores of 6-1, 3-6, 9-7, 7-5, but not until he had talked to himself with the fervor of a corporation counsel. When it ended he looked like the victim of a near miss.

The 50 grand which Kramer saw existing in the third set represents conservatively the money he expects to reap within the next year as a professional. He might even double that figure. But everything is predicated upon his winning his second straight national title and standing out alone among the world's amateurs.

Brink nearly tumbled Jake's apple-cart. The 22-year-old law student not only took a set—the second lost by the big man on grass this year—but he held a 5-3 lead in the third and fought the champ for the fourth right down to the final gasp. It was even closer, if anything, than the scores indicate.

As it was, Brink, a net-rushing fool, exploded the belief that Kramer's high-twisting service could not be broken. He broke it twice in succession in the third set, and he broke it again in the fourth to pull up to 5-5.

Tom Brown came through in a homeric struggle against Geoff Brown of Australia, 7-5, 4-6, 10-8, 6-1. They put on a spectacular display of hot services and sizzling drives, with neither ever playing it safe if it were possible to take a chance.

John Bromwich, Australia's No. 1 star, and Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, this country's fourth seeded player, each racked up an easy victory to qualify for a meeting in tomorrow's quarter-finals. Mulloy ousted Torsten Johansson of Sweden, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3, while Bromwich annihilated Eddie Moylan of San Francisco, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

New York Yanks Move Step Nearer League Pennant

Split With Detroit, Newhouser Cops 1st

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP) — The New York Yankees moved a step nearer the American League flag today when they divided a doubleheader with the Detroit Tigers, winning the second game 11-5 after Hal Newhouser had beaten them 7-2 in the opener.

The Yankee split together with the dividing of a pair of games by the Boston Red Sox and Cleveland reduced the magic number to four. That is the combination of games the Yanks must win or the Red Sox must lose in order to insure the flag for the Yanks. Box:

Winners Get 12 Hits; Next Game On Monday

Shortstop Glenwood "Tag" Reel gathered in Frank Fogtman's line drive to halt a late uprising which netted three runs in the last of the 7th frame as the B. P. O. Elks took the opening game of their three-game series with the Loyal Order of Moose for the championship of the Rocking Chair Softball League yesterday at Community Park. The score was 7-5.

On the short end of a 7-2 score coming to bat in the final stanza, the Moose tossers chased three tallies over the plate and had the tying run on first base when Fogtman tagged the pitch and Reel speared the drive for the final out.

The Moose team took a 2-1 lead in the first inning and the Elks knotted it up at 2-2 in the second, scored three runs in the fourth and were never headed.

Three of the Elks' hits were for extra bases, Whiteman and Roeder connecting for doubles while Jim Wilkinson walloped a four-bagger to deep left field in the 7th frame. Pete Lear paced the assault with three hits and batted in three runs. Roeder also hammered home three markers. None of the Moose players obtained more than one safety from the offerings of Wilkinson.

The finalists in the Rocking Chair loop playoffs will clash again Monday at 6 p. m. at Community Park. A victory for the Elks would end the title series.

Redskins Beat Lions, Play Bears Wednesday

BALTIMORE, Sept. 11 — (AP) — The Washington Redskins of the National Football League, who play the Green Bay Packers in a Variety Club charity football exhibition at Baltimore stadium Sunday, Sept. 21, will work out several days at the University of Maryland.

The Redskins, who were impressive with a 23-14 victory over the Detroit Lions in an exhibition at Denver last night, are en route to Chicago for a tilt with the Bears at Soldier Field the night of Sept. 17. They will go to College Park, Md., immediately after the Bear game.

Green Bay meets the Boston Yankees at Milwaukee Sept. 14, and the Packers will arrive here Sept. 20 for their Sunday afternoon date with the Redskins.

Steelers Release Stronjy, Signs As College Coach

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, Pa., Sept. 11 (AP)—Released by the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League today, tackle Ted Stronjy walked across the campus from the lot where the Steelers are training and signed on as assistant football coach of Alliance College.

Stronjy, a 1942 graduate of Holy Cross College, came to the Steelers as a rookie, one of three players obtained from the Los Angeles Rams of the same league.

The appointment was announced by Alliance Head Coach Ben Pawlina who said that Stan Trisbeck, Western Maryland graduate, also would continue as an assistant coach.

EAGLES AND LEGION WILL TANGLE TODAY IN DECIDING GAME

Art Garbark's Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion nine and William "Boots" Miller's Fraternal Order of Eagles will meet in the fourth game of their playoff series today at 5 p. m. at Community Park to determine which club shall meet Moorefield in a three-game series for the championship of the Interstate Baseball League.

The Legion won the first game of the series last Saturday, 16-7, and the Eagles squared up matters by winning the second contest on Sunday, 3-1. In the third game, staged Wednesday, the teams battled to a 3-3 tie in ten innings in a bitter battle marred by stalling tactics by both clubs.

President John J. Long told the teams to rest for 24 hours then renew hostilities today.

Herman Refuses To Alibi Sorry Showing Of Bucs

Billy Sees Dismissal As Injuring Reputation

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11 — (AP) — Freshman Manager Billy Herman, who may be facing the axe because of the Pittsburgh Pirates' sad showing, bent his neck for the blow today by refusing "to abili"—although the club makeup gives him a reason to seek a reprieve.

"I wasn't an alibi player and I'm not an alibi manager," said Herman, regarded as one of baseball's greatest infielders during a 19-year playing career which took him to Chicago, Brooklyn and Boston in the National League before he came here as manager. His club was wallowing in last place before today's games.

"Until I talk with Mr. McKinney (Frank McKinney, Pirate president) I haven't anything to say," Herman went on. "I've done by best—that's all I've ever done for 20 years."

McKinney said in Indianapolis yesterday he was prepared to buy up Billy's two-year contract by paying the $28,000 due Herman for next year if he decides the Buccos' plight is the manager's fault. McKinney said he was "bitterly disappointed" in the club.

"So am I," Herman said today.

"The only thing that bothers me is that this (his prospective dismissal) may change some opinions of a good reputation it took 19 years to build."

Dawson Conquers Frank Strafaci At Pebble Beach

"Bud" Ward Bows Out Of Amateur Tourney

By RUSS NEWLAND

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Sept. 11 (AP)—Veteran Johnny Dawson of Hollywood, Calif., became a semi-finalist in the U. S. amateur golf championship today when he defeated Frank Strafaci, Flushing, N. Y., 6 and 5 in an 18 hole quarter final match.

The 44 year old star toured Pebble Beach in three under par for the 13 holes it took to dispose of his hard hitting rival. He posted a two under par 34 for the first nine and held a four up margin at that point.

Strafaci ran into trouble, overshooting one green and going past the hole on the return, hitting a ball into the ocean on the fourth fairway and failing to get out as he waded into the water in bare feet. He also missed a six foot putt to lose the eighth hole.

Dawson eliminated Otto Hofmeister, Lewiston, Idaho, 5 and 4 in the fifth round this morning, playing four under par golf.

Two time former national amateur kingpin, Marvin "Bud" Ward of Spokane, Wash., was a quarter finals victim, bowing before a competitor unknown to big time golf, John Selby of Piedmont, Calif., although now a temporary resident of Rye, N. Y. The score was 2 and 1.

As a result of the upset win, Selby will meet Dawson in one of the 36 hole semi finals.

Felice Torza, Wethersfield, Conn., and Skee Riegel, Monterey Park, Calif., won their matches in the lower bracket and will meet tomorrow in the other 36 hole semi-finals.

Torza, winner of the All America amateur title in the Tam O'Shanter tournament at Chicago last July, defeated Harvie Ward, Jr. of Rocky Mount, N. C., 4 and 3.

Riegel, member of this year's Walker Cup team, beat Bob Rosburg, Stanford University student, 2 and 1.

Fancy Glass Backstop Fogs Up During Game

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11 (AP)—That fancy glass backstop, pride of the San Francisco Pacific Coast League club, fogged up last night—and the fans behind it had to move.

Since its installation, replacing the conventional wire screen, fans have been able to sit directly behind the plate with unimpaired view. Last night, for the first time, one of San Francisco's summer fogs clouded it.

Fans wiped the bottom panels clean, but the upper two were frosted—and out of reach.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP) — Charlie Johnston, manager of Archie Moore, said today the St. Louis light-heavyweight's injured hand, which forced him to call off tomorrow night's fight in Madison Square Garden with Bert Lytell, would not prevent his meeting Dusty Wilkerson in Philadelphia September 22.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11 (INS) — Ralph Kiner of the Pittsburgh Pirates continued his home run spree today with four circuit clouts in a twin bill with the Boston Braves.

DRIVER IS CHARGED WITH BEATING HORSE, ORDERED OFF TRACK

DETROIT, Sept. 11 (AP)—State Racing Commissioner Lewis Bredin said today he had ordered Lindy Fraser of Forest, Ont., to leave the Northville Downs harness racing track and take with him his stable of horses.

Fraser owns and drives the outstanding pacer, Dr. Stanton, which had been established as favorite in the $5,000 governor's stake at the track Friday night.

The commissioner accused Fraser of beating another of his pacers, Belladale, on Monday night with a whip while a groom held her.

Bredin said Fraser at first denied the beating, but said he told him later he hit the mare with a small whip as punishment for kicking him.

World Series Dates Are Set

Opens In New York Sept. 30 Or Oct. 1

CINCINNATI, Sept. 11 (AP) — The 1947 world series will begin in Yankee Stadium in New York either Sept. 30 or Oct. 1 depending on the outcome of the close flag race in the National League.

At a meeting today, Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler and representatives of first division clubs in the National League apparently considered the New York Yankees a cinch to cop the American League pennant, because they announced the following two schedules for the diamond classic:

The series will begin Sept. 30 if New York in the American League and Brooklyn in the National emerge as pennant winners. There will be no open dates between games in Yankee Stadium and Brooklyn's Ebbets Field.

The series will get underway Wednesday, Oct. 1 if the Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals win in their respective circuits.

In event the world champion Cardinals win their second straight pennant, games will be played in Yankee Stadium Oct. 1 and 2. Oct. 3 will be an open date to permit the teams to travel to St. Louis for the third, fourth and fifth games Oct. 4, 5 and 6.

Should the series go the full route, Oct. 7 would be an open date to permit the teams to return to New York for the final two games Oct. 8 and 9.

Should Brooklyn be the National League contender, the first two games will be played in Yankee Stadium, the next three on Ebbets Field and the last two, if necessary in Yankee Stadium.

In case of a postponed game, the announcement said, the contest will be played in the same park as scheduled originally and will be played before the next scheduled game. In the event of a tie game, it will be played off in the same park where the seventh game is played, with a day interval to allow for sale of tickets.

With but one exception, all games will start at 1:30 p. m. should Brooklyn oppose the Yanks, the game Sunday, Oct. 5, will get underway at 2:05 p. m. All times will be the time zone of the home team.

Ticket prices in New York and Brooklyn: bleachers, $1; general admission, $4; reserved grandstand, $6, and box seats, $8.

With one exception, the same price schedule will prevail at St. Louis. Reserved grandstand seats will cost $6.25, with the extra quarter covering a special Missouri State tax.

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 11 (AP) — Wheeling and Spectator rushed through five furlongs in the track record time of 1:01 1-5 today to finish the fourth race in a dead heat. Spectator paid $3.00, $3.20 and $3.00 while the return on Wheeling was $5.00, $6.20 and $4.60.

Gridder Paralyzed

DES MOINES, Sept. 11 (AP) — Bob Shaw, 26, Compton, Calif., substitute end on the Los Angeles Ram team in the National Football League, was recovering today from paralyzing injuries suffered in an exhibition game against the Boston Yankees last night.

Shaw's arms and legs were paralyzed completely when he was carried from the field. For a time it was feared his back was broken. Control had returned to all his muscles today and although X-rays had not been analyzed Coach Bob Snyder said indications were that Shaw had suffered a pinched nerve at the base of the neck.

Two Divorces Granted; Three New Suits Filed

Two divorce decrees were signed in Circuit Court yesterday by Chief Judge William A. Huster, and three new bills of complaint were docketed in equity.

Beulah Rollison, Midland, was granted divorce from Wendell Rollison, Brownsville, Pa. The couple married November 10, 1945, and lived together until February 2, 1946, when they separated. She was given the right to resume her maiden name, Beulah Durst.

Lee F. Irons was given a divorce from Evelyn Irons. Testimony showed the couple married March 7, 1944, and lived on Offutt Street here until April 10, 1944, when they separated. She may resume her maiden name, Evelyn Moore, the Court decreed.

Suits were filed by Neva V. Berry vs Irvin N. Berry, Evelyn Genevieve Poling vs Charles C. Poling, and William H. Frazier vs Frances L. Frazier.

Penalties Are Listed For Rent Violations

Rent Director Caleb J. White of the Cumberland Rent District announced yesterday the penalties to which local landlords are subject who fail to comply with four specific regulations listed by Area Rent Director Walter R. Heath, of the federal office in Baltimore.

1—Failure to register controlled rental housing accommodations in the Cumberland Defense Rental Area which have not previously been registered.

2—Persons who have purchased controlled rental housing after they were originally registered and have failed to file a change of ownership report.

3—Violation of the general rule that essential services of controlled housing may not be discontinued without written authority to do so from the Area Rent office.

4—Illegal evictions or attempts to evict. Local courts will enforce this rule.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Somewhat Embittered Divorcee Feels That War Broke Up Her Home

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

A somewhat embittered divorcee, in her early 30s, wants to add her voice to those which have been loud in their complaints about the changes that took place in their men while those men were soldiers.

She feels that the war was responsible for breaking up her home because her husband, while overseas, wrote her that he wanted a divorce to marry a woman he met in Europe. It developed later that what he really wanted was just a divorce, since when she refused to give it to him so that he could marry the woman about whom he had written her, he came home and told her that there wasn't anybody else but he simply did not want "any further marital obligations or responsibilities." She therefore agreed, the court giving her custody of her seven-year-old son, with the proviso that the husband should support him. This, she says, he has failed to do, so that she must support both the boy and herself on a small salary.

The bitterness she felt over what she characterizes as "the raw deal" which she received was increased by her post-divorce experiences. "Men seem to think," she writes, "that because a woman is divorced she lacks morals, decency, and self-respect. On the few occasions when I have gone out with men, since my divorce, I've felt as though I should get some instruction in Judo. A man is not satisfied to go to a movie and stop off for coffee and a sandwich afterwards. He wants to pass up the movie, hurry into a saloon and just watch his female companion get drunk so she can't resist his advances. If you refuse to be involved in this kind of entertainment, the men steer clear of you as though you were afflicted with leprosy. On the other hand, women who do indulge in such forms of amusement always seem to get a nice man in the end.

"Moreover, I have known women who, during and since the war, have done these things and a lot more while their husbands were overseas, and yet, when their husbands returned, they were reunited and are appreciated and happy today. What have our veterans to say about this sort of circumstance?"

Now, as I see it, this woman has a number of separate grievances, all of which may be perfectly legitimate but which have apparently run together until they have assumed the aspects of one large lump of bitterness.

She has, for one thing, the grievance against her husband. She has, for another, her disillusionment about the attitude many men take toward a divorced woman. For still another, she has her resentment against the injustice of the fact that many wives behaved badly while their husbands were overseas and have been fortunate enough to have kept their marriages intact, while she, who led the same sort of life while her husband was away that she did while he was at home, lost out on her marriage.

From what I have observed, and what I have been told by other divorced women, I am afraid that there is a good deal of justice in her complaint about the attitude of many men toward a divorcee. However much we moderns may pride ourselves on a broad-minded attitude toward divorce, many people still have an instinctive feeling that any woman who gets a divorce has unconventional standards all the way around. Happily, however, there are many others who do not take this attitude, and I hope that my correspondent will try to believe this until she finds out for herself that it is quite true. As for her other two complaints, there is little anyone can say, except to offer the very unsatisfactory reminder that life is full of injustices of one kind and another, and when one or another of them touches our own lives, we cannot afford to let ourselves be embittered by the experience.

It is small consolation, I know, to remember that the more one encounters of both happiness and unhappiness in life, the more understanding and well-rounded a personality one can become. Nevertheless, that is the case, and even the most unhappy experience can be used as material from which to fashion a better life, if we have the will and the intelligence to do it.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Somewhat Embittered Divorcee Feels That War Broke Up Her Home

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

A somewhat embittered divorcee, in her early 30s, wants to add her voice to those which have been loud in their complaints about the changes that took place in their men while those men were soldiers.

She feels that the war was responsible for breaking up her home because her husband, while overseas, wrote her that he wanted a divorce to marry a woman he met in Europe. It developed later that what he really wanted was just a divorce, since when she refused to give it to him so that he could marry the woman about whom he had written her, he came home and told her that there wasn't anybody else but he simply did not want "any further marital obligations or responsibilities." She therefore agreed, the court giving her custody of her seven-year-old son, with the proviso that the husband should support him. This, she says, he has failed to do, so that she must support both the boy and herself on a small salary.

The bitterness she felt over what she characterizes as "the raw deal" which she received was increased by her post-divorce experiences. "Men seem to think," she writes, "that because a woman is divorced she lacks morals, decency, and self-respect. On the few occasions when I have gone out with men, since my divorce, I've felt as though I should get some instruction in Judo. A man is not satisfied to go to a movie and stop off for coffee and a sandwich afterwards. He wants to pass up the movie, hurry into a saloon and just watch his female companion get drunk so she can't resist his advances. If you refuse to be involved in this kind of entertainment, the men steer clear of you as though you were afflicted with leprosy. On the other hand, women who do indulge in such forms of amusement always seem to get a nice man in the end.

"Moreover, I have known women who, during and since the war, have done these things and a lot more while their husbands were overseas, and yet, when their husbands returned, they were reunited and are appreciated and happy today. What have our veterans to say about this sort of circumstance?"

Now, as I see it, this woman has a number of separate grievances, all of which may be perfectly legitimate but which have apparently run together until they have assumed the aspects of one large lump of bitterness.

She has, for one thing, the grievance against her husband. She has, for another, her disillusionment about the attitude many men take toward a divorced woman. For still another, she has her resentment against the injustice of the fact that many wives behaved badly while their husbands were overseas and have been fortunate enough to have kept their marriages intact, while she, who led the same sort of life while her husband was away that she did while he was at home, lost out on her marriage.

From what I have observed, and what I have been told by other divorced women, I am afraid that there is a good deal of justice in her complaint about the attitude of many men toward a divorcee. However much we moderns may pride ourselves on a broad-minded attitude toward divorce, many people still have an instinctive feeling that any woman who gets a divorce has unconventional standards all the way around. Happily, however, there are many others who do not take this attitude, and I hope that my correspondent will try to believe this until she finds out for herself that it is quite true. As for her other two complaints, there is little anyone can say, except to offer the very unsatisfactory reminder that life is full of injustices of one kind and another, and when one or another of them touches our own lives, we cannot afford to let ourselves be embittered by the experience.

It is small consolation, I know, to remember that the more one encounters of both happiness and unhappiness in life, the more understanding and well-rounded a personality one can become. Nevertheless, that is the case, and even the most unhappy experience can be used as material from which to fashion a better life, if we have the will and the intelligence to do it.

4 'Don'ts' Listed By Comptroller In Filing Tax Returns

BALTIMORE, Sept. 11—Merchants making sales tax returns for the month of August are warned again by James J. Lacy, Comptroller and administrator of the act, not to do four things.

These are: 1—Don't send currency or coins; 2—Don't send stamps; 3—Don't send the duplicate form; 4—Don't forget to sign your name to your check.

Carelessness or thoughtlessness on the part of many merchants resulted in one of the forementioned "dont's" in filing returns for July, the first month of the sales tax operation. The same mistakes made in August for the July returns already are cropping up in the early returns now for the month of August.

Confusion has been caused and considerable time lost in the main office at 15 West Baltimore Street because returns have been made on duplicate forms. The original return should be used, Mr. Lacy pointed ou,t because the name and code number of the taxpayer and file number designating his business and its location had been written on the original form.

With more than 45,000 licenses already issued more than 100 requests for them continue to arrive daily. The activity in this line may be due to opening new businesses and the fact that retailers without licenses are discovering they can't replenish their stocks from wholesalers without giving their license numbers.

Returns for the month of July exceeded expectations, said Walter E. Kennedy, chief of the division, and he believes that the amount of $1,683,862 will be surpassed for August when the final returns are tabulated. Statistics from other states having the sales tax show that each fall month is better than the preceding one until the first of the year.

By MARIE MERRBACH

LONACONING, Sept. 12 — The Boys' Service Club of Lonaconing was presented a demonstration on first-aid and resuscitation last night by Robert "Babe" Johnson. He recently completed a 10-day course at Camp Minnehaha, Minnehaha Springs, Va., Red Cross Aquatic Camp, as a representative of the Lonaconing branch.

Members of the club brought their own pets to the club meeting to display and the organization held a discussion on pets in the home. Six boxing bouts were held during the evening's program.

Ray Miller, a member of the American Legion post, spoke on "Citizenship."

The Boys' Club will arrange to have booths during the Veterans Celebration on September 18, 19 and 20. They will also enter the parades.

Classes in first-aid instruction that the group from the Boys Service club is taking under George Epler, Cumberland, will be held at the American Legion tonight instead of the Red Cross room.

KEYSER, W. Va., Sept. 12—A quonset hut has been donated to the Vigilant Reel and Hose Company for temporary storage of its equipment when the present fire hall is razed to make room for the proposed municipal fire station.

Beglin Brought

Bruce so that care could be given their two small children.

Action on the case against Beglin was started Saturday night when the sheriff's office received an anonymous tip that slot machines were stored at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Collins who reside near Acme Beach.

Deputies Lewis and George Harris went to the residence and were informed by Collins where they were stored. The machines confiscated had no coins in them, the sheriff's office said. Five of the devices were the 10-cent type, two of the 25-cent type and eight nickel machines.

At the hearing Tuesday in Trial Magistrates' Court, Mr. and Mrs. Collins testified that Beglin had brought the machines to their home in the early part of May, telling them he would only keep them there "a few days".

They were advertised in a national trade magazine for vending machines and were scheduled to be sent to a place in North Carolina, Collins said.

However, before they could be shipped out, Beglin was arrested June 16 in Bedford for placing slot machines in a service station owned by Vernon Reip on Route 220, several hundred yards north of the Pennsylvania-Maryland State line.

Machines Confiscated

Reip had been apprehended June 10 by Pennsylvania State Police and the machines confiscated. Beglin was tried before the Quarter Sessions Court in Bedford and sentenced to six months in jail and a fine of $350 and costs was imposed on a charge of operating slot machines.

Sheriff Dunkle stated last night that Beglin had been released upon payment of the fine before the 60-day period allotted to him to make payment had expired. Sheriff Dunkle said Beglin's time limit for payment of fines ended yesterday.

Beglin at one time was an accountant at Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, an owner of a taxicab service, and operated a second hand store and a music store at various occasions. He closed his last music shop on North Centre Street in May at which time, the Collins' testified Tuesday, he had stored the 15 slot machines on their property symptoms at first, but there is a second phase of illness in which evidence of involvement of the central nervous system is suddenly exhibited—perhaps through a stiff neck or back, perhaps through changes in reflexes or through paralysis. In still other patients, the early phase does not seem to occur at all. Presumably the virus is arrested at different anatomic sites in these different types of cases.

Since there is no doubt about the time of "exposure" in experimental poliomyelitis, the incubation period in monkeys and mice can be more exactly observed. Its length of time apparently varies at least as much as in human beings, depending partly on the animal species, the dose of virus given, the route of inoculation and the strain of virus used.

Experiments Described

Some of the animal experiments, however, yield clues as to the possible course of events when the virus is introduced into the body for the first time. The writers cite experiments in which poliomyelitis virus fed to chimpanzees was readily recovered from their excretions one to two days later, and other experiments with chimpanzees indicating that by the time the virus is present in the excretions it is also present in the central nervous system.

If this is also true of human beings, the doctors suggest that it may account for the symptoms of paralytic poliomyelitis which often appear almost immediately after strenuous exercise. In such cases the virus may have already been present in the patient's nervous system, and exercise may have produced bodily changes which allowed it to spread and to do damage.

Still unsolved, Dr. Horstmann and Dr. Paul conclude, are many problems which must be answered before exact knowledge of the incubation period in human poliomyelitis can emerge. Among them are: (1) what constitutes exposure to the poliomyelitis virus, (2) what factors are necessary to activate the virus, when present in the body, into producing disease, and (3) the pattern of development of the disease.

Much Interest

I am an alcoholic. I started my legal practice and was drinking so heavily I couldn't remember anything. A client would stop me on the street and inquire about something he had talked to me about. I'd assure him everything was going to work out all right, and then go to my office and search frantically for some memo or note that would give me a clue to his identity and what he was talking about. I was in several sanitariums, but these cures didn't last long. I joined AA last September, and last Christmas is the first Christmas I remember in 19 years. I spent it with my wife and children, and it was wonderful. I haven't had a drink in a year, and hope I shall never take another.

Sober For Five Years

The chairman of the meeting, a middle-aged man from Baltimore, declared, "I know all the answers about being drunk, and know all the excuses an alcoholic will invent to take a drink." He declared he has been a member five years and has not had a drink during that time. He said he learned that the man who offers him a drink and takes "no" for an answer is his friend, but the man who insists is not his friend.

An alcoholic, he said, is a sick man and must be made to know that he must not take the first drink. "It is the first drink that makes the alcoholic drunk, not the last."

There were several other speakers, all self professed alcoholics. Each started his talk by saying, "I am an alcoholic."

Each acknowledged that staying sober is not an easy task, and professed his belief in God or in "some higher outside power", which gives them needed spiritual strength. They emphasized the fact that the organization is non-sectarian, non-political, and is most definitely not a temperance group. They have no objection to "social drinking" so far as others are concerned, but explain that some people never become social drinkers because they are allergic to alcohol. "These", they say, "are people like us . . . alcoholics."

Not A Sale Effort

There was no effort at the meeting to sell anything, to solicit any funds, to preach any doctrine or religion. There was only the evidence of sincere belief that alcoholics, in banding themselves together in the common purpose of staying sober, could accomplish this purpose for themselves and for each other.

Self-help, and helping others is their creed. It was stated that "alcoholics are on the job 24 hours a day." It isn't unusual, the chairman explained, to be called out of bed at night by a new member who needs some help. When this happens, "we just go to him, take a walk with him, talk with him, go to a soda fountain and get a soft drink or to a restaurant and get a cup of coffee, and soon the much wanted drink is forgotten."

"But," he emphasized, "a man must have the desire to stop drinking, and must realize he has a problem. Then he can help himself, and AA can help him."

Sex is no bar to membership. Race, color and creed are not considered. There were several local women in the audience last night, at least two of whom have been attending AA meetings in other cities for sometime. It developed that several local men have also been attending meetings in neighboring cities for months. One young man who spoke said he is from Romney, W. Va., and will affiliate with the local group.

First Session Tonight

Local professional men who attended the meeting last night as observers said they were impressed with the idea, and three of them stated that upon personal investigation they found the plan has considerable merit.

The first meeting of the new local group will be held tonight at the home of one of the members. Weekly meetings are the custom of the organization, and in most cities, Saturday night social affairs are held by members, at which coffee and doughnuts are the principal refreshments. One speaker said, "If you can get past Saturday night without a drink, you can usually get through the week." All repeatedly emphasized the idea of postponing the first drink for 24 hours. Soon the desire and craving pass entirely, the older members declare.

Those who are interested in the organization may communicate with the local group by writing to Alcoholics Anonymous, P. O. Box 323, Cumberland, Md. Names will not be divulged.

Assault Case Suspects Released Under Bond

KEYSER, W. Va., Sept. 12—Vinston, Paul and James Riggleman all of Westernport, and Robert Viney, Keyser, were given preliminary hearings yesterday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle on charges of felonious assault with intent to kill C. A. Miller at his farm near Fort Ashby Saturday night.

Paul Riggleman was released under $1,000 bond for his appearance before the October Grand Jury and James Riggleman was released under $500 for action of the jury.

Vinston Riggleman and Robert Viney were released but will be retained at witnesses during the trial of the other two men.

The group, state police said, came to Miller's farm Saturday night and after the farmer told them he did not want them on the premises, one of them followed him to the barn and struck him in the head with a blunt instrument.

Lumber Worker's Hand Is Injured By Wood Joiner

Homer Drake, 27, 506 Boyd Avenue, was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon for treatment of severe injuries suffered when his right hand was caught in a joiner while at work in the Buchanan Lumber Company.

The thumb and first three fingers of the right hand were injured and it was necessary to amputate several joints at the hospital. This condition was good.

George Rose, 47, Ridgeley, W. Va., a Kelly-Springfield Tire Company worker, escaped serious injury yesterday afternoon when he was struck on the head and left arm while at work in the curing room of the local tire plant.

Conveyor Hook Breaks

He was injured when a hook broke off the conveyor which carries cured tires through the department, allowing the hook and heavy tire to drop upon him.

His condition was reported good after his injuries were treated. X-rays disclosed he suffered no fractures, it was reported.

Mrs. Anna Crosley, 63, 939 Maryland Avenue, was treated in Memorial yesterday afternoon for a lacerated finger after she fell in the back yard of her home.

Treated in Memorial late yesterday afternoon was Mrs. Emma Rudiger, wife of Fred Rutiger, B. and O. machinist, after she cut her finger with a butcher knife at her home.

Four Others Hurt

Jesse L. Baker, 57, 516 North Mechanic Street, was treated in Allegany Hospital for lacerations on the left wrist, thumb and back of the hand. Also treated in Allegany yesterday were:

Ernest Harris, 52, 152 Wineow Street, for a deep laceration on the right thumb.

Memorial May Obtain Resident Physicians

Commenting on complaints by area residents that they have been unable to secure a physician in an emergency, Benjamin F. Wright, superintendent of Memorial Hospital, said yesterday that the hospital is considering the possobility of having resident physicians on duty there.

Wright pointed out that the hospital is not obligated to secure a physician for a patient brought there for treatment, but has in the past and will in the future make every attempt to secure a doctor as rapidly as possible.

He said that thousands of persons have been given this service by the hospital and that its facilities will continue to be available to private physicians.

I am an alcoholic. I started my legal practice and was drinking so heavily I couldn't remember anything. A client would stop me on the street and inquire about something he had talked to me about. I'd assure him everything was going to work out all right, and then go to my office and search frantically for some memo or note that would give me a clue to his identity and what he was talking about. I was in several sanitariums, but these cures didn't last long. I joined AA last September, and last Christmas is the first Christmas I remember in 19 years. I spent it with my wife and children, and it was wonderful. I haven't had a drink in a year, and hope I shall never take another.

Sober For Five Years

The chairman of the meeting, a middle-aged man from Baltimore, declared, "I know all the answers about being drunk, and know all the excuses an alcoholic will invent to take a drink." He declared he has been a member five years and has not had a drink during that time. He said he learned that the man who offers him a drink and takes "no" for an answer is his friend, but the man who insists is not his friend.

An alcoholic, he said, is a sick man and must be made to know that he must not take the first drink. "It is the first drink that makes the alcoholic drunk, not the last."

There were several other speakers, all self professed alcoholics. Each started his talk by saying, "I am an alcoholic."

Each acknowledged that staying sober is not an easy task, and professed his belief in God or in "some higher outside power", which gives them needed spiritual strength. They emphasized the fact that the organization is non-sectarian, non-political, and is most definitely not a temperance group. They have no objection to "social drinking" so far as others are concerned, but explain that some people never become social drinkers because they are allergic to alcohol. "These", they say, "are people like us . . . alcoholics."

Not A Sale Effort

There was no effort at the meeting to sell anything, to solicit any funds, to preach any doctrine or religion. There was only the evidence of sincere belief that alcoholics, in banding themselves together in the common purpose of staying sober, could accomplish this purpose for themselves and for each other.

Self-help, and helping others is their creed. It was stated that "alcoholics are on the job 24 hours a day." It isn't unusual, the chairman explained, to be called out of bed at night by a new member who needs some help. When this happens, "we just go to him, take a walk with him, talk with him, go to a soda fountain and get a soft drink or to a restaurant and get a cup of coffee, and soon the much wanted drink is forgotten."

"But," he emphasized, "a man must have the desire to stop drinking, and must realize he has a problem. Then he can help himself, and AA can help him."

Sex is no bar to membership. Race, color and creed are not considered. There were several local women in the audience last night, at least two of whom have been attending AA meetings in other cities for sometime. It developed that several local men have also been attending meetings in neighboring cities for months. One young man who spoke said he is from Romney, W. Va., and will affiliate with the local group.

First Session Tonight

Local professional men who attended the meeting last night as observers said they were impressed with the idea, and three of them stated that upon personal investigation they found the plan has considerable merit.

The first meeting of the new local group will be held tonight at the home of one of the members. Weekly meetings are the custom of the organization, and in most cities, Saturday night social affairs are held by members, at which coffee and doughnuts are the principal refreshments. One speaker said, "If you can get past Saturday night without a drink, you can usually get through the week." All repeatedly emphasized the idea of postponing the first drink for 24 hours. Soon the desire and craving pass entirely, the older members declare.

Those who are interested in the organization may communicate with the local group by writing to Alcoholics Anonymous, P. O. Box 323, Cumberland, Md. Names will not be divulged.

Assault Case Suspects Released Under Bond

KEYSER, W. Va., Sept. 12—Vinston, Paul and James Riggleman all of Westernport, and Robert Viney, Keyser, were given preliminary hearings yesterday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle on charges of felonious assault with intent to kill C. A. Miller at his farm near Fort Ashby Saturday night.

Paul Riggleman was released under $1,000 bond for his appearance before the October Grand Jury and James Riggleman was released under $500 for action of the jury.

Vinston Riggleman and Robert Viney were released but will be retained at witnesses during the trial of the other two men.

The group, state police said, came to Miller's farm Saturday night and after the farmer told them he did not want them on the premises, one of them followed him to the barn and struck him in the head with a blunt instrument.

Homer Drake, 27, 506 Boyd Avenue, was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon for treatment of severe injuries suffered when his right hand was caught in a joiner while at work in the Buchanan Lumber Company.

The thumb and first three fingers of the right hand were injured and it was necessary to amputate several joints at the hospital. This condition was good.

George Rose, 47, Ridgeley, W. Va., a Kelly-Springfield Tire Company worker, escaped serious injury yesterday afternoon when he was struck on the head and left arm while at work in the curing room of the local tire plant.

Conveyer Hook Breaks

He was injured when a hook broke off the conveyor which carries cured tires through the department, allowing the hook and heavy tire to drop upon him.

His condition was reported good after his injuries were treated. X-rays disclosed he suffered no fractures, it was reported.

Mrs. Anna Crosley, 63, 939 Maryland Avenue, was treated in Memorial yesterday afternoon for a lacerated finger after she fell in the back yard of her home.

Treated in Memorial late yesterday afternoon was Mrs. Emma Rudiger, wife of Fred Rutiger, B. and O. machinist, after she cut her finger with a butcher knife at her home.

Four Others Hurt

Jesse L. Baker, 57, 516 North Mechanic Street, was treated in Allegany Hospital for lacerations on the left wrist, thumb and back of the hand. Also treated in Allegany yesterday were:

Ernest Harris, 52, 152 Wineow Street, for a deep laceration on the right thumb.

Memorial May Obtain Resident Physicians

Commenting on complaints by area residents that they have been unable to secure a physician in an emergency, Benjamin F. Wright, superintendent of Memorial Hospital, said yesterday that the hospital is considering the possobility of having resident physicians on duty there.

Wright pointed out that the hospital is not obligated to secure a physician for a patient brought there for treatment, but has in the past and will in the future make every attempt to secure a doctor as rapidly as possible.

He said that thousands of persons have been given this service by the hospital and that its facilities will continue to be available to private physicians.

Army Instructor Will Speak Here

The fourth in a series of seven illustrated lectures will be presented to the public and officers and enlisted personnel of the National Guard and Organized Reserve Corps by Lt. Col. Williams N. Myers, Corps of Engineers instructor for Maryland, at City Hall auditorium next Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

The presentation will be entitled "The Second Phase of the Italian Campaign" and will be complete with combat films, maps and explanation of battle tactics. Three other lectures have been presented here under the auspices of the 206th Composite Group, Organized Reserve Corps, this summer and all deal with the campaigns for Europe.

Col. Myers was graduated from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and was a civil engineer with various federal agencies until called to active duty with the Army in 1940.

During the recent war he commanded a battalion of engineers in the battles in Northern France and the Rhineland. His unit participated in the Ardennes Bulge and after cessation of hostilities this outfit was transferred to the Pacific Area and saw service on Okinawa and in Korea.

Government Funds Asked To Complete Savage River Dam

A resolution calling for completion of the Savage River Dam was ordered sent to member states of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, at its Staunton, Va., meeting, and the federal government was again urged to provide funds for completion of the dam.

The chief of the Army Engineers is expected this year to complete specifications and make estimates for the dam's completion.

The federal government, which is a signatory to the compact establishing the commission but which has never appropriated funds for the commission's use, will be requested this year to provide $10,500 or a third of the body's operating expenses.

If the government again fails to provide its share of the funds, attempts will be made to obtain appropriations through some federal agency such as the Department of Agriculture, Public Works Agency or Public Health Service.

In another resolution, the commission approved a bill by Rep. Kee (R-W.Va.) which would permit industries to deduct from their income tax returns money spent on waste treatment plants.

Appointment of a 15-man committee representing municipalities and county governments was authorized to bring into the commission's program the problems of small political units throughout the basin.

The Junior Choir of the church will meet for rehearsal next Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Gov. Lane Paroles Paul P. Murphy

Paul P. Murphy, city, who was sentenced in Juvenile Court here in March to serve a year in the Maryland House of Correction, was listed among 29 prisoners paroled yesterday by Gov. Lane.

Murphy was sentenced for violation of his parole, on a charge of non-support of a minor child. He was arrested February 28, and taken to the House of Correction from the County Jail on March 10.

Gov. Lane also commuted sentences of six other inmates of state penal institutions, on the advice of Director of Parole and Probation F. Murray Benson.

Tank cars for liquid gases are like huge thermos bottles on wheels.

Trial Postponed By Magistrate

Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr. ordered a hearing on a charge of drunken and disorderly conduct against a local man continued until next Wednesday after refusing to admit statements made by the defendant and attributed to State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris.

William Whitman, the defendant, who was arrested Wednesday by City Police Officers J. C. Stouffer and John Powers while trying to place a long distance call to Ohio, police said, was in the habit of calling President Harry Truman, John L. Lewis and other dignitaries when drinking.

Police were summoned to Whitman's Emily Street home in answer to a call made by the man himself.

The statements presented by Whitman in the hearing which he said were made by the State's Attorney included advice which Magistrate Bruce claimed that Harris would not give. Bruce then said he could not admit, in any event, these statements in the absence of Harris.

The continuance was allowed to permit Whitman's attorney, Milton Gerson to attempt to work out an agreement of differences between the man and his wife, who appeared as a witness against him.

When questioned by Gerson, Mrs. Whitman denied that their differences were caused by the fact that her mother resides with them but added that they stem from her husband drinking too much.

Whitman was released on a $20 bond imposed by Magistrate Bruce.

September Weather Helps County Crops

In the weather and crop summary for the week ended last Saturday the Weather Bureau reported that general showers and warm weather in the first week of September helped crops in Maryland.

In a review of Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties the bureau said that damp and rainy weather again delayed the threshing of small grains in Garrett and Allegany counties.

The report said the weather was good for corn and that the crop is maturing rapidly. Truck crops and gardens are mostly good, although some are excellent and some no better than fair.

Tree fruits are still being picked in good quantity and later varieties are sizing nicely. Pastures are good to excellent and some hay still is being made.

What does the new TAFT-HARTLEY LAW MEAN?

BUSINESS

BUSINESS TIDES

A Pro-Labor Law

by HENRY HAZLITT

THE fate of the Taft-Hartley Act, which goes into effect the 22nd of this month, is an ominous illustration of the power of propaganda. The Wagner Act left the individual worker at the mercy of the union boss. The new law protects the individual worker's rights and interests. It is precisely because the new law does curb the hitherto unbridled powers of union leaders over the rank and file that these leaders opposed its enactment with every technique of propaganda. They did not shrink from any misrepresentation, however fantastic, including the device of denouncing the measure as a "slave-labor" law.

This was not enough to shake the determination of an overwhelming majority of Congress to pass it. Yet it had its effect, not only on the astonishing language of the President's veto, but on the rank and file of workers. A recent survey conducted by the Opinion Research Corporation found that 54 per cent of the employes questioned, and 64 per cent of union members, "disapproved" of the law.

BUT the survey also uncovered a strange paradox. Notwithstanding their declared disapproval of the new law, a majority of workers favored every individual provision of it on which they were questioned. Even a majority of union members favored every feature of it but one. Here is the result:

Favor law to—	All Employes	Union Members
Require 60-day cooling-off period	78%	70%
Allow companies to sue unions	77%	70%
Allow freedom of speech for employers	69%	61%
Require union financial reports	86%	85%
Prohibit Communist union leaders	76%	77%
Prohibit union political contributions	56%	50%
Allow checkoff only with worker's consent	68%	74%
Allow union shop only with majority vote	79%	77%
Outlaw closed shop	60%	48%
Delay strikes in public-service industries	78%	70%

The new labor law makes it an unfair labor practice for a union as well as an employer to "restrain or coerce" individual workers in the exercise of their bargaining rights. It illegalizes excessive or discriminatory initiation fees. It refuses to certify a union or allow it to bring complaints to the labor board unless it has published a report of its receipts and disbursements, as well as a statement giving its name, the names, titles and salaries of its principal officers, the manner of the election, the initiation fees and dues of the union, a detailed statement of its constitution and bylaws showing the procedure followed regarding qualifications for or restrictions on membership, election of officers, calling of regular or special meetings, levying of assessments, imposition of fines, authorization for strikes, authorization for disbursement of union funds, audit of union financial transactions, expulsion of members and the grounds for it.

Every member of a union will want to know every one of these facts. It is only union bosses who find their arbitrary powers threatened, who want to continue to be highhanded, secretive, and irresponsible to the rank and file of their unions, who have anything to fear from such publicity. It is not surprising when such union bosses announce that they will "bypass" the new law.

Equally important protections for the rank and file are the provision requiring written consent of individual workers for the checkoff of union dues, the provision making it unlawful for an employer to buy off a corrupt or blackmailing union leader, and the provision to assure that so-called "welfare funds" really are used for the union members' welfare and not merely to make labor leaders financially independent of the rank and file of their unions.

IF WE are thinking not of retaining unrestricted power for a small union oligarchy, but of the rights of the union rank and file and the rights of the individual workers, then the much abused Taft-Hartley Act far more deserves the title of a pro-labor law than the misconceived Wagner Act ever did.

Government Funds Asked To Complete Savage River Dam

A resolution calling for completion of the Savage River Dam was ordered sent to member states of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, at its Staunton, Va., meeting, and the federal government was again urged to provide funds for completion of the dam.

The chief of the Army Engineers is expected this year to complete specifications and make estimates for the dam's completion.

The federal government, which is a signatory to the compact establishing the commission but which has never appropriated funds for the commission's use, will be requested this year to provide $10,500 or a third of the body's operating expenses.

If the government again fails to provide its share of the funds, attempts will be made to obtain appropriations through some federal agency such as the Department of Agriculture, Public Works Agency or Public Health Service.

In another resolution, the commission approved a bill by Rep. Kee (R-W.Va.) which would permit industries to deduct from their income tax returns money spent on waste treatment plants.

Appointment of a 15-man committee representing municipalities and county governments was authorized to bring into the commission's program the problems of small political units throughout the basin.

Second Baptist Church Will Name Officers

The annual election of officers of Second Baptist Church will be held next Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the church.

Rev. J. C. Ledbetter, pastor of the church, is in Marshall, Va., conducting revival services. During his absence the Starlight Intermediate Union had charge of the Sunday evening service.

Those participating were Miss Jean Coleman, Miss Mary Francis Lizer, Miss Emily Popp, Miss Rae Coleman, Miss Vauda Simms, Miss Betty Stump, Miss Virginia Shafer, Miss Susan Brakeall, Miss Shirley Ketterman, Archie Ledbetter, Don McCoy, Bonner Wilkes, John Lizer, and the leader of the Training Union, Mrs. Frenis Hoffman.

The Junior Choir of the church will meet for rehearsal next Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Gov. Lane Paroles Paul P. Murphy

Paul P. Murphy, city, who was sentenced in Juvenile Court here in March to serve a year in the Maryland House of Correction, was listed among 29 prisoners paroled yesterday by Gov. Lane.

Murphy was sentenced for violation of his parole, on a charge of non-support of a minor child. He was arrested February 28, and taken to the House of Correction from the County Jail on March 10.

Gov. Lane also commuted sentences of six other inmates of state penal institutions, on the advice of Director of Parole and Probation F. Murray Benson.

Trial Postponed By Magistrate

Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr. ordered a hearing on a charge of drunken and disorderly conduct against a local man continued until next Wednesday after refusing to admit statements made by the defendant and attributed to State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris.

William Whitman, the defendant, who was arrested Wednesday by City Police Officers J. C. Stouffer and John Powers while trying to place a long distance call to Ohio, police said, was in the habit of calling President Harry Truman, John L. Lewis and other dignitaries when drinking.

Police were summoned to Whitman's Emily Street home in answer to a call made by the man himself.

The statements presented by Whitman in the hearing which he said were made by the State's Attorney included advice which Magistrate Bruce claimed that Harris would not give. Bruce then said he would not admit, in any event, these statements in the absence of Harris.

The continuance was allowed to permit Whitman's attorney, Milton Gerson to attempt to work out an agreement of differences between the man and his wife, who appeared as a witness against him.

When questioned by Gerson, Mrs. Whitman denied that their differences were caused by the fact that her mother resides with them but added that they stem from her husband drinking too much.

Whitman was released on a $20 bond imposed by Magistrate Bruce.

September Weather Helps County Crops

In the weather and crop summary for the week ended last Saturday the Weather Bureau reported that general showers and warm weather in the first week of September helped crops in Maryland.

In a review of Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties the bureau said that damp and rainy weather again delayed the threshing of small grains in Garrett and Allegany counties.

The report said the weather was good for corn and that the crop is maturing rapidly. Truck crops and gardens are mostly good, although some are excellent and some no better than fair.

Tree fruits are still being picked in good quantity and later varieties are sizing nicely. Pastures are good to excellent and some hay still is being made.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 11. (INS)—Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., goes to New York on Saturday to preside over the banquet to be given in honor of the United Nations delegates by the American Association for the United Nations.

Speaking of that, I have some news on the "Lady In Ermine," in which Doug co-stars with Betty Grable. My old friend, Butch Romero — Cesar, to you—get a fine role as Betty's husband. Doug is the lover.

Doug Fairbanks

Cesar's stock has gone way up since he played Cortez in "Captain From Castile" with Tyrone Power. Guess it took Cortez to convince 20th Century-Fox and Darryl Zanuck that Cesar should bury those gay, man-about-town roles in a deep hole.

George Montgomery—Mr. Dinah Shore in private life—and 20th Century-Fox have parted company. The studio politely says it's by mutual agreement.

George has been with 20th ever since he started in pictures and changed his name to the fancy one of George Montgomery. I've forgotten his real moniker. He is of Russian ancestry and came here from Montana.

Jim Davis keeps his own name in "Winter Meeting." At first it was thought there might be a confusion of Davises, with Jim and Bett having the same last moniker, bu apparently they are going to build on the similar names.

Mickey Rooney holding hands, at the Har-Omar, with a pretty girl. Hold everything! She was Mrs. Mickey Rooney and they seemed very happy.

Audrey Totter and Hayes Goetz, son of the Ben Goetzes, at a table for just two at Jay's.

Again Michael North and Mary Beth Hughes were out together. Maybe it's a reconciliation. Mary Beth tells me she has a good part coming up and she may change her name, just as Michael did.

Such a wonderful birthday party given my goddaughter, Barbara Bebe Lyon, by her parents, Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon. At 16, Barbara is a beauty. She wore the costume her beautiful mother wore in "Rio Rita." Each guest was invited to come dressed as the title of a picture.

Norman Taurog's pretty Patricia was a vision in a yellow gown as "The Ballerina." Vanessa Brown, who is older than these girls, and so intelligent (she was a Quiz Kid) wore an ermine jacket and explained she was "The Lady In Ermine."

Robert Arthur, who played Mona Freeman's boy friend in "Mother Wore Tights," was a very cut Tom Sawyer, with freckles and patched trousers.

The title that won first prize as the most original was "Spellbound." Kenny Gabriel had "spell" written out on his coat and he led in Gene Weisman bound with rope.

A very blonde "Forever Amber" was Genevieve Malmon, whose attention was equally shared by David Bartlett, Ellen Drew's son, who was dressed as "The Cisco Kid," and Richard Lyon, who came as "The Cloak And The Dagger."

Arthur Loew, Jr., whose granddad, Marcus Loew, and Adolph Zuker were founders of the industry, was resplendent in a uniform as "Beau Geste."

Barbara Whiting as "Ivy" came in a green dress trimmed in ivy. My niece, Louella Ettinger, in a red wig was Irene Dunne in "Life With Father," while her escort was a juvenile Bill Powell.

Mrs. Bob Cobb's pretty daughter, Peggy Wright, had the same idea and was also very cute in a red wig. Christy Walsh, Jr., escorted her. Sally and Bob Cobb carried out the "Life With Father" idea and also wore red wigs.

Sixteen is a wonderful age, but most of us are thankful we don't have to live it again.

That's all today.

Speaking of that, I have some news on the "Lady In Ermine," in which Doug costars with Betty Grable. My old friend, Butch Romero — Cesar, to you—get a fine role as Betty's husband. Doug is the lover.

Doug Fairbanks

Cesar's stock has gone way up since he played Cortez in "Captain From Castile" with Tyrone Power. Guess it took Cortez to convince 20th Century-Fox and Darryl Zanuck that Cesar should bury those gay, man-about-town roles in a deep hole.

George Montgomery—Mr. Dinah Shore in private life—and 20th Century-Fox have parted company. The studio politely says it's by mutual agreement.

George has been with 20th ever since he started in pictures and changed his name to the fancy one of George Montgomery. I've forgotten his real moniker. He is of Russian ancestry and came here from Montana.

Jim Davis keeps his own name in "Winter Meeting." At first it was thought there might be a confusion of Davises, with Jim and Bett having the same last moniker, but apparently they are going to build on the similar names.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The Milton Sperlings are expecting their third child this winter. She is Harry Warner's youngest daughter. Harry and Ray, his wife, just celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary...and you would never believe it—they look so young.

Mickey Rooney holding hands at the Har-Omar, with a pretty girl. Hold everything! She was Mrs. Mickey Rooney and they seemed very happy.

Audrey Totter and Hayes Goetz, son of the Ben Goetzes, at a table for just two at Jay's.

Again Michael North and Mary Beth Hughes were out together. Maybe it's a reconciliation. Mary Beth tells me she has a good part coming up and she may change her name, just as Michael did.

Such a wonderful birthday party given my goddaughter, Barbara Bebe Lyon, by her parents, Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon. At 16, Barbara is a beauty. She wore the costume her beautiful mother wore in "Rio Rita." Each guest was invited to come dressed as the title of a picture.

Norman Taurog's pretty Patricia was a vision in a yellow gown as "The Ballerina." Vanessa Brown, who is older than these girls, and so intelligent (she was a Quiz Kid) wore an ermine jacket and explained she was "The Lady In Ermine."

Robert Arthur, who played Mona Freeman's boy friend in "Mother Wore Tights," was a very cut Tom Sawyer, with freckles and patched trousers.

The title that won first prize as the most original was "Spellbound." Kenny Gabriel had "spell" written out on his coat and he led in Gene Weisman bound with rope.

A very blonde "Forever Amber" was Genevieve Malmon, whose attention was equally shared by David Bartlett, Ellen Drew's son, who was dressed as "The Cisco Kid," and Richard Lyon, who came as "The Cloak And The Dagger."

Arthur Loew Jr., whose granddad, Marcus Loew, and Adolph Zuker were founders of the industry, was resplendent in a uniform as "Beau Geste."

Barbara Whiting as "Ivy" came in a green dress trimmed in ivy. My niece, Louella Ettinger, in a red wig was Irene Dunne in "Life With Father," while her escort was a juvenile Bill Powell.

Mrs. Bob Cobb's pretty daughter, Peggy Wright, had the same idea and was also very cute in a red wig. Christy Walsh, Jr., escorted her. Sally and Bob Cobb carried out the "Life With Father" idea and also wore red wigs.

Sixteen is a wonderful age, but most of us are thankful we don't have to live it again.

Terrible Tempered Mr. Damm

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 11—No other independent station and possibly not even the networks can boast the equipment of WTMJ's Radio City on Milwaukee's Capitol Drive. This is due partly to fortuitous circumstances but chiefly to the impatience of Walter J. Damm, who runs the station. Early in 1942, Radio City was a half-completed, $700,000 shell. Damm got wind of the government's plan to clamp down on all building and requisition all new radio equipment. He stormed into the office of the treasurer of "The Milwaukee Journal" and announced: "I want a check for $185,000." Long resigned to Damm's abrupt and imperious requests, the treasurer gave it to him. Damm and his assistants tore around the country buying and paying cash for equipment which was still on the drawing boards.

John Crosby

Radio City was completed in August, 1942, long after all other such construction had ceased. During the war broadcasters couldn't build anything at all and since the war, with skyrocketing construction costs, no independent broadcaster could afford to build anything as up-to-date as Radio City. Damm and a colleague designed the whole building from the master switchboard to Nancy Gray's office which is so excessively feminine that male visitors get the impression they've wandered into the powder room. When the plan was complete, Damm summoned an architect. "Put a shell around it," he said. To Damm's disgust the architect had to rearrange things a little.

However, WTMJ is still 99 per cent a Damm creation. Outside it is ultra-modern simplicity. Inside it is a little horror of grotesque efficiency and scarifying tidiness. The long corridors connecting its six studios are tiled from floor to ceiling, resembling those of a new gymnasium. "Couple men with a damp cloth can clean the whole thing," Damm points out. "Saves maintenance cost. We'll never have to paint it. Saves money."

Two men equipped with five foot brooms can sweep the corridors in a couple of minutes. Damm designed both the broom and the corridors in such a way as to make this possible. Saves maintenance costs. If there were a machine on the market which could operate a broom, Damm would buy it and eliminate the two men. He loves machinery and hates payrolls. The telephone switchboard is entirely automatic. "If we had an ordinary switchboard, I'd have to hire five girls. Pay 'em $80 a week," says Damm, horrified at such prospect.

The master control room is also entirely automatic. Control men put studios on the air by remote control with the flip of a dial. This eliminates five expensive people, Damm points out. The studios are arranged around control rooms so that one man can operate two or three studios, eliminating a couple of other engineers. If it was at all possible, Damm would eliminate every one in the place except himself. As it is, WTMJ's corridors resound with emptiness and whirring machinery. A visitor can stroll through the whole building without running into more than ten persons to whom Damm must pay salaries.

Damm also has a horror of untidiness equal to that of a regular Army colonel. WTMJ looks at all times as if it were on the verge of inspection. Studios are cleaned after each broadcast. All band instruments, scripts and other equipment are packed away in storerooms Damm designed for that purpose. The lockers in the men's lounge have sloping roofs so that magazines, unbrellas and other locking room debris can't possibly accumulate on them. The bottoms of the lockers are sealed off with floorboards so dusty rubbers can't collect under them.

The heating is thermostatically controlled and the heat is kept off in studios which are not in use. "No sense in wasting oil on an empty room," says Damm, whose mania for saving money extends into every crevice of operation. He designed a music room where his staff musicians are required to leave their instruments and this centralization has a pecuniary purpose too. The time required to tune instruments (an operation which the broadcaster must pay good money for) is thus cut, according to Damm's estimate, from fifteen minutes a day to five. "Saves me $80 a week," says Damm.

There are seventeen staff musicians on the WTMJ payroll. Thirteen of them are the Grenadiers. These same thirteen plus the other four are also the orchestra on the Milwaukee Hour on which semi-classics and old favorites are played. In part or in whole, the staff musicians make up dance bands, quartets and just about every other form of orchestra, except symphony, that is heard on the station.

"They told me I was crazy when I hired them," boasts Mr. D. "Why, I had 'em on four sponsored programs and had 'em all paid for the day I hired them." WTMJ is one spot where musicians don't get paid for standing around.

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—Finale of the Third Horse, a documentary series on NBC dealing with the world food situation, comes at 8 o'clock Friday night. Guest speakers are to be Sec. of Commerce W. Averill Harriman and Douglas Parbanks, Jr.

A couple of other finales also are listed. One is Arthur's Place on CBS at 8, the concluding part of the series having been run by Comedian Jack Kirkwood. This was put in as a summer replacement for Ginny Simms in the hope it might work out as a regular. However, a musical show will go in next week. Another last broadcast, as scheduled by MBS, is Holly House, a song show featuring Vera Holly. Box Fighting as detailed by ABC at 10 will be about the scheduled ten-rounder between Kae LaMotta and Bert Lytell. The last time they met two years ago LaMotta won a close decision.

Meet the Press expects to have as its guest James F. O'Neill, the New American Legion commander. The program's MBS at 9 o'clock. American Novels on NBC at 10:30 is dramatize Samuel Clemen's "Life on the Mississippi"....The Thin Man and his wife Nora, in their further CBS adventures will have the case of "The Sizzling Letters." This one is described as a "baffling mystery" all solved in 25 minutes or less of script.

Rear Admiral Wm. S. Parsons is to discuss "Atomic Energy"--"A short Range Prediction" as the NBC speaker at 9:45.

Demand For Special Issues Serves As Balance Wheel For Stock Market

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—(AP)—Demand for special stocks served as a balance wheel for today's market although many leaders reverted to minus ranks.

Rails inclined to dawdle as the plea for an interim freight rate boost brought no response although the I.C.C. granted a hoist for interstate commutation fares in the eastern territory.

Dealings were lively at intervals after an active start but prices wavered here and there in the final hour. Transfers of 800,000 shares compared with 740,000 Wednesday.

United States Gypsum was up three points at 100, United States Smelting 1½ at 47, Lowenstein 1⅛ at 24⅛, Schenley 1⅜ at 30, Du Pont one at 189 and Goodrich one at 53½. Lesser improvement was retained by Youngstown Sheet, American Woolen, Publicker, National Distillers, Wyandotte Worsted, Chrysler, Goodyear, United States Rubber, International Harvester, American Telephone, United Aircraft, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge, General Electric, Union Carbide, Johns Manville, New York Central and Great Northern Railway.

Bethlehem Steel yielded 1¾ at 85¾, American Can 1½ at 85⅛ and Douglas Aircraft 1½ at 59. Others in arrears were United States Steel, Sears Roebuck, J. I. Case, Sperry, North American, Anaconda, International Nickel, Westinghouse, Owens-Illinois, Texas Company, Santa Fe, Pennsylvania Railroad Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio.

Forward Curb movers were Cities Service, Lake Shore Mines, Salt Dome Oil, Cuban Atlantic Sugar and Logansport Distilling. Backward were General Plywood, Electric Bond and Share, Humble Oil and International Products. Turnover here was 170,000 shares versus 190,000 yesterday.

Heavy activity in some obligations of New Haven and Missouri Pacific was a feature of the bond market, as total sales increased to $4,541,000, the largest volume since August 20.

United States governments traded in a narrow range wit the Victory 2½s of December 1967-72 closing at 102 25-32 in over-the-counter dealings.

Demand For Special Issues Serves As Balance Wheel For Stock Market

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—(AP)—Demand for special stocks served as a balance wheel for today's market although many leaders reverted to minus ranks.

Rails inclined to dawdle as the plea for an interim freight rate boost brought no response although the I.C.C. granted a hoist for interstate commutation fares in the eastern territory.

Dealings were lively at intervals after an active start but prices wavered here and there in the final hour. Transfers of 800,000 shares compared with 740,000 Wednesday.

United States Gypsum was up three points at 100, United States Smelting 1½ at 47, Lowenstein 1¼ at 24⅛, Schenley 1⅜ at 30, Du Pont one at 189 and Goodrich one at 53½. Lesser improvement was retained by Youngstown Sheet, American Woolen, Publicker, National Distillers, Wyandotte Worsted, Chrysler, Goodyear, United States Rubber, International Harvester, American Telephone, United Aircraft, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge, General Electric, Union Carbide, Johns Manville, New York Central and Great Northern Railway.

Bethlehem Steel yielded 1¾ at 85⅜, American Can 1½ at 85¼ and Douglas Aircraft 1½ at 59. Others in arrears were United States Steel, Sears Roebuck, J. I. Case, Sperry, North American, Anaconda, International Nickel, Westinghouse, Owens-Illinois, Texas Company, Santa Fe, Pennsylvania Railroad Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio.

Forward Curb movers were Cities Service, Lake Shore Mines, Salt Dome Oil, Cuban Atlantic Sugar and Logansport Distilling. Backward were General Plywood, Electric Bond and Share, Humble Oil and International Products. Turnover here was 170,000 shares versus 190,000 yesterday.

Heavy activity in some obligations of New Haven and Missouri Pacific was a feature of the bond market, as total sales increased to $4,541,000, the largest volume since August 20.

United States governments traded in a narrow range wit the Victory 2½s of December 1967-72 closing at 102 25-32 in over-the-counter dealings.

WALKER QUIZZED IN MURDER CASE

Chicago Detective Visits Fraud Suspect In Jail

Bodyguard Slaying Is Being Probed

John Donald Walker, 46, alleged Chicago confidence man being held by the FBI in Allegany County Jail on charges of fraudulently obtaining $18,000 from a Lexington, Ky., woman, yesterday was questioned concerning a murder in Chicago, according to Sheriff Edward R. Muir.

Through the Chicago Tribune, the News was informed that a detective of the Chicago Bureau was sent here to question Walker in connection with the death of John E. Golding, 47, Oak Park, Ill., identified as Walker's bodyguard, who was fatally shot early last February.

Known in Chicago police circles as "Don Champagne," Walker was arrested here August 29 by FBI agents and Detective Edwin R. Lilya, Cumberland Police Department, on charges of fraudulently obtaining money from Mrs. Salley Grehan, whom authorities said he married but abandoned on their wedding day.

Termed Associates

Chicago police said Walker and Golding were associating with each other at the time of Golding's death. Authorities explained that they hoped to gain information leading to the arrest of the alleged murderer

Golding, according to police, was at one time employed by Walker in a sporting goods manufacturing enterprise, but later left and became involved in the "slot machine racket," apparently continuing to act as bodyguard for Walker.

Local FBI agents said Walker was in possession of a 1947 Cadillac sedan when he was taken into custody at the Cumberland Fair Ground, and declared a woman who claimed to be his wife was waiting in the car when they arrested him.

Chicago police said Walker was previously convicted on charges of fraudulently obtaining $250,000 from a Chicago woman whom he met through mutual friends.

Sheriff Muir said the Chicago detective and an FBI agent talked to Walker for more than two hours yesterday, but did not indicate if they would return for further questioning. He said he did not know what information they obtained from the prisoner.

Walker, who is being held in default of $5,000 bond, is now awaiting transfer back to Lexington, to face charges of violating the Federal National Stolen Property Act.

Criminal Record Cited

Chicago police, according to the Tribune, said Walker has a long criminal record and was twice sentenced to serve time in the Illinois State Penitentiary, on charges resulting from confidence rackets.

Police said Walker received his nickname, "Don Champagne," because of his love for that wine. On frequent occasions he was alleged to have been connected with a confidence ring working in Chicago, authorities added.

Walker, according to authorities, allegedly married the woman who was attending the Cumberland races with him, in New Orleans, La., after meeting her in Washington last January.

Local FBI agents said the present Mrs. Walker, whom they did not identify further, left Cumberland shortly after Walker was taken into custody.

The self-styled race horse enthusiast, FBI agents said, impressed local race track fans as a millionaire, and told them he was a financial tycoon. He told authorities, they said, that he had just returned from Chicago where he attended a relative's funeral, the day he was arrested.

Authorities said Walker had entered a horse in a race during the local meet, and was attempting to collect a purse of $200 at the time of his arrest.

The sheriff's office here said it is not known when Walker, who has already waived a preliminary hearing, will be transferred to Lexington.

Six Chairmen Are Named For 1947 Chest Campaign

Drive Will Open Here November 1

Six chairmen for the 1947-48 Community Chest Campaign, scheduled to begin about November 1, were named yesterday by John T. Fey, general chairman, at a meeting of the organization's executive committee.

Ridgeley Curfew To Be Restored Soon

Plans are being made to reinstate the 9 p. m. curfew in Ridgeley next week when work is completed on the installation of a new siren, Mayor Frank Magruder said last night.

The mayor said a transformer will be installed by the Potomac Edison Company so that the siren, which will be located atop Knobley Mountain, can be operated by a switch in the Ridgeley Fire Hall.

When the curfew is put into effect, all children under 16 must be off the streets by 9 p. m., the mayor said. Children found on the streets after that hour will be taken to police headquarters, and parents will be fined, he said.

The first curfew in Ridgeley was started about 1926 and remained in effect until the beginning of World War II.

Varying Behavior Of Poliomyelitis Virus Is Puzzling To Medical Men

Varying behavior of the polio virus in different human beings is not understood, according to an article in the September 6 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Two New Haven doctors, authors of the article, state that the time between apparent exposure to poliomyelitis and the beginning of obvious symptoms of the disease has been observed to be as short as three and as long as 35 days.

The writers, Dorothy M. Horstmann, M.D., and John R. Paul, M. D., from the Section of Preventive Medicine of the Yale University School of Medicine, are chiefly concerned with the mysteries of the incubation period—the interval between exposure and the first day that the disease shows itself.

Incubation Period Cited

The doctors point out that the incubation period is generally given in textbooks as ranging from six to 12 days but that estimates based on contact with known cases range from a few days to three to five weeks. Poliomyelitis virus, which is one of the smallest known disease producing agents, has been isolated from the bowel excretions of a boy as long as 19 days before he showed any symptoms of paralytic poliomyelitis.

One of the reasons for the varying estimates about the incubation period is that medical men who refer to "the first day of the disease" are not always talking about the same thing. Polio takes many different forms.

According to the writers, about 80 per cent of all polio patients display symptoms so mild and brief that a doctor may not even be called in. Approximately one-half of the others have similar mild

Much Interest In Alcoholics Anonymous Here

Group Organizes Cumberland Chapter

Alcoholics Anonymous and how it works in bringing about abstinence and sobriety for individuals suffering from alcoholism, was outlined in detail last night at a meeting in the City Hall auditorium, called for the purpose of organizing a local chapter of the growing national movement.

Unlike most organizations, there is no initiation fee, no dues, no formal organization and no application blanks to sign. It is an organization conceived by and for alcoholics, with the view of helping themselves stay sober by helping others do likewise.

Fifty-six persons, including several business and professional men of the city, sat through over two hours of testimonials and speeches by AA members from Baltimore, Uniontown, Morgantown and Hagerstown.

These visitors, including one doctor and one lawyer, told their audience that alcoholism is a disease and is recognized as such by most public health departments and physicians. Each told an amazing, yet strikingly similar story of his personal experiences as an alcoholic, and outlined in some detail, how the plan of AA has helped them and how it helps others.

Former Resident Speaks

One young man, a former resident, who left here several years ago after a long period of changing jobs and being booked by local police as "drunk and disorderly", on more occasions that he could recall, declared he heard a group was about to be formed in Cumberland, and came here to help. He said he joined AA over four years ago in Baltimore, has not had a drink since, and now has his own business and is doing well.

He stated he found that moving to Baltimore did not help his thirst for liquor, and blaming his many drinking friends here was only an excuse. AA taught him to believe that he is an alcoholic and that alcoholism is a disease. They guided him through their 12 steps, including self-analysis, and taught him how to refrain from taking the first drink.

The speaker said, "I remember my impression of the first few meetings of AA I attended. Here was a group of fellows, all of whom had been drunks like I was, and all of whom were staying sober. I decided if they could do it I could. I haven't had a drink in over four years, and I have learned to get a lot of fun out of life. Cumberland needs this organization, for there are people here who want to stop drinking, but don't know how."

Other Alcoholics Speak

A physician from a neighboring city declared, "Alcoholism is a disease just as diabetis is a disease. For some diseases physicians prescribe and give shots. For alcoholism, AA prescribes 'no shots.'

One speaker declared, "I had been drunk most of the time for 40 years, and was kicked out of college at the age of 18 for being drunk. I had reached the point where my health had failed, and my physician said I would either die or go insane. I decided to try AA. Since joining, I have not taken a drink, and even this late in life, have finally learned to live."

A lawyer who spoke said, "I was more fortunate than many people, but didn't know it. My father was a fairly wealthy man, and I had the benefit of a good education. But

Cost Of Work Is Set At About $1,000,000

Boilers To Increase Steam Generation

Preparations are being made to install two new high-pressure steam boilers at the power plant of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, at a cost roughly estimated at one million dollars, James S. Thayer, chief engineer, said last night.

Thayer explained that installation of the new boilers will virtually put the plant on a self-sufficient basis, because steam generation will be increased to the point where most electricity needs can be met.

Work began last month on dismantling three of the present seven low-pressure boilers used to generate steam at the plant, and two of the three boilers are expected to be dismantled by the end of this month, Thayer said.

He explained that installation of the new high-pressure boilers will probably not be completed much under a year because of expected delay in deliveries of steel for framework and supports. Dismantling of the three low-pressure boilers and installation work will be spaced so that plant production will not be impaired, he added.

The new boilers, which will be about 75 feet high as compared to the 40 to 45-foot height of the low-pressure boilers, will enable the plant to generate enough steam to supply most of the electricity needs of the company's operations. At present the Potomac Edison Company supplies most of the necessary electricity, Thayer said.

He explained that the new boilers will be installed at separate intervals so that steam generation can be maintained at a steady level. Each will have a 100,000-pound capacity.

Thayer said the work is the first part of a program to replace obsolescent equipment, and added there is a possibility that at some future time only high-pressure boilers may be used at the plant.

County Teachers Will Study Audio Visual Technique

Conference Planned For September 18

A better technique in using audio visual experiences in teaching will be explained to teachers of Allegany County high and elementary schools at a half day conference September 18 in Allegany High School, Dr. Charles L. Kopp school superintendent, announced yesterday.

In a letter mailed to the principals of the schools, Dr. Kopp said the services of C. R. Crakes, Chicago specialist in audio visual education, will supervise a demonstration lesson in which motion picture sound films will be used.

"We regard this medium of educational method so important that we deem it worthwhile to call teachers together for a half-day conference," Dr. Kopp explained, adding that he has requested instructors to be prepared to take notes, with a view to having the learning experience function in their own classroom situations.

To enable teachers and principals to attend the conference which will begin at 1:30 p. m., Dr. Kopp authorized a single session of school on the day with classes scheduled to end at 12 noon.

Dr. Kopp said the meeting is designed for the professional growth of teachers so they might render a higher degree of service to the children of the county.

Actually, he explained, the program has been in operation in local schools for several years and has demonstrated its essential value in education. A few of the teachers, Dr. Kopp declared, have used the materials to significant advantage, others have either not had the opportunity to use the materials or have failed to sense the value inherent in this educational device.

It is the purpose of the meeting, he pointed out, to acquaint all teachers with the educational potentialities that audio visual education possesses.

The following schedule will be observed at the meeting:

Remarks by Dr. Kopp, followed by a teaching demonstration with sound film by Miss Virginia Neff, instructor at Beall Elementary School, Frostburg.

Discussion of teaching demonstration with C. R. Crakes acting as leader, which will be followed by an address to select and evaluate audio visual aids by Crakes.

The conference is scheduled to close with a discussion period under the direction of James E. Spitznas, state department of education.

The meeting is expected to result in a wider use and better technique of teaching through the motion picture device, Dr. Kopp said, adding that such a method has long been recognized as a more efficient means of education than through methods of sound.

Banquet Climaxes 40th Anniversary Of Cardinal Club

Fifty members and their wives attended a banquet last night at the Ali Ghan Country Club which climaxed the 40th anniversary celebration of the Cardinal Club, a social organization.

Frank E. Smith, who became the club's first president when the charter members met at his home September 10, 1907, to organize the group, gave an address of welcome and cut a large birthday cake in honor of the occasion. Smith has been president for the past 10 years.

A highlight of the program was the reading of the club's history by James W. Bishop, vice president, who also acted as toastmaster. The club, which holds monthly meetings, maintains a clubhouse at Town Creek. The present building was constructed in 1937 to replace the old clubhouse, which was destroyed in the 1936 flood.

Besides Smith, remaining charter members are Carl F. Schmutz, the club's first secretary-treasurer; and Theodore Haller. Other charter members were John Schaff, Conrad Felton, Robert Felton, Henry Schade, Robert Steigmier, and Joseph Schaff.

Musical entertainment was presented by the Smith triplets, who played several accordion selections, and by Donald Keister, trumpet soloist. The invocation was given by Harvey H. Garlitz, secretary.

After the speaking program, a floor show was presented by 12 pupils of the Steckman Dance Studio.

Police Arrest Three

Three men arrested by police last night on drunk and disorderly conduct charges will be given hearings this morning in Police Court.

They were booked as Peter Sievold, Boone Street, arrested at 6 p. m.; Kenneth Leasure, 202 Avirett Avenue, arrested at 6:35 p. m., and William F. Whitner, 313 Emily Street, arrested at 5:20 p. m.

Beglin Brought Here For Trial On Gambling Count

Charged With Having 15 Slot Machines

Norman Dee Beglin, of Cumberland, who has been imprisoned in Bedford County Jail on slot machine charges, was brought here yesterday to the Allegany County Jail where he is being held for trial on a similar count.

Beglin was released at Bedford yesterday after serving two months of a six-month terms for operating slot machines in Bedford County upon payment of $350 in fines and costs amounting to $20.40, Bedford County Sheriff Jacob A. Dunkle said last night.

Deputy Sheriff Edgar M. Lewis of Allegany County brought Beglin here on a warrant issued to the State's Attorney's office Tuesday charging the man, who is known locally as "Norman Dee," with keeping on or about May 15 a gaming table for the purpose of gambling.

Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher said yesterday that Beglin would probably be tried on the count in Trial Magistrates' Court in a day or two.

Issued After Trial

The warrant for Beglin's arrest was issued after Mr. and Mrs. Silas C. Collins were convicted in Trial Magistrates' Court Tuesday for keeping a gaming device on their property. Deputies from the sheriff's office had found 15 slot machines on their property which they stated, before court attaches and the Assistant State's Attorney, belonged to Beglin.

Collins was fined $250 and costs for keeping a "gaming table on his property" and committed to the county jail for 90 days in default of payment of fines. His wife was given a suspended sentence of $50 and costs by Magistrate Oliver H.

Fire Company Regulation For Parades Sought

At a meeting of the Allegany-Garrett County Fire Chiefs Association in the P.O.S. of A. Hall in Ellerslie Wednesday night, the group passed a recommendation concerning the regulation of attendance of fire companies at parades and demonstrations.

The body went on record as suggesting that a plan be devised to regulate all fire equipment from one section from attending an event and leaving the area without fire protection.

Harry Wilson, vice president who presided in the absence of President Elmer Beachley, stated that the recommendation does not apply to all fire companies as many now have a standby system to assure residents of a certain section fire protection in case of emergency.

The recommendation passed was as follows:

"This Association recommends that a plan be drawn up by the various fire companies in Allegany and Garrett Counties whereby all companies in a given area will not enter apparatus and men in any one parade or demonstration in the future.

"Some departments and companies do work under such a plan at present while others do not. This is deemed advisable by the association in view of what could happen in the future."

The fire chiefs were addressed by Joseph Wenrich, treasurer, who is chief of the Cresaptown Fire

Bodyguard Slaying Is Being Probed

John Donald Walker, 46, alleged Chicago confidence man being held by the FBI in Allegany County Jail on charges of fraudulently obtaining $18,000 from a Lexington, Ky., woman, yesterday was questioned concerning a murder in Chicago, according to Sheriff Edward R. Muir.

Through the Chicago Tribune, the News was informed that a detective of the Chicago Bureau was sent here to question Walker in connection with the death of John E. Golding, 47, Oak Park, Ill., identified as Walker's bodyguard, who was fatally shot early last February.

Known in Chicago police circles as "Don Champagne," Walker was arrested here August 29 by FBI agents and Detective Edwin R. Lilya, Cumberland Police Department, on charges of fraudulently obtaining money from Mrs. Salley Grehan, whom authorities said he married but abandoned on their wedding day.

Termed Associates

Chicago police said Walker and Golding were associating with each other at the time of Golding's death. Authorities explained that they hoped to gain information leading to the arrest of the alleged murderer

Golding, according to police, was at one time employed by Walker in a sporting goods manufacturing enterprise, but later left and became involved in the "slot machine racket," apparently continuing to act as bodyguard for Walker.

Local FBI agents said Walker was in possession of a 1947 Cadillac sedan when he was taken into custody at the Cumberland Fair Ground, and declared a woman who claimed to be his wife was waiting in the car when they arrested him.

Chicago police said Walker was previously convicted on charges of fraudulently obtaining $250,000 from a Chicago woman whom he met through mutual friends.

Sheriff Muir said the Chicago detective and an FBI agent talked to Walker for more than two hours yesterday, but did not indicate if they would return for further questioning. He said he did not know what information they obtained from the prisoner.

Walker, who is being held in default of $5,000 bond, is now awaiting transfer back to Lexington, to face charges of violating the Federal National Stolen Property Act.

Criminal Record Cited

Chicago police, according to the Tribune, said Walker has a long criminal record and was twice sentenced to serve time in the Illinois State Penitentiary, on charges resulting from confidence rackets.

Police said Walker received his nickname, "Don Champagne," because of his love for that wine. On frequent occasions he was alleged to have been connected with a confidence ring working in Chicago, authorities added.

Walker, according to authorities, allegedly married the woman who was attending the Cumberland races with him, in New Orleans, La., after meeting her in Washington last January.

Local FBI agents said the present Mrs. Walker, whom they did not identify further, left Cumberland shortly after Walker was taken into custody.

The self-styled race horse entousiast, FBI agents said, impressed local race track fans as a millionaire, and told them he was a financial tycoon. He told authorities, they said, that he had just returned from Chicago where he attended a relative's funeral, the day he was arrested.

Authorities said Walker had entered a horse in a race during the local meet, and was attempting to collect a purse of $200 at the time of his arrest.

The sheriff's office here said it is not known when Walker, who has already waived a preliminary hearing, will be transferred to Lexington.

Ridgeley Curfew To Be Restored Soon

Plans are being made to reinstate the 9 p. m. curfew in Ridgeley next week when work is completed on the installation of a new siren, Mayor Frank Magruder said last night.

The mayor said a transformer will be installed by the Potomac Edison Company so that the siren, which will be located atop Knobley Mountain, can be operated by a switch in the Ridgeley Fire Hall.

When the curfew is put into effect, all children under 16 must be off the streets by 9 p. m., the mayor said. Children found on the streets after that hour will be taken to police headquarters, and parents will be fined, he said.

The first curfew in Ridgeley was started about 1926 and remained in effect until the beginning of World War II.

Varying Behavior Of Poliomyelitis Virus Is Puzzling To Medical Men

Varying behavior of the polio virus in different human beings is not understood, according to an article in the September 6 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Two New Haven doctors, authors of the article, state that the time between apparent exposure to poliomyelitis and the beginning of obvious symptoms of the disease has been observed to be as short as three and as long as 35 days.

The writers, Dorothy M. Horstmann, M.D., and John R. Paul, M. D., from the Section of Preventive Medicine of the Yale University School of Medicine, are chiefly concerned with the mysteries of the incubation period—the interval between exposure and the first day that the disease shows itself.

Incubation Period Cited

The doctors point out that the incubation period is generally given in textbooks as ranging from six to 12 days but that estimates based on contact with known cases range from a few days to three to five weeks. Poliomyelitis virus, which is one of the smallest known disease producing agents, has been isolated from the bowel excretions of a boy as long as 19 days before he showed any symptoms of paralytic poliomyelitis.

One of the reasons for the varying estimates about the incubation period is that medical men who refer to "the first day of the disease" are not always talking about the same thing. Polio takes many different forms.

According to the writers, about 80 per cent of all polio patients display symptoms so mild and brief that a doctor may not even be called in. Approximately one-half of the others have similar mild

MARK ANNIVERSARY—Frank E. Smith (center), president of the Cardinal Club for the past 10 years, and the first president of the club when it was organized September 10, 1907, is shown above cutting a birthday cake at the 40th anniversary banquet of the group, held last night at Ali Ghan Country Club. Looking on are James W. Bishop (left), vice president, who was toastmaster at the banquet, and Henry T. Helker, an honorary life member who served as president from 1920-26.

Banquet Climaxes 40th Anniversary Of Cardinal Club

Fifty members and their wives attended a banquet last night at the Ali Ghan Country Club which climaxed the 40th anniversary celebration of the Cardinal Club, a social organization.

Frank E. Smith, who became the club's first president when the charter members met at his home September 10, 1907, to organize the group, gave an address of welcome and cut a large birthday cake in honor of the occasion. Smith has been president for the past 10 years.

A highlight of the program was the reading of the club's history by James W. Bishop, vice president, who also acted as toastmaster. The club, which holds monthly meetings, maintains a clubhouse at Town Creek. The present building was constructed in 1937 to replace the old clubhouse, which was destroyed in the 1936 flood.

Besides Smith, remaining charter members are Carl F. Schmuts, the club's first secretary-treasurer; and Theodore Haller. Other charter members were John Schaff, Conrad Felton, Robert Felton, Henry Schade, Robert Steigmier, and Joseph Schaff.

Musical entertainment was presented by the Smith triplets, who played several accordion selections, and by Donald Keister, trumpet soloist. The invocation was given by Harvey H. Garlitz, secretary.

After the speaking program, a floor show was presented by 12 pupils of the Steckman Dance Studio.

Beglin Brought Here For Trial On Gambling Count

Charged With Having 15 Slot Machines

Norman Dee Beglin, of Cumberland, who has been imprisoned in Bedford County Jail on slot machine charges, was brought here yesterday to the Allegany County Jail where he is being held for trial on a similar count.

Beglin was released at Bedford yesterday after serving two months of a six-month terms for operating slot machines in Bedford County upon payment of $350 in fines and costs amounting to $20.40, Bedford County Sheriff Jacob A. Dunkle said last night.

Deputy Sheriff Edgar M. Lewis of Allegany County brought Beglin here on a warrant issued to the State's Attorney's office Tuesday charging the man, who is known locally as "Norman Dee," with keeping on or about May 15 a gaming table for the purpose of gambling.

Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher said yesterday that Beglin would probably be tried on the count in Trial Magistrates' Court in a day or two.

Issued After Trial

The warrant for Beglin's arrest was issued after Mr. and Mrs. Silas C. Collins were convicted in Trial Magistrates' Court Tuesday for keeping a gaming device on their property. Deputies from the sheriff's office had found 15 slot machines on their property which they stated, before court attaches and the Assistant State's Attorney, belonged to Beglin.

Collins was fined $250 and costs for keeping a "gaming table on his property" and committed to the county jail for 90 days in default of payment of fines. His wife was given a suspended sentence of $50 and costs by Magistrate Oliver H.

Fire Company Regulation For Parades Sought

At a meeting of the Allegany-Garrett County Fire Chiefs Association in the P.O.S. of A. Hall in Ellerslie Wednesday night, the group passed a recommendation concerning the regulation of attendance of fire companies at parades and demonstrations.

The body went on record as suggesting that a plan be devised to regulate all fire equipment from one section from attending an event and leaving the area without fire protection.

Harry Wilson, vice president who presided in the absence of President Elmer Beachley, stated that the recommendation does not apply to all fire companies as many now have a standby system to assure residents of a certain section fire protection in case of emergency.

The recommendation passed was as follows:

"This Association recommends that a plan be drawn up by the various fire companies in Allegany and Garrett Counties whereby all companies in a given area will not enter apparatus and men in any one parade or demonstration in the future.

"Some departments and companies do work under such a plan at present while others do not. This is deemed advisable by the association in view of what could happen in the future."

The fire chiefs were addressed by Joseph Wenrich, treasurer, who is chief of the Cresaptown Fire

Group Organizes Cumberland Chapter

Alcoholics Anonymous and how it works in bringing about abstinence and sobriety for individuals suffering from alcoholism, was outlined in detail last night at a meeting in the City Hall auditorium, called for the purpose of organizing a local chapter of the growing national movement.

Unlike most organizations, there is no initiation fee, no dues, no formal organization and no application blanks to sign. It is an organization conceived by and for alcoholics, with the view of helping themselves stay sober by helping others do likewise.

Fifty-six persons, including several business and professional men of the city, sat through over two hours of testimonials and speeches by AA members from Baltimore, Uniontown, Morgantown and Hagerstown.

These visitors, including one doctor and one lawyer, told their audience that alcoholism is a disease and is recognized as such by most public health departments and physicians. Each told an amazing, yet strikingly similar story of his personal experiences as an alcoholic, and outlined in some detail, how the plan of AA has helped them and how it helps others.

Former Resident Speaks

One young man, a former resident, who left here several years ago after a long period of changing jobs and being booked by local police as "drunk and disorderly", on more occasions that he could recall, declared he heard a group was about to be formed in Cumberland, and came here to help. He said he joined AA over four years ago in Baltimore, has not had a drink since, and now has his own business and is doing well.

He stated he found that moving to Baltimore did not help his thirst for liquor, and blaming his many drinking friends here was only an excuse. AA taught him to believe that he is an alcoholic and that alcoholism is a disease. They guided him through their 12 steps, including self-analysis, and taught him how to refrain from taking the first drink.

The speaker said, "I remember my impression of the first few meetings of AA I attended. Here was a group of fellows, all of whom had been drunks like I was, and all of whom were staying sober. I decided if they could do it I could. I haven't had a drink in over four years, and I have learned to get a lot of fun out of life. Cumberland needs this organization, for there are people here who want to stop drinking, but don't know how."

Other Alcoholics Speak

A physician from a neighboring city declared, "Alcoholism is a disease just as diabetis is a disease. For some diseases physicians prescribe and give shots. For alcoholism, AA prescribes 'no shots.'"

One speaker declared, "I had been drunk most of the time for 40 years, and was kicked out of college at the age of 18 for being drunk. I had reached the point where my health had failed, and my physician said I would either die or go insane. I decided to try AA. Since joining, I have not taken a drink, and even this late in life, have finally learned to live."

A lawyer who spoke said, "I was more fortunate than many people, but didn't know it. My father was a fairly wealthy man, and I had the benefit of a good education. But

Cost Of Work Is Set At About $1,000,000

Boilers To Increase Steam Generation

Preparations are being made to install two new high-pressure steam boilers at the power plant of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, at a cost roughly estimated at one million dollars, James S. Thayer, chief engineer, said last night.

Thayer explained that installation of the new boilers will virtually put the plant on a self-sufficient basis, because steam generation will be increased to the point where most electricity needs can be met.

Work began last month on dismantling three of the present seven low-pressure boilers used to generate steam at the plant, and two of the three boilers are expected to be dismantled by the end of this month, Thayer said.

He explained that installation of the new high-pressure boilers will probably not be completed much under a year because of expected delay in deliveries of steel for framework and supports. Dismantling of the three low-pressure boilers and installation work will be spaced so that plant production will not be impaired, he added.

The new boilers, which will be about 75 feet high as compared to the 40 to 45-foot height of the low-pressure boilers, will enable the plant to generate enough steam to supply most of the electricity needs of the company's operations. At present the Potomac Edison Company supplies most of the necessary electricity, Thayer said.

He explained that the new boilers will be installed at separate intervals so that steam generation can be maintained at a steady level. Each will have a 100,000-pound capacity.

Thayer said the work is the first part of a program to replace obsolescent equipment, and added there is a possibility that at some future time only high-pressure boilers may be used at the plant.

County Teachers Will Study Audio Visual Technique

Conference Planned For September 18

A better technique in using audio visual experiences in teaching will be explained to teachers of Allegany County high and elementary schools at a half day conference September 18 in Allegany High School, Dr. Charles L. Kopp school superintendent, announced yesterday.

In a letter mailed to the principals of the schools, Dr. Kopp said the services of C. R. Crakes, Chicago specialist in audio visual education, will supervise a demonstration lesson in which motion picture sound films will be used.

"We regard this medium of educational method so important that we deem it worthwhile to call teachers together for a half-day conference," Dr. Kopp explained, adding that he has requested instructors to be prepared to take notes, with a view to having the learning experience function in their own classroom situations.

To enable teachers and principals to attend the conference which will begin at 1:30 p. m., Dr. Kopp authorized a single session of school on the day with classes scheduled to end at 12 noon.

Dr. Kopp said the meeting is designed for the professional growth of teachers so they might render a higher degree of service to the children of the county.

Actually, he explained, the program has been in operation in local schools for several years and has demonstrated its essential value in education. A few of the teachers, Dr. Kopp declared, have used the materials to significant advantage, others have either not had the opportunity to use the materials or have failed to sense the value inherent in this educational device.

It is the purpose of the meeting, he pointed out, to acquaint all teachers with the educational potentialities that audio visual education possesses.

The following schedule will be observed at the meeting:

Remarks by Dr. Kopp, followed by a teaching demonstration with sound film by Miss Virginia Neff, instructor at Beall Elementary School, Frostburg.

Discussion of teaching demonstration with C. R. Crakes acting as leader, which will be followed by an address to select and evaluate audio visual aids by Crakes.

The conference is scheduled to close with a discussion period under the direction of James E. Spitznas, state department of education.

The meeting is expected to result in a wider use and better technique of teaching through the motion picture device, Dr. Kopp said, adding that such a method has long been recognized as a more efficient means of education than through methods of sound.
